This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.

+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.

+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.

+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

TITLE I., CANON 1, § II.

OF THE TESTIMONIAL OF LAY DEPUTIES.

[Name of the Church, the place and date.]

This certifies that at a meeting of the congregation of this Church, for the purpose of electing Church Officers and Deputies to the Convention (or for the purpose of electing Deputies to the Convention, if the meeting be for that purpose alone), A. B., C. D. and E. F., being members of the congregation and communicants of the Church, were duly chosen to represent the congregation in that body for the year ensuing. In testimony of which, I have hereunto set my hand (or, if two Wardens subscribe, we have set our hands), the day and year above written.

N. B.—The signature of either the Rector or the Secretary of the Vestry is sufficient; if neither the Rector nor the Secretary signs, then the signatures of both Wardens are necessary. A Clergyman who is simply Minister-in-charge or Missionary cannot sign.

The Lay Representation is limited to three Deputies, whose names in full should be carefully and legibly written.

This Certificate is to "be transmittted to the Secretary of the Convention AT LEAST TEN DAYS BEFORE THE MEETING OF THE ANNUAL CONVENTION." (See Title I., Canon 1, § II.)

In order to secure this, the Secretary will forward a blank form to every Parish, and earnestly asks the PROMPT attention of the Clergy.

 By the terms of the Constitution and Canons, the Deputies must be members of the congregation and communicants of the Church; also contributors to its support, and worshipers in the Church of the Parish which elects them for six calendar months next before the election; and in Free Churches must also have handed in their names as such to the Rector or Minister, in writing, six months before the election. (See Title I., Canon 6, § II, [2].)

The book-case containing the journals, etc., in charge of the Registrar, will hereafter be found in the Law Library room of the building corner of Broad and Mechanic streets, Newark.

D. SMITH WOOD,
Registrar.

The Committee on the Constitution and Canons offered the following

REPORT.

In reference to Dr. Farrington's proposed amendment to Canon 7, that when the consent of the Bishop and Standing Committee to the formation of a new Parish has been refused, no second application shall be made within one year.

Your Committee fail to discover the necessity for such an amendment, the Bishop and Standing Committee having it in their power to give or withhold their consent to any application for a new Parish.

Being averse to hasty legislation on this important Canon the Committee suggest that the subject lie over till the next Convention.

Mr. E. A. Stevens offered the following resolution which was adopted:

Resolved, That the Parishes be requested to pay their pledges in quarterly installments, so that the stipends of the missionaries may be promptly paid when due.

The Convention then proceeded to the election of a Standing Committee.

Mr. Alfred Mills asked that he might not be considered a candidate for re-election, as a matter would this year come before that Committee for settlement in which the Parish he represented was greatly interested.

And for the same reason the Rev. R. N. Merritt begged leave to withdraw his name.

The Chair appointed as Tellers for the Clerical vote, the Rev. Bishop Falkner and Mr. F. Kellogg; and for the Lay vote the Rev. W. R. Nairn and Mr. H. K. Bicker.

The ballots were cast and the tellers retired to count the votes.

Hr. Henry Hayes from the Sub-Committee of the Committee "On an Episcopal Residence," presented and read the following report:

On behalf of the Committee on an Episcopal Residence, the Sub-Committee report that so far there has been received towards this object as follows:

The cost of the property was $15,000.

HENRY. W. MILLER,

Chairman Sub-Committee.

NEWARK, May 1, A. D. 1885.

The Committee "On Lay Helpers in Mission Work," through its Chairman, the Rev. T. S. Cartwright, presented its report, with the suggestion that the reading of the same be dispensed with and the report be printed in the Journal.

On motion, it was so ordered. (See Appendix IV.)

Rev. Mr. Cartwright offered the following

REPORT.

The Committee on Unfinished Business report the following matters as requiring the attention of the Convention:

1. An amendment by the Rev. Dr. Holley to the Constitution as to the time of holding the Convention. See pp. 34 and 46 of Journal, 1884.
2. Report of the Committee on Legacy of Miss Charlotte S. Harrison.

On motion of the Rev. Dr. Boggs, the alteration of Article 2, of the Constitution, submitted to the last Convention and then approved by a majority, was adopted by a majority of the members, voting by orders, and so becomes valid and obligatory as follows:

ARTICLE 2.

There shall be a Convention of the Church in this Diocese, on the third Tuesday in May, in each year, to be held where the Ecclesiastical Authority appoints; provided, that whenever such day falls in Rogation Week, the Convention shall be on the fourth Tuesday in May.

The Rev. H. S. Bishop, of the Committee on the Legacy of Miss Harrison reported verbally: That the money realized on the property sold was in the hands of the Treasurer of the Diocese of New Jersey, and that one-half of the interest arising therefrom had been paid to the Treasurer of this Convention.

The Rev. T. I. Holcombe offered the following preamble and resolution:

WHEREAS, The Aged and Infirm Clergy Fund is one of the important interests of the diocese; and

WHEREAS, From the Treasurer's report for the past year it is evident that the parishes and the clergy themselves are not exhibiting that interest in the subject which it would seem to demand from them as chiefly interested in its success; therefore

Resolved, That the whole subject of clergy relief in this diocese be referred to a Special Committee of five, three clergymen and two laymen (to be appointed by the Bishop), who shall take the subject into careful consideration, and report the result of their deliberations to the next Annual Convention.

Which were adopted.

The tellers of the clerical vote for a Standing Committee reported that the following having received a majority of the votes cast had been elected, viz.: The Rev. Fernando C. Putnam, D. D., the Rev. Wm. G. Farrington, D. D., and the Rev. W. W. Holley, D. D., and that there was one clerical member to elect.

On motion, the order of the Laity confirmed the above election by the clergy.

The tellers of the lay vote for the Standing Committee reported the following as elected: Messrs. Edward A. Walton, Henry Hayes, James G. Osborne and F. W. Stevens.

On motion, the clergy approved of the election by the Laity.

The clergy then proceeded to cast their ballots for one clerical member of the Standing Committee.

While the tellers were counting the votes, the Rev. J. N. Stansbury presented the report of the Committee on the Centenary, and on motion of the same the reading of the report was dispensed with and it was ordered to be printed in the Journal. (See Appendix V.)

On motion of Mr. William Prall, it was

Resolved, That a committee of seven be appointed, to report to the next Convention whether it would be expedient to instruct the Deputies to this next General Convention to ask consent to a change of name for this Diocese, and to suggest what name, in their judgment, would be fit and proper for this Diocese.

The tellers reported that the clergy had failed to elect the member needed to complete the Standing Committee.

Whereupon the Clergy again balloted for one member of the Standing Committee.

On motion, Mr. Henry Hayes was re-elected Treasurer of the Convention.

Mr. D. Smith Wood was re-elected Registrar.

Messrs. John I. Young and Edward Todd were re-elected a Committee to Audit the Treasurer's Accounts.

On motion,

Resolved, That the Treasurer pay to the Sexton the usual sum for services rendered.

On motion, the Secretary was authorized to print 750 copies of the Journal of this Convention, and to append such an account of the Celebration at the Hospital of St. Barnabas, as the Committee of Arrangements may deem expedient. (See Appendix VI.)

On motion, it was unanimously

Resolved, That the thanks of the Convention are hereby tendered to the Rector, Wardens and Vestrymen of Trinity Church, Newark, for the use of the church and the conveniences afforded for the transaction of business.

Resolved, That the thanks of the Convention are hereby tendered to the Churchmen of Newark for their hospitality to the members of this Convention.

The tellers of the clerical vote for one member of the Standing Committee, reported that the Rev. Edwin B. Russell had been duly elected, and on motion, the order of the Laity approved of this election by the clergy. So the following constitute

SIXTH ANNUAL ADDRESS

OF THE

Rt. Rev. Thomas A. Starkey, D. D.,

BISHOP OF THE DIOCESE.

BRETHREN OF THE CLERGY AND LAITY:

Permit me at the beginning of a new Conventional year to greet you with a cordial assurance of confidence and affection.

Since our last meeting, the venerable Senior Bishop of the Church in the United States has been called away to the rest of Paradise. On the 31st day of May, 1884, the death of the Right Rev. Benjamin Bosworth Smith, D. D., terminated an Episcopate which had extended through fifty-one years and seven months, during sixteen years of which long period Dr. Smith had been the Presiding Bishop of the Church. A life like this, passed in the blameless discharge of high and sacred duties leaves behind it little motive for regret; for, extended far beyond the usual allotment, and having fulfilled its mission, God added this one blessing more, that its final passage to the sea beyond should be as tranquil as its course all along had been, as a rule, gentle and unperturbed.

In the past year death has again invaded the ranks of our Diocesan Clergy. On the evening of the second Sunday in Advent, December seventh, 1884, the Rev. Richard M.

Abercrombie, D. D., long time Rector of St. Matthew's Church, in Jersey City, entered into rest. For two or three years the state of Dr. Abercrombie's health had been a cause of solicitude to his friends; but for some weeks before his death he had himself spoken of its condition cheerfully. An ordinary cold, first observed after a visit to New York, soon developed more grave and alarming symptoms, and in five days from the first apparently slight attack, our brother passed—let us not doubt—to "the rest that remaineth to the people of God." The funeral ceremonies on the Wednesday succeeding his demise testified, in the large attendance of both clergy and laity, to the respect in which his memory was held. Dr. Abercrombie's spirit was one of great gentleness and well fitted to attract and retain affection; nor was he wanting in the stronger qualities which achieve practical results. To him, with one or two others, the initiation and success of the clergy retiring fund is largely due; and his name must always be identified with Christ Hospital, of which he was almost the founder. These are his enduring monuments.

Another serious loss sustained in the past year is that of the Rev. Julius Ungar, who had been appointed by me only a twelvemonth before to the charge of St. Matthew's German Mission in Newark. It had seemed to me and to others deeply interested in this work, that the long and anxious waiting through years of discouragement had at last been rewarded in the choice of one so admirably fitted to meet the responsibities of a delicate and arduous duty. Under our brother's charge, this field had already begun to show many signs of reviving life and of rich promise, when it pleased God to permit the painful disease of which he died to check once more the progress of the work. Mr. Ungar passed to his rest on the twenty-seventh day of March, of the present year. As his life had been faithful, so was his death full of consolation, exhibiting in the modest, sustained and tranquil faith which illuminated his last days, the power of that Spirit of all Grace whom he had so often preached to others.

I may not omit to chronicle here the departure of another venerable clergyman, who for some years of his later life was resident in Orange although not canonically connected with the Diocese. The Rev. Dr. John Lee Watson, who will be remembered by many as having been actively engaged in the work and stir of Church life some thirty years ago, died in Orange August twelfth, 1884. A notice of this aged servant of God will be found in the Appendix.

In referring to losses sustained by death during the past year, I should offer violence to my own feeling of what is due to honorable and helpful lives of quiet devotion to our common Master if I passed over without at least a brief tribute of affectionate remembrance the names of William Whitehead and St. Charles Seymour. Both had long passed, as I suppose, the ordinary span of life assigned to humanity; and both had carried into advanced years their habits of daily devotion to the occupation which they had in hand, with an industry and application from which most men in like circumstances would have claimed exemption. Warm churchmen both, although sometimes viewing, it may be, the common object of their love from different and differing standpoints, each illustrated in his life that genuine simplicity which is the true touchstone of gentle breeding and Christian character as well. Venerable and beloved brethren, may the lesson of your worth give us, who remain, courage to emulate your good examples!

It is a matter for congratulation and heartfelt gratitude to God, that throughout a year which has been painfully marked by financial disaster and distress in the business world, involving its natural result of straitened means and more economical expenditure, the work of the Church within the Diocese has gone on with even an accelerated pace. In a review of the entire field, I cannot fix upon parish or mission, with possibly one or two exceptions, where the conditions are not fully as encouraging as they were a year ago, while in many they are more so.

On the sixth day of April of this year, I gave my consent, after long and careful consideration of all the circumstances, to the erection of a new parish in Orange Valley, which has since been organized under the name of All Saint's Church. There is certainly an ample field in the neighborhood for diligent and conscientious work, which I trust will not be lacking.

Trinity Church, Bergen Point, under its new rector, is compact and united, and will soon be ready, I trust, to enter with vigor on the mission field that invites its activities near by, where great oil works and the shipping that comes there from all countries have brought together a population that cries aloud for very self-denying labor in its behalf. Grace Church, Jersey City, has regained much of its ancient strength under its energetic Rector. Trinity Church, Hoboken, carries on a successful mission at Weehawken, and is also doing excellent work among the poor and neglected classes who reside on the meadows. The growth of this church in strength has been remarkable. The Church of the Holy Innocents, Hoboken, has just completed in the rear of its church building, at a cost of ten or twelve thousand dollars, large and well-arranged rooms for parochial work of a very practical kind. St. Paul's Church, in the same city, which two years ago, after nearly a half century of parochial life, seemed on the point of extinction, has renewed its strength, and to-day gives promise of having entered, after years of waiting and discouragment, upon a new career of prosperity.

It would be interesting to do more than merely touch upon other points in the Diocese where the work of the Church gives encouragement were there time to do so. I should be glad, for instance, to dwell upon the prosperity of the churches in Paterson; the steady growth at Totowa, where an attractive parsonage and a spacious Sunday-school and guild room have been erected within the year by plain working people; upon the new activity displayed in the Church of the Holy Communion in Paterson, under the direction of its Rector; upon the fresh and costly adornments of St. Paul's in the same city, which have converted gradually its ancient plainness into decorous beauty, so that it is now one of the most attractive churches in the Diocese. It would be pleasant to linger, as I have said, with a feeling of being at home, of our all being at home, with that which concerns and interests us all, on each one of the Parishes that make up our Diocesan family; marking here and there the outward, and still more and better, the inward tokens of God's presence and blessing, and so to photograph, as it were, their condition on our minds.

Of course no one can feel as the Bishop does who goes from place to place continually in the Diocese, either the flush of pleasure or the weight of disappointment which awaits him as he is greeted by the tokens of growth or decadence, which call up the one or involve the other. I thank God, that, with many causes of anxiety always pressing and always to press, I suppose, so long as life lasts, there is to-day a general consciousness of life and growth throughout the Diocese. Now and then, too, there comes a sense of especial pleasure and thankfulness to Him, who is so aboundingly merciful, called up by some peculiar case, as by that of Tenafly, for instance, of which I have had occasion more than once to speak to you before. It seemed enough to see the little Church, so long deserted and solitary by the wayside, made bright without and within, as the worshippers entered the now open gates familiarly as to their accustomed religious home. But, to see also a fine new rectory erected by its side as a free gift, and by a lady who was not at the time a member of our Communion, this was to experience a new sentiment of pleasure, and, let me add, to learn a new lesson of charity.

On the evening of Wednesday, the sixth of May, after confirming an excellent class of twelve in this, but a short time before, most discouraging Mission field, I passed into the beautiful new Rectory, and before asking God's blessing on its occupancy, received it as a gift to the Diocese, in response to the following letter, which was read to me in the presence of one hundred and fifty people:

To the Right Rev. Thomas A. Starkey and Trustees of the Diocese of Northern New Jersey:

DEAR SIRS—I take pleasure in presenting this house to you and this Parish, to be used as a home by our Rector. I sincerely hope it may prove a great blessing to our Church and this community.

Hoping that you will receive it and make such provision as may be necessary for its future care and preservation to its right and intended uses, I am Yours very respectfully.

(Signed) ELIZABETH B. SISSON.

Of the same general kind was the pleasure experienced by many of us when on the last day but one of May (a year ago), I dedicated the new chancel of the Church in Summit, which with the Sunday-school building * in the rear makes the appointments of the Church there so substantial and complete.

An equal encouragement must have been felt by all who were present and took part in the consecration of the Church at Short Hills on the thirteenth of November; when we were able to offer to God, without encumbrance a new stone Church, in a village itself scarce five years old, as a first-fruits, almost literally, of the new homes and hearths which had settled down upon the pleasant hill-side, seeking in this way, as one may be permitted to hope, for the Divine blessing on the new town.

I might easily go on, finding in other places many encouraging things to chronicle, but there is not time; and, as it is, I must ask that no one shall think his work overlooked because it is not mentioned. The Church as a whole, and in almost all of its members, is (so far as I can judge), in a stronger and more healthy condition to-day than it was when a twelvemonth since we met together in Convention.

* Each of these buildings was a gift of a member of the Parish.

Two most conspicuous illustrations of the Divine favor bestowed upon us in a year of almost unparalleled monetary and business distress are furnished by the success of the Committee appointed to purchase or build an Episcopal Residence, and by the erection of the new Hospital of St. Barnabas in Newark.

The success of the first so soon achieved, was I confess, unexpected by me, after the failure of four years of previous effort; and when, on my arrival from abroad last October, while the ship lay at anchor within the shelter of Sandy Hook waiting for the tide, a dear old friend, who had reached the vessel by a tug, came to my stateroom at midnight with the news, it caused a genuine surprise. I had not said very much to the Diocese on the subject of this Bishop's home during those four years, for the reason that I was in part tongue-tied by a feeling of personal delicacy. Its securing had been greatly desired by me, because in the first place, it seemed altogether unworthy of any Diocese that its Bishop should be without a settled home; and secondly, although this consideration was naturally subordinate, because personally and officially I deemed it was my due. How faithfully the Committee has worked to secure the end for which it was appointed, how the clergy on it have met and planned with the laity, and how the laity on it have willingly given of their time, which no doubt was often hard to spare, to accomplish what had been planned; how all have worked together and are still working together, crossing well the boundary between failure and success, unheeding criticism and undaunted by indifference, until to-day they see the full end before them, though yet in the distance,—in a word, how bravely this Committee has done its work, no one outside of its number knows better than myself; and now, before this Convention, and speaking not as the occupant of the house, but as Bishop and jealous of the honor and credit of the Diocese, I thank its members from the bottom of my heart.

The house itself is situated on Arlington avenue, in East Orange. It is of frame, well built and nearly new. Finding on inspection that it lacked a room sufficiently large and suitable in other respects for a Bishop's study, where committees may occasionally meet, I have as my own contribution and by consent of the Committee erected one on the side; and with this addition the house is perfectly convenient.

Another event that marks the year as one to be remembered in the history of the Diocese, is the completion of a portion of the new Hospital of St. Barnabas, at a cost of more than thirty thousand dollars. The Church now owns in the grounds and buildings of this institution a property of great value, and what is of more consequence has an equipment for charitable work which is admirable for present needs and can be extended indefinitely in the future. It may not be generally known to the members of this house that the charter of the Hospital is in effect that of a General Charity Foundation, and that almost every form of charitable work is covered by it, not for Newark only, but for the entire Diocese. At present the Trustees are doing hospital work only, and for this the new building was erected and is perfectly adapted. The wards are all of the pavillion style in arrangement, and are supplied with every needful appliance suggested by modern skill and experience. As I have said, only a portion of the entire design has been carried out as yet, and we greatly need suitable administration rooms and a chapel, together with proper accommodations for the Sisters in charge. A ward for children is also greatly to be desired, as at present we have to use a portion of the women's ward for their accommodation. All this will come no doubt in due time. To have accomplished present results is cause for surprise and gratitude. The hospital is a grand success. The friends who have enabled us to erect this noble structure devoted to charity, if living, have our gratitude and prayers; if dead, they constrain our affectionate and pious memory. By their munificence the Church and Diocese are honored, and the people have placed before them continually a new illustration of the beneficence of Christ's religion. I will only add to this a notification that the Convention will be asked to inspect the new building after the usual hour for recess to-day, and to unite with several distinguished guests in a service which is designed not only as a solemn invocation of the divine blessing on our work, but as a commemoration also of the Centenary of the reorganization of the Church in the State of New Jersey.

In Jersey City, the excellent institution known as Christ Hospital, has recently obtained from the Legislature a modification of its charter, by which it is made the Church Hospital of the counties composing the Jersey City Convocation. Admirably conducted, and always a church foundation, it has now become even more strictly than before a Diocesan charity, and I bespeak for it your warm and practical interest.

The Arthur's Home at Summit, enters upon a new year with more encouraging tokens than ever before of success. These trees of God's planting are at first but tender things, that seem to invite the rude blasts which, to human wisdom, must come soon enough, without such invitation to destroy them. But they struggle on and live, like children on the Saviour's breast, and the fittest of them survives. But the fittest in this spiritual domain, where God knoweth them that are His, are not what often to man seems so, in material strength, but what He elects, perhaps, that He may by such weak and foolish things confound the wise.

Turning from such especially home topics, let me ask your indulgence while I make brief allusion to my visit abroad last summer, one which was undertaken all the more pleasantly and confidently because accompanied by your prayers and God-speed. Although the original motive to the journey was greatly needed rest and change, a scarcely inferior one was the hope of accomplishing an object which had been entrusted by the General Convention to a joint committee, of which I had the honor to be a member, viz.: the securing for Church of England emigrants to this country letters of transfer to our own clergy. There was also an incidental interest in the Centenary Commemoration by the Church in Scotland of the consecration of our first American Bishop. In my efforts to enlist interest in the spiritual care of emigrants I was thrown into more or less intimate relations with a number of the English bishops and clergy, the memory of whose refined and Christian courtesy and kindness will accompany me to the end of life. The urgent importance of some plan by which persons removing to this country could be brought into direct personal contact with our clergy was not only admitted, but in most cases so profoundly felt that the subject was brought before the Convocation of Canterbury twice by the Archbishop himself within the year. It is impossible to introduce and perfect new measures hastily in a body so large and conservative as the Church of England; but I have had every assurance of sympathy in regard to this particular one from men in positions of the greatest influence. To his Grace, the Archbishop of Canterbury, a Prelate whose high character and winning yet dignified address give an especial charm to his high official station, I am under special obligations for sympathy and active practical interest in the work entrusted by the Committee to my care, as every American Churchman may well be also for his general sympathy with the growth and progress of our Church. His Grace, the Archbishop of York, was also warm in his encouragement of my efforts. Everywhere, indeed, words and acts expressive of good-will abounded: and even if the work should not be accomplished at once, I am persuaded that the initial interest which has been awakened will not rest, but that a beginning has been made from which happy results will follow in due season. It would not be appropriate to place on record in an official paper like this any notice of private and personal regard or recognition of personal kindness; but I trust it is not an infringement of delicacy to say, that with others, Abergwili, Selsdon

Park, Rochester Close, Malvern and Lichfield are especially names always to be cherished by me with singular tenderness.

It gives me infinite pleasure to bear my testimony here to the wonderful life manifested in the Church of England. I found it in nearly every part of the kingdom visited by me, a body full of spiritual life and energy; its laity active and interested, its clergy devoted and faithful, and its Bishops eminently adapted to the high, responsible and arduous positions in which they are placed.

The Centenary Commemoration of Bishop Seabury's consecration in Aberdeen, although not as largely attended as was expected, will have its place in our Church history. Bishops and clergy were present from England, Ireland, America and the Colonies of Great Britain. The chief interest centered naturally in Seabury's successor, the venerated Bishop of Connecticut, who sustained with dignity the responsibilities of his conspicuous position on this, as he does on every occasion when the demand is made upon him. Undoubtedly, the ceremonies of this year in Aberdeen have bound more closely the ties that unite the branches of the Church Catholic represented there.

The Committee on the Revised Prayer Book will probably make a brief report and ask to be continued. The Book as amended by the late General Convention was so late in appearing that there has been insufficient time to consider the changes that are proposed. Another year's examination of them will allow of a more intelligent and conscientious report. This delay will call up no regret on the part of many who would prefer to wait and consider carefully before accepting modifications or additions to these venerable forms, unless they are actually demanded by the circumstances and needs of the times, and when thus demanded are really enrichments, conceived and carried out both in spirit and technique, in accordance with the law of ancient liturgical prescription.

A fitting close to this portion of my address is suggested by the late Centenary Commemoration in Christ Church, New Brunswick, of the re-organization of the Church in New Jersey. There was an early celebration of the Holy Communion by the Bishop of New Jersey, and a late one by myself. The sermon was preached by the Rev. Dr. Garrison. It was historical and at the same time interesting and in every way able. In the afternoon addresses were made by the Bishop of Pittsburgh and others in a public hall secured for the purpose. The entire commemoration was successful, and the review of an hundred years' toil must have suggested to earnest minds a profound sense of the responsibilities of a present always shifting, but always fruitful, whose works scarcely known by those who do them, will tell so heavily, perhaps, in the review which others will take of them when another hundred years are gone.

The Missions of the Diocese have been conscienciously carried on during the past year, and with as full a measure of success as could be reasonably expected. The most concentrated and almost the hardest fields for missionary work within the Diocese have been for years along the neck of land known generally as Bergen Hill. The population of this ridge, directly overlooking New York, is essentially urban, almost all of its male inhabitants pursuing their industries in New York and residing here for the sake of better or cheaper dwellings or more extended grounds. It would be difficult to find anywhere a population of more varied nationality than exists on portions of Bergen Hill. In that part which is known as West Hoboken, and for a mile or more south of it, are found colonies of Irish, French-Swiss, German-Swiss and pure Germans, with a large sprinkling of native-born Americans.

Still farther south, between Jersey City proper and Bergen Point, the population is more largely a native one. For the most part, except in the case of the Roman Catholics, religious services of all kinds are sustained with more or less difficulty. It is no doubt unfortunate, that in some instances where in years long past our Church services were established, Parishes were organized where Missions only should have been formed. In the case of a Mission, two, three or four services in different localities may be carried on regularly or at intervals by one clergyman, aided, perhaps, by a lay assistant; but where Parishes with vestries exist, and the people are comparatively poor or few in number, such an arrangement is rarely possible and the Bishop is powerless to carry out his plans, or, as is often desirable and even necessary, to tax his resources and try different plans, like a skillful general, to effect the best possible results. In more than one instance, I am referring now to this Bergen hill district, where a vast city population is rapidly growing up and crystalizing into habits and beliefs which are to affect the character and citizenship of a vast community in the near future,—in more than one instance two distinct services are carried on in different buildings perhaps a mile apart, where one service in one building would be better, because the united congregations would be stronger. The additional cost in mere money is not considerable, perhaps is not really greater than it would be were the two combined; but the amount available is divided, the difficulty of securing clergy enhanced, and the efficiency of the work greatly diminished.

Notwithstanding these hindrances the success of these Missions during the year has been very appreciable, as the confirmations in part testify. St. John's Church, West Hoboken, is full, under the efficient ministrations of its Rector. The Church of the Ascension more than holds its own, and furnished an intelligent class of twelve persons for confirmation. Christ Church, Jersey City, always weak, is better off than it was a year ago and is gradually increasing its congregation. Bayonne is full of life and maintains itself bravely under the discouragements of a shifting population, possessed, as a rule, of slender means; while at Fort Lee, aided only by a pittance from us, a zealous layman, Mr. Ahrens, to whom I pay this public homage of my respect, keeps together by his untiring energy and zeal a little flock of twenty-five or thirty communicants. Along the hill will be in future years a great city. It is already densely crowded with houses and shops for miles, but the people are hard to reach,—hard to reach by us, hard to reach by all. To abandon the place would be to sell out the future, to consign it to the adversary, to proclaim ourselves weaklings, and unworthy of our mission. We must work on, sowing beside all waters, leaning on His strength, abiding His time and trusting His word, who says that in due time we shall reap if we faint not.

In the Associate Mission we have worked on carefully and with studied economy during the year. Happily a deacon clerically educated, as I may say, in the experience of this field, has by his care, prudence and fidelity enabled us to carry out this purpose of economy, and at the same time with the aid of lay readers to render the mission services well. The Church at Phillipsburgh has an excellent attendance, ranging on Sundays between forty and ninety, and averaging perhaps fifty or sixty at each service; and the people are, as may be believed, in good heart. At Washington, notwithstanding the drawback of an inferior and mean room for our worship (we could secure no other), the attendance is increasing and the missionary speaks hopefully of our prospects there. The Church at Stanhope is very successful; and I regard as among the most valued tokens of this, hearts full of love for the Church, a sober enthusiasm in its behalf and a cheerful readiness to give and labor for it, and patience, too, when patience is needed. These I consider among the signs of which I speak; good signs but which cannot be measured by rule, or weighed in scales, or ranged in columns for enumeration or have a money valuation given them; but which he who goes in and out among the little flock with the prayer in his heart for God's manifestation of His presence with him, recognizes, and as he recognizes is thankful.

The primary object of the Associated Mission was to do a work in that part of the Diocese which had not been done before. The work was difficult, the field was a hard one, as I have told you in almost every Convention address; and when I said it added, that the work must nevertheless be undertaken. It has had some trying experiences. I looked for these, though not for the kind which came. But a trying experience is not failure; if it were, farewell to hope and courage. The Mission has accomplished much of its first purpose, and will, I trust, accomplish more hereafter. It has demonstrated that the congregation at Phillipsburgh can be built up, even with the unfortunate location of the church there. It discovered that the Church could be successfully planted at Stanhope, and through its efforts the Church has been planted and has struck its roots there. It has shown our people living far away from the places where the Church is in its strength, that their fellow-churchmen have not forgotten them; but that when the cry reaches their ears, "Come over and help us," enough of Paul's spirit is left to answer it. It has called up in zealous hearts of men and women a desire to do something for those who do not possess their privileges. It has done this, calling out Christian sympathy and liberal gifts to an extent which I had not looked for; and it will do more, for I have a strong belief that the Associate Mission, if continued, will yet show that when the Church is fairly planted in Washington, it will root itself there as it has in Stanhope.

Every one in the Diocese knows that its missionary work is, and has been from the first, the object of my especial care. The Church herself, indeed, only exists that she may do a work to which every Christian is pledged by the very terms and purpose of his spiritual calling.

All Christian work therefore is mission work; hospitals, asylums, homes, sacraments, preaching, ritual: all that honors God or helps man in God's way, is meant to draw others to the truth that they too may be blessed by it.

Our ordinary missionary service is two-fold in aspect, considered as to its objective aims. It is either constructive, as when it organizes congregations and does work in growing centers of population, where there is every prospect of establishing eventually self-supporting parishes; or it is preservative and motherly, as when it seeks out and cares for members of God's spiritual family in places where they are too weak in wealth and numbers to provide the means of grace for themselves without assistance from their more favored brethren. The first of these no one is found to refuse support to, at least in theory; the last is sometimes, but very rarely, objected to on the ground of waste in money and energy.

Of course there is natural limit to the care we can bestow upon small and isolated groups of people. It would be unwise, for instance, to undertake a fixed mission where the population was too scanty and with too little prospect of increase to ever support the services. Common sense might well be trusted, we should imagine, in a case like this; although it has not always been present to defeat a zeal that outran discretion. In such instances itinerancy is all that can be expected.

But with such reservation there can be no denial of the duty of the Church towards her feeble and scattered children. The principle that he who will not provide for his own denies the faith and is worse than an infidel, applies to the Church as fully as to one of her members. It is because the lamb is weak and separated from the flock and weary that the Good Shepherd leaves the rest and seeks it and brings it home on His bosom. But patience is not the virtue of our age or land; and it is an older wisdom which tells us that the day of small things is not always a day to be despised.

I can speak to my brethren of the clergy and laity on this subject not merely as Bishop, but from the experience of many years. Happy enough as some would deem it, to have been for the greater part of my clerical life a pastor over considerable cures, I began as a missionary and have rarely ceased since wherever placed to engage more or less in mission work. Perhaps this is one reason why my sympathies go out so largely to those who, doing the work, are compelled to live on narrower means than I was ever confined to. In looking back over these years my heart finds happier memories to rest upon in this service than in what the world calls higher and greater. There were mistakes occasionally, some which caused me acute pain at the time, but which I now look back upon and smile at. He is undoubtedly a wise man, if such an one can be found, who never blunders; but I think he is a wiser one who has learned from the lesson of his own occasional mistakes to form a modest estimate of himself and to judge others gently.

The day of small things and of mean things, which as I have said, memory calls up at times; the room over the country shop, with its cheap adornments; the struggle and anxiety about pennies, not dollars; the attempts at music and ritual arrangements by good and honest hearts, God bless them! attempts that provoked a smile even then. Ah! how sweet their memory is now. Charity spread her gold over their humbleness, even in the days which I recall; and something, I know not what it is, surrounds them with a nimbus now, at the end of the long vista through which I look back at them, and they seem to me in their very commonness like sacraments of holier things that lay hid under their veil.

Concentration, which stands for accumulated power, is often excellent policy, but not always. If we judge spiritually and not in a materialistic way, there is sometimes a great amount of power lost in the absorption of smaller centres by larger ones. If you would see real and true zeal and interest, you must often go to the little Parishes where every man's and woman's interest counts and is therefore evoked. How many such units of power are lost—swallowed up in a great congregation! And looking at the matter conversely, should the great Parish send out its imprisoned forces to work in scattered places to plant the Church there and nourish it for a while, what a reserved power might find occupation through these many units. A Parish working in this way could be compared to a thrifty plant, whose redundant shoots are transplanted into new ground to grow up there and bear fruit instead of withering or resting inert on the parent stem. "There is," says our Lord, with a Divine wisdom, to whose lesson Nature herself responds, "There is that scattereth and yet increaseth."

Our own Diocese, considered as a Missionary district, is peculiar. Among the smallest in territorial extent, its population is large in proportion. But it is the character and local position of this population which constitutes the peculiarity referred to. Of the 600,000 inhabitants of the Diocese, two-thirds, that is to say, more than 400,000, dwell in cities; and of another fifty thousand it may be safely said that they are urban in tastes and habits. The population of the cities themselves is very largely foreign in birth and alien from us in religious feeling; hence the difficulty of building up strong Parishes in certain districts, urban and suburban, which are yet growing rapidly in population and, I fear, in vice and godlessness. When you take into consideration the facts of location already presented and consider the long thread of intelligent population that stretches along the line of the Morris & Essex Railroad where the Church is comparatively strong, you will see that all that is left to work upon, viz.: the semi-foreign city populations referred to, and the scattered villages in the purely agricultural district, present either a very difficult or a very narrow field of labor. Our Diocese itself supplies so sharp an illustration of concentration in population that the number of Missionary points in it is small. Though small and difficult they are important; and most of them—I do not say all of them—should be held. In military phrase, they are the key to future advances or future spiritual defence. They must be maintained and you must be patient in maintaining them. The strain here is not half so great as it is in nine out of ten of our Dioceses and Missionary jurisdictions, because our territory is small and our population concentrated. You must be patient, I say again, as God is patient. A thousand dollars added each year to the expenditures in some one of these stations, dollars not given by your love, but taken away from other stations which would be abandoned, would do little good, for the difficulty is not one which money can meet; but you should contribute to increase the support of the men who are already working in the field. The laborer is worthy of his hire.

I think from this presentation you should have a fairly good idea of the Missionary field and the nature of the work to be done within the Diocese. It asks your consideration, your interest and your prayers. But I must tell you the simple truth about it. There is little opportunity, as a rule, here or elsewhere, less as a rule here than elsewhere, for phenomenal exhibitions of local Missionary growths. Of such in a way we have moderate examples in Totowa and Tenafly; but even these cases are purely exceptional and not so far removed from weakness but that a slight disturbance in circumstances, a few removals, a Church dispute, one of many things, in fine, that can be thought of, would easily disturb the balance and convert success into failure.

There is one more consideration which I must lay before you, though briefly, for its own sake and for its bearing on the motive and animus of all our missionary work. This Church, whose ministry, sacraments and services we carry with us to fields that are destitute of them, is no sect, no denomination merely; it is no miscalled church of the present as contradistinguished from some dreamy ideal church in the future. It is the American Catholic Church, whose roots strike down through nineteen centuries; whose priests are of apostolic lineage, and whose sacraments alone realize the union of the Divine and promised Presence with the outward sign. Whereever this Church goes, to village or hamlet, in strength or weakness, with crowds to gather to her or only the two or three, She is complete. Mark you, in strength or in weakness, She is complete. As such She bears Her testimony; as such She fulfils Her mission; as such She makes Christ's Church go where She will. However feeble may be Her light, it is light; the Light of Him whose body mystical She is. Wherever Her light shines, She teaches by it. Not in arrogance, not in any wounding way, not in a way to drive away from Her those whom She is seeking to win to Her, but nevertheless, teaching always the truth, whether men hear or whether they forbear; and the man who humbly accepts God's word, and to whose soul His institutions are of all realities most real, blesses God when he sees the light, however feeble, and knows by it that the Catholic Church is there.

The year, let me repeat in conclusion, has been fruitful in blessing on our labors, and calls for abundant praise. A new century opens its misty gates before us, and we are apt to cry out as we peer into its possibilities, ourselves so weak, "Lead, Kindly Light." Happily we are not alone, either in our walk or work in life, for through the Ever-abiding Spirit His presence is still vouchsafed to us, who has said, "Lo, I am with you always."

Commending you and yours, my brethren, to the grace and protection of God, the Father, Son and Holy Ghost, I am,

Affectionately Your Bishop,

THOMAS A. STARKEY.

NOTE TO "EPISCOPAL ADDRESS."

THE REV. JOHN LEE WATSON, D. D.

At a meeting of the clergy present at the funeral of the Rev. Dr. John Lee Watson, Aug. 15, 1884, in St. Mark's Church, Orange, N. J., the rector of the Parish having been called to the chair, a committee was appointed to prepare a Minute, commemorative of the departed, for publication. The Minute is as follows:

An assistant minister of Trinity Church, Boston, on the Green Foundation, the third rector of Grace Church, Newark, N. J., sometime rector of Burlington College and afterwards a chaplain in the United States Navy, he discharged the important duties which devolved upon him in these different positions with credit to himself and honor to the Church.

The friend of Croswell and Doane, he was a true Catholic Churchman, and rejoiced in the rapid spread of the principles for which they spent their devoted lives.

We recall his earnest and lucid preaching, his singularly intelligent reading of Holy Scripture, his devout and reverent manner in conducting the services of the sanctuary, his marked affability and courtesy in social intercourse, and feel that he was indeed a Priest from whom we could learn much, and for whose good example "in word, in conversation, in charity, in spirit, in faith, in purity," we may give God hearty thanks and praise.

Blest with good health during a life of more than fourscore years, blest in his children, one of whom serves at the altar, blest in seeing some of the fruits of his long and loving ministry, his heart was ever full of gratitude to "the Giver of every good and perfect gift," and the call of the Master to render an account of his stewardship was cheerfully and trustfully obeyed.

Requiem aeternam dona ei, Domine, et lux perpetua luceat ei.

WILLIAM G. FARRINGTON,
HORACE S. BISHOP,
J. NICHOLAS STANSBURY,
THOMAS GALLAUDET.

Reports.

I have received the following reports from the Reverend the Deans of the two Convocations.

CONVOCATION OF NEWARK.

To the Right Reverend the Bishop of the Diocese:

The Board of Missions have made so comprehensive a report that it leaves little for me to say in regard to missions within the bounds of the Convocation of Newark.

I would respectfully report that I have visited all the stations excepting Hope and Mendham. Work has not been active. Many industries are almost paralyzed. This leads to the migration of numbers from our mission field, and consequent loss to our congregations. Washington has suffered most from business troubles, but seems to be emerging from the gloom and despondency of last autumn and winter. The congregation appears to be larger and more hopeful now than ever before. I trust that the effort now being made to raise funds for a church building will be successful.

The churches in Phillipsburgh and Stanhope are earnest and active, and show substantial gains during the past year. Belvidere and Knowlton are faithfully served. St. Philip's, Newark, has lost its energetic pastor. The Newark Alms House Mission continues its work among those from whom little return is expected in this world, while Trinity and Grace Parishes, Newark, have begun works, which though they are not called missionary, and are not certainly charities, are works from which the highest results are anticipated.

Faithfully yours,

J. N. STANSBURY,
Dean.

CONVOCATION OF JERSEY CITY.

To the Right Reverend the Bishop:

As required by Canon the Dean of Jersey City respectfully submits the following statement with regard to mission work in this part of the Diocese.

At four points the aggregate sum of $955 has been appropriated by the Board of Missions.

At Christ Church, Pompton, there is much to encourage the zealous missionary. The congregations have decidedly increased, both in numbers and interest. The small salary is promptly paid, and the outlook is brighter than a year ago. Yet it will be a long time, if ever, when missionary aid will not be needed, for the people are few, and all those who have to depend upon daily labor for support. Last October the missionary began work in the neighboring mining town of Charlotteburgh. A student from the General Theological Seminary (licensed in this Diocese), goes there regularly; services are held in the school house, which is filled morning and evening with interested miners. They raise about four dollars a Sunday. There is a Sunday-school of some fifty children, with five teachers. The Missionary reports nearly fifty baptisms at this point. A lot has been promised, and the foundation of a church laid, to be vested in the Diocese when finished. As occasion offers, the Missionary does work in the adjoining towns of Butler and Bloomingdale.

The neighborhood of the Church of the Ascension in Jersey City, is rapidly improving, and the nearly completed elevated railroad from Hoboken ferry promises to give an additional impetus to the growth. The Missionary looks forward to this with hopefulness, and says that "even now our Church is receiving her share of the new-comers." The death of the late Dr. Abercrombie is felt very sensibly by the Church of the Ascension. He was a subscriber of two hundred dollars on every thousand raised towards the payment of the mortgage debt. The people are poor, and this was an incentive to them to give, which it will be hard to replace.

In St. John's, Bayonne, though the missionary's expectations have not been reached, yet a real advance has been made. The whole section is growing, and a large congregation must be the result of faithful work, in the not very distant future. Plans are now being perfected for the building of an addition in the rear of the church, to cost about $1,000, and to be used for Sunday-school, guild meetings and the like.

The Mission of the Good Shepherd, at Taylorsville, has met with what seemed to me a literal turning out of doors. The building in which services have been held was the chapel of a defunct Methodist congregation.

Our lay missionary had gathered a good congregation and Sunday-school, seeing which the Methodist owner, like the Assyrian of old, "came down like the wolf on the fold," and by extravagantly raising the rent, literally turned them out. But the faithful few, "cast down but not destroyed," obtained the use of a small school-room in Fort Lee, where services were held until the first Sunday in May, when the "Stone Church," owned by the Presbyterians, was secured for afternoon services, one of the congregation guaranteeing the rental for fifty services at one dollar a service. It is a good half mile further for most of the congregation to go, but there has been no falling off in attendance, and in some respects a gain has been made; certainly in the place of worship and its surroundings. The rental however is almost double what has been paid heretofore. These people deserve more help. The most they have ever had has been fifty dollars a year. There have been 15 baptized, 13 confirmed, 76 services, 12 celebrations, and almost three hundred dollars raised this year.

In St. John's, West Hoboken, if no great gain has been made, the work has fully held its own, and just now, owing to the speedy dissolution of a Reformed Episcopal congregation, the Rector expects to receive back some families who had strayed from the fold.

The work has been faithfully and successfully carried on in this Convocation; only in one aspect is it discouraging, and that is, that in consequence of non-payment of pledges made by Parishes in Convention, the missionaries have been put to much inconvenience and anxiety. The pay is pitiful enough in itself, but when the pittance is not received, and for the cause, it is a source of sorrow as well as of annoyance and solicitude.

All of which is respectfully submitted,

WM. WELLES HOLLEY,
Dean.

HACKENSACK, N. J., May 1, 1885.

Appendix I.

REPORT OF THE BOARD OF MISSIONS.

To the Convention of Northern New Jersey:

The Board of Missions of the Diocese respectfully reports: Encouraged by the action of the last Annual Convention approving of the enlarged expenditures of the previous year, and by the hearty responses made by the Rectors and Deputies, to the invitation to pledge their Parishes for contributions to Diocesan Missions, the Board held its first meeting soon after the Convention adjourned. Appropriations for the year were made, based upon the amount of those pledges, upon the collections of the previous year in those Parishes which had made no pledge, and upon pledges made by individuals. It was estimated that from these sources a revenue of about $4,600 might safely be relied upon. There was a balance due the Treasurer from last year of $690, leaving about $4,000 to be appropriated.

The report of the Treasurer, which will be laid before the Convention, will show how this money has been expended. Briefly we state here:

Receipts for the year—General Fund	$4,071 21
Receipts for the year—for Specials	664 77
Total	$4,735 98
Payments for the year from General Fund	3,992 00
Payments for the year from Special Fund	664 67

If all the pledges made at the last Convention had been redeemed, as the Board had a right to expect, we should be able to report to this Convention that every obligation for the year had been met, and the debt to the Treasurer, with which the year was commenced, paid. Unhappily this is not the case. Owing to failure in some of the Parishes to pay these pledges, either in whole or in part, there is still due the Missionaries of the Diocese for the year ending February 15, 1885, about $590.50. Another quarterly stipend was due this May 15th, for which there is no money in the Treasury. Had all the promised payments been made, nearly the whole of this also could have been met. The Missionaries are suffering for want of these moneys. It is unjust; it is even cruel to allow these debts to remain unpaid. The Board hopes that before this Convention adjourns the balance due will be raised, so that the new year may be entered upon free of debt. (See note at end of this report.)

Instead of giving the usual details of the Missions a tabular statement is here given of some of the work of the Missions during the year, that an estimate of its comparative value may be formed:

Missions.	Confirmed.	Communic'ts.	Average Attendance.
WASHINGTON	8	20	25
TAYLORSVILLE	18	25	40
HAMBURGH	8	20	30
STANHOPE	3	11	60

VERNON	1	15	20
PHILLIPSBURGH (St. Luke's)	3	34	55
ST. PHILLIP'S, Newark	13	88	100
ST. JOHN'S, West Hoboken	15	80	80
POMPTON, (Christ Church)	..	40	40
Total	84	479	590

In the Diocese there are, communicants, 10,000; confirmed, 900; proportion of confirmed, 9 to every 100 communicants. In Missions, communicants, 479; confirmed, 84; proportion of confirmed, 17½ to every 100 communicants.

Let us test this work of the Missions by a comparison with ordinary Parish reports. An average attendance of 590 represents a Parish of at least 900 persons, or 479 communicants represent an ordinary Parish of about 1,000 persons. A Parish with 1,000 parishioners and 479 communicants would cost to carry it on, for salaries, $3,000, for current and incidental expenses at least $3,000; total, $6,000; a very low estimate. Our twelve Missions, with 479 communicants and an estimated average attendance of 590, cost the Diocese just $4,000, or $2,000 less than the average.

This is not guess work but can be proved by these figures, taken from the Parochial Reports of last year, of seven leading Parishes: No. 1.—Individuals, 500; communicants, 225; current expenses, including salary, but not including Sunday-school or improvements, $5,258.62. No. 2.—Individuals, 625; communicants, 393; expenses, including salary, but not Sunday-school or improvements, $6,764.97. No. 3. — Individuals, 2,000; communicants, 600; current expenses, including salary, but not Sunday-school or improvements, $7,204.50. No. 4.—Communitants, 581; current expenses, with salaries, but not Sunday-school or other parochial objects, $7,928.50. No. 5 —Individuals, about 800; communicants, 336; expenses, salary but not Sunday-school included, $5,976.27. No. 6.—Families, 100; communicants, 282; expenses, including salary but not Sunday-school, $4,153.89. No 7.—Individuals, 319; communicants, 156; expenses, including salary but not Sunday-school, choir or improvements, $4,061.44.

The average of these seven Parishes, among the largest in the Diocese is, individuals, 820; communicants, 353; expenses, for salaries and current expenses but not including Sunday-school or improvements, $5,907. Our twelve Missions, as shown above, if viewed as one Parish with 479 communicants and an average attendance of 590 persons are served for $4,000, or less $1,907 than the above average. It must be noted also that it is much more costly to minister to 479 communicants distributed among twelve Missionary Stations than to the same number collected in one Parish and under one Rector.

Thus much for the general missionary work, which is reported to us as being in a flourishing condition.

Before passing to other subjects we desire to place on record that the property of St. Luke's Church, Hope, consisting of about $2,000 in money, besides the stone church and a house, has, during the year, been secured to the Diocese, the property having been given over in trust to the Trustees of the Episcopal Fund.

Also the property at Phillipsburgh, hitherto held by the Andover Iron Co., consisting of a large stone Church, well furnished, on a large lot, with room for a Rectory, has been recently deeded to the Wardens and Vestrymen of St Luke's Church, Phillipsburgh.

There are two of the Missions to which the Board especially desires to call the attention of the Convention, viz.: The Church of the Ascension, Jersey City, and the Associate Mission, at Washington.

The CHURCH OF THE ASCENSION, JERSEY CITY, came under the care of the Board hampered with a mortgage of $6,000 at 7 per cent., which was assumed by the Convocation of Jersey City under its former Dean, the late Rev. Dr. Abercrombie. On this $1,000 has been paid and the interest reduced to 6 per cent., being $300 a year, which is paid by the Board, with $100 for the Missionary's salary. The erection of the elevated road has given an impulse to this part of Jersey City. New buildings are going up in the neighborhood of the Church. Twelve (12) were confirmed this year by the Bishop. About $500 has been raised towards another payment on the mortgage. The prospects of the Mission are more encouraging than ever, and though the payment of this interest is a heavy tax upon our treasury, your Board has been advised by Laymen of experience that it is wise to continue the appropriation.

The ASSOCIATE MISSION at WASHINGTON.—Your Board gives herewith a full statement of the expenses of the Associate Mission at Washington from its establishment to the present date, showing how much has been raised, in what way, and how expended.

But first a word of explanation. It will be noticed in the reports of the Treasurer for Missions there are two columns headed GENERAL PURPOSES, SPECIAL PURPOSES. Under the first are placed sums received and paid that are given for General Missionary purposes, and which are altogether at the disposal of the Board for appropriation. Under the second such contributions as the donors designate as given for special objects; and over which this Board has no control, the Treasurer paying such sums over to the Parishes or Missionaries designated. Thus it will be understood that in the following statement the Board are not responsible for the sums under the head of SPECIAL; they were special gifts to the Associate Mission, and the general treasury would not have received these sums had they not been so given.

This does not include the cost of the Church Building at Stanhope, which was $2,700, raised by special contributions, making the total for four years of specials $6,547.61 and raising the grand total to $12,348.27. Neither does this include many liberal gifts by individuals and churches, of furniture, etc., which did not pass through the hands of our treasurer, and therefore cannot be reported by us, but which together with the specials noted above show that the establishment of the Associate Mission caused a quickened interest throughout the Diocese in its Missionary work.

From this statement it will be seen that the amount expended altogether on the Associated Mission in four years has been a little more than $12,000, of which only $5,800, or less than one-half has been taken from the General Fund, which fund, notwithstanding the large amount of specials given to this particular Mission, has shown no falling off during this period. And in consequence of this expenditure by the Board of $5.800 for this mission out of the general offerings, a further sum of $6,-547 has been drawn from the hearts and purses of the people.

And now what have we to show for this expenditure?

1. We have a property at Washington as a Missionary Centre, which sold at one time for $9.000, containing one and a half acres, with 375 feet front on a main street, present estimated value $6,000, and increasing in value, with a substantial brick house in good repair, and a stable. The price of this property under a forced sale was $3,750. On this $1,000 was paid, leaving $2,750 on mortgage. We could sell four (4) lots of this for about $2,000, reducing the debt to $750, retaining the house and stable and leaving amply sufficient ground for a Church Building on the side nearest to the town. About $3,000 has been subscribed and partly paid for building a stone Church, so that if it be thought wise to dispose of these lots, in a short time we may expect to have a valuable stone Church, at a cost of $5,000, a brick Mission house in good repair, with a stable, and a debt of not more than $750, the whole worth at least $9,000, or without the Church, $4,000.

2. At Stanhope a lot was given and a very pretty frame Church has been built, paid for, consecrated and deeded to the Church, all furnished, costing $2,700, not one cent of which came out of the General Missionary fund, a clear gain of so much property.

Thus much for material results which may be estimated at present as worth about $7,950, leaving about $4,398, or $1,099 a year as the actual expenditure over what may be regarded as capital gained and invested.

Estimated value of property at Washington	$6,000 00
Deduct mortgage	2,750 00
Actual value to us	$3,250 00
Church at Stanhope, cost	2,700 00
Improvements, furniture, at Washington	2,900 00
	$7,950 00
Total expenditures as above	$12,348 00
Deduct estimated value of property	7,950 00
Amount expended over and above	$4,398 00

The Missionary authorities of the Diocese are convinced that these material results show they have been justified in introducing the associate idea into the mission work, being simply that of concentration.

Notwithstanding the unfitness for this kind of work of the two Priests who were at its head, the difficulty of finding one competent and willing to take the position, and the fact that consequently for the last year the Mission has labored under the disadvantage of being chiefly carried on by a Deacon and Lay Readers, with occasional visits from the Bishop and the Dean; notwithstanding this, two of the missions hitherto served from the Associate Mission, viz: Phillipsburgh and Stanhope, have so grown under its care, that they have applied to be set off as separate missions, offering to pay more than half of the salaries of their Missionaries, besides their own current expenses.

And for the same reason the Theological teaching and school, which were included in the original idea of the Associate Mission, have been necessarily for the present discontinued, and in the opinion of the Board, it will be better in the selection of a head of the Mission to consider entirely his qualifications as a Missionary. For even if it be thought wise to set off Stanhope and Phillipsburgh, there will be sufficient work at Washington, Oxford Furnace, Asbury, and other neighboring points to make necessary the continuance of the Associated Mission at Washington.

These figures show only a small part of the actual results. The Church of Christ works not for material, but for spiritual riches, and the money expended may have been well put out at usury for the Master's use, even though no church buildings, nor house and lots were on hand to exhibit. Yet these spiritual results are in their very nature not to be expressed by figures. The number of baptisms, confirmations and communicants can only partially show what has been done.

In 1884, the Associated Missions report, baptisms, (adults, 7, infants, 35) 42; confirmed, 12; communicants, 65; families, 62.

Comparing this statement of spiritual results, so far as figures can give it, with the same data in other parishes as known to their rectors, it will be confessed by them and by all who know the facts, that while the increase of confirmations and communicants may not have been so large in these missions as it appears in some Parochial Reports, yet when all the obstacles to be met are duly considered, it will be found that the real aggressive work and gain for the Church has been greater, inasmuch as the increase made under adverse circumstances has not been by removals from other parishes, but by conversions to the Church.

Statistics cannot show the entire influence for good of the Church in her missionary work. In the quiet, but strong testimony she bears by her observances of the Christian year to the entire circle of Christian doctrine and life, and in her faithful setting forth in her services of an Apostolic Ministry, and of the Sacraments as Christ hath ordained the same, she is doing a work whose effects cannot be estimated. Are we to give up this work and lose this influence already gained because it costs money? Surely not! Rather, remembering the injunction, "Be not weary in well-doing, for in due season we shall reap if we faint not," let us take courage to persevere, and aided by the experiences of the past, with new zeal for the missionary work which is His work, let us go forward with earnest prayer for, and a firm reliance on the promised help of the Head of the Church.

The Board calls special attention to the fact so often mentioned, that the Treasurer, in order to have his report audited and ready for the Convention, is obliged to close his accounts on the first of May each year. Payments made on account of Missions after this date are therefore not credited to that year, but to the succeeding one. If Rectors would only bear this in mind and send their collections for Missions before May 1, each year, it would save much confusion and enable the Treasurer to make each year's accounts more complete.

NOTE.—The hope expressed in the first page has been realized. Since the above report was written, based upon the report of the Treasurer, made out up to May 1, 1885, moneys have been received from pledges and collections sufficient to enable the Treasurer to pay all that was due the Missionaries for last year, and nearly all for the quarter ending May 15, 1885. These must be credited in next year's accounts. Another quarter's salary will be due in July.

On the twentieth of July, 1884, I began a work of a mission character in Weehawken, and regular services have been held weekly since that date on Sunday afternoon, and a Sunday-school has been in weekly session, preceding the Church service. Our average at the service is 50, and on several occasions there have been 150 present. The average Sunday-school attendance is 87 pupils out of a full number of 116, since Christmas. We have a Guild of more than forty members devoted to good works. All expenses have been fully met and we have a "surplus" of more than three hundred dollars in bank towards our Chapel Building Fund. This is "Trinity Chapel," under the Rector, Wardens and Vestrymen of Trinity Parish, and it has thus far been no expense to the Parish Church. In time and with discreet management, this Chapel may be an important centre of Church work in the Diocese.

The Parish was without a Rector during the entire civil year of 1884. This report is, therefore, incomplete and fragmentary, and, on many lines, covers only the work done since the present Rector entered on his duties, January, 1885. There are at present connected with the Parish, and giving outlet to its energies, a Workingmen's Club, a Workingwoman's Club, a Benevolent Society, a Mothers' Meeting, a Sewing School, a Girls' Sunday-school Guild, a Choral Union, a Choral Society, a Burial Society, a Woman's Missionary Association, a Brotherhood, and a Girls' Friendly Society. The Girls' Friendly Society has opened a Club House on one of our central streets for the pleasure and improvement of the working girls of the city. It is handsomely furnished and very popular. The Sunday-schools of the Parish located in Newark support three scholarships, established 1885—one in Dakota, another in China, a third in Africa.

The Parish, formed by partition from St. Mark's, was organized April 13, 1885. Meeting for incorporation April 27, 1885. Certificate filed April 28, 1885. The report, covering only a month, is necessarily meager and incomplete. The Church is free, and is supported by offerings on the altar. There is a Parish building, which is a good Rectory, but part of which is used as a Sunday-school. Children are refused admittance for want of accommodation. It is hoped that a new Sunday-school, as well as a new Church, will speedily be erected. The present Church was built almost entirely at the expense of persons now members of the Parish, but on land given for the purpose to Mark's, the corporation of which Parish has not as yet (May 15) transferred the property.

Among other good works begun this year has been a Young Men's Guild, which has proved successful and useful in Church work. The chorus choir has also given great satisfaction in the services. Among handsome memorial gifts have been a window to the memory of a beloved Sunday-school teacher; and also a costly and very beautiful reredos placed in the chancel, to the memory of two persons lost at sea.

The year has been a particularly trying one, owing to the depression in manufacturing interests, and so many of our people being out of work, and poorly paid when work could be had. For this reason nothing has been done for outside objects; but we live in hopes that the skies may brighten. None feel the burden more heavily than the Missionary himself, who has little else to cheer him than the consciousness of trying to do his duty.

The Rev. WYNANT VANDERPOOL, Missionary to the NEWARK CITY ALMS HOUSE, reports:

To the Right Reverend Thomas A. Starkey, D.D.:

RIGHT REVEREND AND DEAR SIR—Since the annual meeting in December, 1883, the work of the Alms House Missionary Society has been carried on with satisfactory results. In their last report the Executive Committee stated that since May, 1883, "besides the work at the Alms House, delicacies for the sick have been sent to St. Barnabas' Hospital and Faith Home."

During the year which closes with December 1, the work of the Society has been still further extended. Once every week during the year, fruits and delicacies, and sometimes flowers, have been sent to one of the following institutions: The Newark City Alms House, the City Hospital, St. Barnabas' Hospital, St. Michael's Hospital, Faith Home, and the Sisters of St. John the Baptist. It is proposed to continue this work during the coming year. The Committee wishes to thank all members of the Society and others who have aided in this work, and to assure them that in every instance the gifts have been greatly appreciated by those to whom they have been sent.

The Mission at the Alms House has been carried on successfully, as in the past. The Services of the Church have been held as usual, and have always been well attended by the inmates of the Alms House and the convalescents of the City Hospital. On Christmas an entertainment was provided for the two hundred inmates of the Alms House and Hospital, and a Christmas Tree for the children. The number of baptisms during the year has been ten, a larger number than during any previous year.

The financial condition of the Society is prosperous. The Treasurer reports that after paying all expenses she has, by the direction of the Executive Committee, deposited fifty dollars in the Howard Savings Institution, and still holds a balance with which to begin the year. It is the desire of the Committee to increase the fund on deposit, until it becomes sufficiently large to create an endowment, to insure the permanent continuance of this Mission to the unfortunate members of our community.

The Rev. GEO. H. WALSH reports:

PHILADELPHIA, May 12, 1885.

To the Right Reverend Thomas A. Starkey, D.D.:

MY DEAR BISHOP—I hereby respectfully report that during the past Conventional year, I have officiated on eighty-nine occasions, principally in the city of Philadelphia, as follows: read morning and evening prayer, or assisted at the same forty-nine times; preached thirty-two times; celebrated the Holy Communion five times; baptized two adults and one infant.

The Rev. D. C. WESTON, D.D., reports:

To the Right Reverend Thomas A. Starkey, D.D.:

MY DEAR BISHOP—Since the last Diocesan Convention I have assisted on twenty-seven occasions of public worship; preached eight sermons; assisted in administering the Holy Communion twelve times; and officiated at two marriages.

The Rev. A. L. WOOD, Chaplain of the HOSPITAL OF ST. BARNABAS, NEWARK, reports:

NEWARK, N. J., May 19, 1885.

In addition to my own fortnightly celebrations of the Holy Communion, the Rev. W. T. Webbe has celebrated twice a month; and thus the Sisters and inmates of the Hospital have enjoyed the privilege of a weekly Eucharist.

Appendix III.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON ALTERATION OF THE PRAYER BOOK.

The Committee appointed at the last Convention to report upon the proposed alterations of the Book of Common Prayer were only made aware by authority within the last few weeks of the particulars of those alterations. At the first opportunity thereafter, the Committee was called together. It is matter of regret that only its clerical members met. They at once abandoned the idea of a critical examination of the alterations incorporated in the Book Annexed in time for a report to this Convention. It was agreed to confine attention to the changes proposed in the daily service, as the most important and pressing.

For years past there has been a steady demand for shortened daily services. Failing to be met the demand was finally merged in a new subject, that of Liturgical Enrichment, and entrusted to a joint committee of the two houses of the Convention of 1880, which reported to the Convention of 1883 a series of thirty resolutions embodying changed and alternative services, new offices and additional prayers for which there had been comparatively little demand and which make the Book of Common Prayer largely a new and changed book. In some of these changes there is a lack of congruity, the new with the old, and a failure to preserve the unity of the Book, which will not, we think, commend the alterations as a whole to those who have become familiar with the Book by long and reverent use. The impression on their minds by a careful reading of the Book Annexed will be that the old is better and that the unity not to say uniformity of our worship will be disturbed.

These alterations were approved by the General Convention of 1883 and await similar action by that of 1886, as all that is required to make them part of the Book of Common Prayer. No action of the several Dioceses is required for this purpose, and no adverse vote of theirs can affect the result. Nothing we can do here has any legal force, and no force whatever, except a moral one, and that mainly upon the action of our own deputies.

In order not to fail of even this, we deem it important to have some report at this time upon the proposed changes as a means of drawing attention to the Book Annexed, at this Convention. In the meantime the Committee may be continued for a fuller report to be made at the next Convention of the Diocese.

First, then, the Committee are agreed upon a decided disapproval of the proviso appended to the first paragraph, "Concerning the service of the Church," in which the Morning Prayer, the Litany and the Holy Communion are declared to be separate and independent services, and may be used separately or together. The proviso is, "That no one of these services shall be habitually disused." This proviso appears to be restrictive of the liberty just accorded to the officiating minister. In reality, however, it opens the door to a deplorable liberty. In the absence of this proviso these three offices, though separate and independent, would be left under conditions which require or imply daily Morning and Evening Prayer, weekly communion, and the Litany three times a week. The responsibility for the omission of any of them on the required days is thus at present left with the officiating minister. Whereas, this proviso will allow any one of these services to be omitted on any given day or number of days, for even weeks together, only so that no one of them is "disused habitually." It would fully answer the requirement of this proviso were the Holy Communion to be celebrated quarterly, the Morning Prayer said monthly, and the Litany once in two months. No one of them in such a case could be said to be "habitually disused." We deprecate the laxity and uncertainty that are sure to attend the services of the Church under this proviso. We deem it of the gravest moment that every shadow of such a liberty as this be kept out of the Book of Common Prayer, and especially out of the directory that stands at the head of it, "Concerning the service of the Church."

In the new order for Morning and Evening Prayer there are changes which as a committee we approve and changes that we disapprove. The new opening sentences adapted to the several seasons, seem to us to be a legitimate enrichment of the Prayer Book; so we approve also of the restoration of the entire Psalms, of Venite and Benedictus, as in the English Book, though we differ upon the propriety of the option given to omit the restored portions. The majority of the Committee, however, favor these alterations as they stand in the Book Annexed. Upon the introduction of the De profundis as an alternative canticle to the Benedictus and Jubilate Deo in the Morning Prayer, the Commitee are also divided, the majority being in favor of it as a Lenten Canticle, while we would agree in approving its introduction into the evening service. The Benedictus Es, the short Canticle proposed as an alternative to the Te Deum, is approved by the majority of the Committee as being in the interest of shortened week-day services, though none of us would like to see it introduced into the Sunday or any festival service. It stands in the Book unfortunately we think, as an allowable alternative at all times. The Committee cannot approve the sweeping alternatives allowed here, and to the General

Confession and Absolution, nor in the case of the Beatitudes. This latter office is open to the more serious objection that it is out of harmony with the worship of the Prayer Book. It is a mere and a poor substitute for what is prescribed in the present Book for the Evening Prayer. We fail to see any gain in it to our ordinary worship. We approve of the restoration of the Magnificat and Nunc dimittis as in the English Book. We find proposed a large addition to the number of occasional prayers and thanksgivings in the daily service. We find also bracketed in the prayer for all conditions of men the words, "Especially those for whom our prayers are desired," and in the general thanksgiving the words, "Particularly to those who desire now to offer up their praises and thanksgivings for thy late mercies vouchsafed unto them." This provision in the Book Annexed for avoiding the necessity of constantly individualizing prayers and thanksgivings in a Book of Common Prayer is eminently proper and is approved by your Committee. It covers the ground of five of the present special prayers, and two of the special thanksgivings. If these are allowed to stand there is no good reason for keeping out the one new prayer and thanksgiving, for which there is as frequent occasion as for those we have.

Among the occasional prayers proposed, is one for "Missions," and another for the "Increase of the Ministry." They are fitting prayers for a missionary service, but as additions to the daily service of the Church, no pressing necessity for them is perceived, especially in view of the new petition and suffrage in the Litany, which we hope and believe will be finally approved, that it would please God to send forth laborers into his harvest, a petition that covers the ground of both these new occasional prayers with the advantage of the response, "We beseech Thee to hear us, Good Lord." The prayers for the Rogation days, introduced among the occasional prayers, stand on the same ground as those for the Ember days, and are recommended for approval.

The remaining additional prayers for occasions, and prayers permitted to be said at any service at the discretion of the minister, of which there are fifteen, have not been considered by your Committee. Being no necessary part of Morning or Evening Prayer they are left for future consideration.

Approving as we do of the shortening of the daily Morning and Evening Prayer for ordinary occasions, as proposed in the first rubric of the Book Annexed, we would have that rubric read as follows as allowing all that is demanded: "On days other than the Lord's day it shall suffice to begin with the the Lord's prayer and end with the third Collect."

We beg leave to close this report with the expression of our conviction that the changes proposed are too many and of too much consequence to be properly considered and voted into the Prayer Book by any one or two General Conventions. That body is too numerous and its sessions on that account are necessarily too short for the proper disposal of all or half the changes now all at once proposed to a Book which touches the life of the Church and the highest interests of every worshipper in it.

These revered pages, in their familiar and cherished words and thoughts and order, have been "the green pastures beside the quiet waters" that have fed the spiritual life of three generations of American Churchmen, the fathers and the children, and now the children's children. They are our heritage of one hundred years from a Church in which they were the growth of centuries.

The preface to her Book of Common Prayer was incorporated into that of our own as touching the question of liturgical changes. It declares that these changes should be made "upon weighty and important considerations and according to the exigencies of times and occasions." Such were those that followed the American Revolution. That great civil change, emphasizes the case now before us as one for going slowly and step by step. Whatever these cautious words of our Mother Church solemnly adopted for our own may be supposed to allow, they seem to your Committee strongly to forbid the trial, at any one time or on any one occasion, of such a wholesale experiment as the "Book Annexed."

Respectfully submitted,

Appendix IV.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON LAY HELP IN MISSION WORK.

The Committee to whom has been referred the resolution on Lay Help recognize the propriety and force of its essential propositions. First, that increased effort is needed for the evangelization of the unconverted population of our large towns, and for the establishment of the Church in places where at present it does not exist; and second, that this effort must in large measure be supplied by the lay members of the Church, in co-operation with, or under the direction and control of the clergy.

In the consideration of this subject the Committee have sought to obtain reliable information from those whose position and experience enabled them to form a correct judgment, and to impart sound advice. It has been shown that in many districts contiguous to our present parishes the population is rapidly growing, whilst the percentage of church members is remarkably small. A large number of these people are ignorant alike of Christian doctrine and of Church observance. They habitually neglect public worship. Many of them have become estranged from the Church through long neglect, and other unfavorable influences; and the sad spectacle is presented of multitudes who were born in the shadow of the Church, and who have lived within reach of the Church, gradually drifting from the teaching and influence of the Church, and settling down into the worst forms of skepticism and vice. Yet these wanderers from the fold are not wholly inaccessible to gospel influence; in many cases, indeed, they await an invitation from the Church; and if suitable effort be made as contemplated by the resolution, there is at least a probability that some of them may be rescued from their ignorance, their unbelief, their degradation; be elevated in the social scale, and be restored to the Shepherd and Bishop of their souls.

In the present state of our parishes it is impossible for the clergy to undertake this work alone and single-handed in addition to their present duties. Their hands are already full; their time and energy are completely absorbed; and they can add to the demands and duties which are so imperative and exacting only at the risk of impairing their physical health, or their ministerial efficiency. The clergy, however, are in a measure responsible for the instruction and salvation of all who reside within the bounds of their parochial cures; and if unable themselves to visit personally every district and house, and to come into direct contact with every individual, it is for them to devise means whereby they may secure the co-operation of all the members of their parishes, and through which the Church may exercise some remedial influence upon the outcast and perishing.

In meeting this emergency the most beneficial results would follow the employment of an order of deacons, sisters and deaconesses, whose prime duty it shall be to carry on systematic visitation among the poor and sick, to aid in the education of the young, and the relief of the distressed, and in such other subsidiary means as may tend to the spiritual life and social elevation of the people. The experience of the Church in England, and in our own country too, amply demonstrates the utility of these agencies; and your Committee feel assured that if there could be a more general employment of such lay helpers, who would consecrate themselves to the work, without assuming monastic or irrevocable vows, it would add immensely to the growth and influence of the Church.

But independently of this there are to be found in almost every parish, persons of ability, of education, of piety, of leisure, who might render useful mission service, and who, if rightly influenced by their rectors, would gladly come to the help of the Lord against the mighty. It is in the suitable employment of these agencies or talents that the wants of the community will be met, and that the Church will more readily fulfil its evangelistic mission. No rigidly inflexible and uniform method can be adopted, as applicable alike to city and country parishes. There is necessarily a difference in the circumstances and requirements of different parishes; and whilst for all the same gospel influences, and the same Church ordinances, are adapted, and, when rightly applied, will prove effectual, still there is room for the greatest diversity of method in their application; and it will be in a wise adaptation of means to the end sought that the Church will demonstrate its power, and will achieve its success. Every rector, therefore, must, as he has an undoubted right and liberty to do, map out his own sphere, choose his own agents, form his own plans; and in the suggestions herein offered there is a full appreciation of the prerogatives and difficulties of rectors, and of local peculiarities and claims.

In Sunday-schools, Improvement Associations, Parish Guilds, and other ordinary and special organizations and means which are now common in most parishes, there is afforded opportunity for varied and useful labor. But in addition to these the Committee are of opinion that it may be found advisable to divide our parishes into small geographical districts for the purposes of visitation, and that in each district direct mission services should be carried on. Each of these districts should be placed in charge of at least two persons, male or female, as circumstances may render expedient, who should be communicants, and who should give evidence of ability and willingness to visit, to instruct, to persuade. These lay-helpers or rector's assistants, should make a thorough visitation of their respective districts, thereby ascertaining the social condition and the spiritual necessities of each family. In making their visitations they should be supplied with the means of relief for cases of sickness and destitution, with suitable Church tracts for distribution, and with Bibles, Prayer Books and Hymnals for those who need or may desire them. A report of such visitations, with any special cases that may require his immediate attention, should be made to the Rector promptly, or at appointed times; and, if not by himself, yet under his guidance and control, meetings should be held for reading the Scriptures and other suitable literature, and for conducting simple and familiar services of prayer and praise, etc. Meetings of a more social character may also be held, analogous to mothers' meetings, industrial schools, evening classes, etc., and where it is practicable or found advisable, reading rooms and libraries should be established, with facilities for innocent amusement and recreation and for obtaining light beverages; popular and entertaining lectures should be delivered on scientific and other subjects, and meetings should be held for the reading of papers, for the delivery of addresses, and for the discussion of popular and suitable topics. There would thus be provided means for physical rest, for social enjoyment and for intellectual culture, under the immediate patronage and control of the Church and without the temptations to vice with which such provision is often accompanied in connection with beer saloons and sundry public institutions.

At stated times the Rector should receive reports from his co-workers or assistants, whilst all who are thus engaged should be united in a brotherhood or guild, of which the Rector shall be the head, and which shall hold regular meetings for the presentation of reports of work done, for friendly conversation, and for religious worship; and, once a year, and oftener if thought advisable, a public meeting shall be held in the Church, to which the inhabitants of each district shall be invited, and at which the exercises shall be varied and entertaining and instructive. The Church would thus evince a practical sympathy with the people; a kindly and social feeling would be engendered; prejudice would be removed and want be supplied; and alike in the homes, in the persons and in the characters of multitudes who are now virtually scattered as sheep without a shepherd, a reformation would be seen; and from among these wanderers and outcasts many additions would be made to the worshippers at Church and to the communion of the saints.

In the suggestion of such means there is nothing original or novel; the efficacy of these plans has been tested by the Church during many years in varying forms; and it is because they have proved their adaptation and efficiency that they may be and are so freely recommended. Nor is there implied in these recommendations any disposition to undervalue the divinely appointed ordinances of the Church, or to supersede the regular office and ministrations of the Priesthood. Nothing can take the place of these. They constitute the medium through which God reveals himself to man, or in the appropriate use of which divine grace and spiritual life are imparted. It would be fatal alike to the Church and the world were they once discarded; and the prime value of our suggestions is to give these due prominence and efficiency by rendering their influences accessible to a larger number of persons through the use of subordinate and collateral agencies of a churchly character, wisely directed and zealously employed. When this is done the ministry will prove itself mighty through God to the pulling down of strongholds; the reproach will be wiped away from the Church that it fails to grapple with the social evils of the land, or to provide for the spiritual necessities of the poor; and again, as after the Pentecost, it will be said that the Lord added daily to the communion of the Church such as shall be saved.

All of which is respectfully submitted,

T. S. CARTWRIGHT,
Chairman.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON THE CENTENARY.

The Committee respectfully report that a meeting was called immediately after the adjournment of the last Convention, at which the Rev. John F. Butterworth was chosen Secretary.

A joint meeting of the Bishops and members of the Committees of both Dioceses was held in Newark, last October. Then we learned this Diocese was expected to act co-equally with the Diocese of New Jersey, sharing with them both the honors and expenses of the Centennial. The Bishops were requested to take charge of the religious services. The members of your Committee invited the Rev. E. B. Boggs, D. D., the Rev. E. G. Richardson, and Messrs. Cortlandt Parker, James G. Osborne and Edwin A. Stevens, to act with them. The Rev. J. N. Stansbury was appointed Chairman of Committee of Arrangements, the Rev. H. S. Bishop was appointed Chairman of the Committee on Memorial, and the Rev. John F. Butterworth was chosen Chairman of the Sub-Committee on Finance, which latter Committee collected a commendable sum for the Expense Fund.

The celebration was held in Christ Church, New Brunswick, on Tuesday, May 5. The Bishop of New Jersey celebrated the Holy Communion at an early hour. The Bishop of Northern New Jersey celebrated the Holy Communion at the second service, at eleven o'clock, assisted by the Bishops of New Jersey and Pittsburg, the Rev. Dr. Charles C. Tiffany, Chaplain, representing the Assistant Bishop of New York, and the Chairmen of the Committees of Arrangements of the two Dioceses in New Jersey. The sermon was preached by the Rev. Dr. Jos. F. Garrison, Professor of Canon Law, Liturgics and Church Polity in the Divinity School of Philadelphia. The service (Tours in F), was rendered by seventy-five men and boys of the choir guild of the Diocese of New Jersey, the Rev. H. H. Oberly, Precentor. A large number of the clergy and laity joined in the services.

At two o'clock a luncheon was served in Recreation Hall. Three hundred and seventy guests were present. At three o'clock the doors were thrown open to the public. The Bishop of New Jersey expressed pleasure at the presence of a grandson of Bishop Croes, the first Bishop of New Jersey. He announced with regret the absence of Bishop Doane, and delivered a loving message from him, from a distant part of the Diocese of Albany.

Addresses were also made by Bishops Starkey and Whitehead, the Rev. Drs. Tiffany, Hills, Boggs, and Mr. James Parker. The Rev. Nathanie Pettit also read a poem composed by himself for the occasion.

Your Committee return thanks for generous response of the clergy and laity to the appeal of their Finance Committee, and in conclusion would acknowledge the fraternal kindness received from the members of the Committees of the Diocese of New Jersey.

J. NICHOLAS STANSBURY,
J. F. BUTTERWORTH.
H. S. BISHOP.

THE BENEDICTION OF THE HOSPITAL OF ST. BARNABAS, AND THE CELEBRATION OF THE ONE HUNDREDTH ANNIVERSARY OF THE ORGANIZATION OF THE CHURCH IN THE STATE OF NEW JERSEY.

THE ARRANGEMENTS.

At a meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Hospital of St. Barnabas, held March 21, 1885, the Chairman of the Building Committee recommended that a day be named for the Benediction of the new building, and suggested that Tuesday, May 19th, be appointed for that purpose, which was agreed to, and the President, with the Building Committee, were authorized to make all the arrangements.

It was also unanimously resolved that the members of the Conventions of the Dioceses of New Jersey and Northern New Jersey be invited to attend these services, and that it be determined to commemorate, at that time, the one Hundredth Anniversary of the Organization of the Church in the State of New Jersey.

The invitation to attend the services was given to the Convention of the Diocese of New Jersey, assembled in Christ Church, New Brunswick; and the following is the certified action of that body:

MY DEAR BISHOP STARKEY—Your honored and well-loved representative, the Rev. Dean Stansbury, addressed our Convention last evening, and conveyed to us the invitation of the Trustees of St. Barnabas' Hospital, to be present at the benediction of the house on Tuesday, May 19, and unite again with our brethren of the Northern Diocese, in celebrating the One Hundredth Anniversary of the Organization of the Church in the State of New Jersey. Whereupon it was, on motion of the Rev. Dr. Franklin, unanimously resolved that the invitation be accepted by the Convention, and that this action be entered on the minutes. It affords me much pleasure, Right Reverend Sir, to report to you this action of the Convention.

Very respectfully yours,

ELVIN K. SMITH, Secretary.

To the Right Reverend the Bishop of Northern New Jersey.

The Convention of the Diocese of Northern New Jersey met in Trinity Church. Newark, on Tuesday, May 19. The Bishop, as President of the Trustees of the Hospital of St. Barnabas, extended on their behalf an invitation to the members of the Convention to visit the new hospital building, assist in the dedication services, and in celebrating the Centenary of the Organization of the Church in the State of New Jersey, and to partake of a luncheon. Whereupon the Rev. H. S. Bishop moved that the invitation be accepted, and that when this Convention adjourns, it adjourn at 1 P. M. for the day.

Through the action of the Building Committee, the labors of the occasion were divided among the following named gentlemen, and in the manner specified:

GENERAL COMMITTEE—Rt. Rev. T. A. Starkey, Rev. H. S. Bishop, Rev. J. N. Stansbury

COMMITTEE ON PREPARATION AND ORDER—J. B. Ward, J. D. Toppin, J. I. Young.

COMMITTEE ON ENTERTAINMENT—E. H. Wright, E. Q. Keasbey, F. H. Teese.

COMMITTEE ON RECEPTION—H. G. Darcy, J. S. Richards, Wm. Speiden.

COMMITTEE TO INVITE MEDICAL FACULTY—Lott Southard, M.D.

THE BENEDICTION AND CELEBRATION.

At the hour appointed, the scene at the Hospital was full of life and interest. Throngs of ladies, men eminent in the Church and the State, strangers and residents of Newark pressed into our new building. We prefer to let one of the daily papers give the description, that it may be seen how our gathering appeared to a disinterested spectator. It says:

At two o'clock, the hour set for the opening of the services, the building was filled with ladies and gentlemen interested in the good work of the institution, among them being many of the most prominent of Newark's citizens.

Besides about fifty clergymen, among whom were the prominent representatives of the Diocese, were Rev. Dr. McAllister, of Elizabeth; Dean Rodman and Rev. Dr. Murphy, of Plainfield; Rev. Dr. E. K. Smith, of Lambertville; Rev. Wm. O. Embury, of Rumson; Rev. Drs. Taylor, Findley and Spellmeyer, of Newark. Among the prominent laymen were Governor Abbett, Charles Norris, of Boonton; Richard George, of Dover; J. S. Richards and Frank Kellogg, of East Orange; Hon. Henry Meigs, of Bergen; William L. Marsh, of Jersey City; Edward Todd, of Madison; James Parker, of Perth Amboy; John Carpender, of New Brunswick; W. C. Hicks of Summit; DeLancy Cleveland, of Short Hills; Mayor Haynes, A. Q. Keasbey, ex-Judge F. H. Teese, John I. Young, James M. Miller, E. Q. Keasbey, John Illingworth, William R. Williams, Henry Hayes, Dr. M. H. C. Vail, Charles Hayes, T. M. Ward, E. C. Drake, S. S. Tiffany, John D. Toppin, D. C. Whiting, E. S. Ray, Colonel E. A. Wright and D. Smith Wood, of Newark.

The Bishop and the Clergymen, after vesting in the room on the lower floor, headed by the choir of the House of Prayer, ascended to the children's ward, Bishop Starkey leading, followed immediately by a very large number of clergymen. Next came Governor Abbett with ex-Judge Teese, and they were followed by a long line of ladies and gentlemen. As the procession moved along the choir and the people assembled joined in singing:

> "We march, we march to victory,
> With the cross of the Lord before us."

The Bishop then proceeded with the Benediction Services, in which all joined heartily. He, with as many as could follow, entered into each of the several wards, and with versical, response, hymn and prayer invoked the blessing of Almighty God.

At the conclusion of the services, there was a brief intermission; then all who were present partook of a bountiful collation, which was served in the large room, which is to be used as the men's surgical and the men's medical ward.

After justice had been done to the good things, and when the many distinguished persons present had greeted one another, the Rev. H. S. Bishop, of East Orange, Chairman of the Building Committee, in transferring the Hospital to the Bishop, said:

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN, AND RIGHT REVEREND FATHER IN GOD, CHAIRMAN OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF ST. BARNABAS' HOSPITAL—According to the programme, which you all have read, this building, as the completed part of the projected Hospital, was to have been presented to the Bishop, as President of the Board, before the Service of Benediction, but it was thought best to defer this ceremony until after the luncheon. Thus much to account for the break in the order of this service. I have said projected Hospital. What you have seen to-day represents an expenditure of $40,000. When the building is completed it will have cost about $140,000. The Administration Building is not yet half finished. The plans make provision for a commodious Chapel, with its chancel reaching out easterly toward High street, that the passer-by may first see God's house of worship and sacrifice before he sees this house of God's healing mercy. South from the Administration Building, a two-story structure, to be known hereafter as the Women's Medical and Surgical Wards, will be erected, giving us the spacious ward above us for the permanent Men's Medical Ward. The plans also contemplate another two-story building south and west of the Administration Building, thirty-eight by forty-five feet, for the Children's Wards. This addition is greatly needed, that we may be able to remove the old hospital before winter is upon us, and give up to its original purposes (a Maternity Ward), the room now used for the dear suffering children. This ward can be erected for less than $4,000, of which sum $1,750 has been already pledged. Are there not fathers and mothers here to-day who could if they would give unto Christ by providing sympathy, love and healing for one of "these little ones," and at the same time keep their own dead children in the hallowed remembrance of those who shall be from generation to generation the beneficiaries of their loving gifts? Friends of St. Barnabas and of suffering, innocent, helpless children, let this ward be built immediately.

Further, it is our purpose to build a ward on Quitman street for incurables, adding to what has already been begun in this building by the George W. Hays legacy, left for the support of the aged, infirm and hopelessly diseased American mechanics. Time would fail me to speak of all the things we hope to do on this most ample and eligibly situated site. Besides cottages for the isolation of patients, we hope to see a Sister's House, with Training School for Nurses attached; a Maternity House and Orphanage, and on some favorable site, not far perhaps from the Bishop's house in Orange, we must soon have a Convalescent Home, for the reception of patients discharged from this or any other Christian hospital. God, the good God who has almost miraculously aided us thus far, will surely help us, even to the end.

When we began this building there was only $14,000 in the hands of the Treasurer. We have had no subscription papers in circulation at any time since we resolved to accept the plans of the architect. Not one person in the whole of this city of Newark, which is more or less interested in this hospital, has been called upon to pay one dollar towards its erection. I will tell you, briefly as may be, how this hospital was built.

Some of us, not unmindful perhaps of the story of Sister Theresa, resolved to attempt a faith work in the city of Newark. She, you will remember, determined to erect a hospital with a half crown given toward that purpose. When asked by her priest how she expected to accomplish her object, she, showing him the half crown received of a poor woman, replied, "With this and the help of God I will build a hospital." We were somewhat better off than Sister Theresa. We had as a result from various legacies $14,000 in the treasury, and when we shall have realized on the real estate and other property given us since we resolved to build, we shall have enough to pay for the erection of this building and a surplus of about $2,500 to the credit of the building fund. I may not speak of all these gifts, because it would be personal to some here, and some of them came from friends of the hospital now departed this life, leaving us their blessing as well as their benefactions. I may mention, however, the endowment of the Bertie Bed, and the Nelson Wright Memorial, which came to us when we needed them most. Then, through Sister Francis, we received the generous gift of $3,000 from the late Miss Carman, of Trinity Parish, who also by her will made the Trustees of this hospital her residuary legatees, by which the hospital ought to receive at least fourteen, but may not receive over ten, thousand dollars. Besides smaller benefactions, which I may not mention particularly, we have been the happy recipients of twenty-one city lots for the building fund, and twenty-one lots in the same block which are valued at not less than $17,000 to-day, and have a much larger prospective value. The proceeds of the last gift are to be invested for the beginning of a Sustentation Fund. We are indebted for these lots to one who is not of our communion, and whose name we would gladly give were we permitted to do so, that you might honor him in your hearts as we do. You will certainly agree with me that his love for and interest in the success of this Protestant hospital has taken most substantial and munificent form. And, Right Reverend Father, we have a sure promise of other gifts of similar character, by legacy of men whose wills have been already made. One instance I am permitted to relate:

The Rector of one of the Parishes in this city was called upon some time ago by two humble looking men. The younger of the two said that he had come along with his friend, who was deaf, so that he might speak for him. The old man, through his friend, said that he had made his will. He said further that he had appointed the Rector his executor. The Rector, after the departure of the two very humble looking persons, began to make inquiries, and he found that his visitor was a man of substantial means and that he was in a business which would yield him still more property in the future. The old man was asked why he wanted to contribute to St. Barnabas' Hospital, for that was his object in visiting the clergyman. The story he told was this: "I had a son once who was sick unto death, and I had no place in which I could care for him in comfort during his illness, and I took him to St. Barnabas, where the Sisters took care of him, smoothed the pillow on which he lay dying, and comforted him with words of cheer and divine expressions of the love of God. He died in St. Barnabas' Hospital and was buried from there, and I pledged then over his grave that I would leave everything I had in this world to St. Barnabas' Hospital. Nobody will destroy my will either, for I have taken it to the Surrogate, and there it is on record."

I wish to say that it is with peculiar emotion that I stand here to-day to present you with this building as Chairman of the Building Committee, because this is the first organized charity of the Church in point of age in New Jersey, and it is a grateful thing to us to point to such results on this the centenary occasion of the organization of the Church in New Jersey. This is not a movable hospital; it is built of enduring material, and I hope all here will go home and make their wills, remembering in them, as many others have done, this hospital, by whose legacies only have we finished so much of it as you have seen blessed to-day by this hallowed service.

To this the Bishop replied:

MR. CHAIRMAN OF THE BUILDING COMMITTEE—On behalf of the Trustees of the Hospital of St. Barnabas, and as Bishop of the Diocese, I receive this building at your hands, invoking on it and on those who work in it and for it, and on all who shall receive its benefits, the blessing of Almighty God.

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN—I have but a few words to say, for there are others also to address you, whom you will be glad to hear. As my reverend friend has told you, we are here to-day to observe the centennial of the reorganization of the Church in New Jersey, and by a happy concurrence you are asked at the same time to unite with us in the benediction of the wards of this building, devoted to the work of Christian charity. The coincidence is a happy one, because as the Church itself is Christ's missionary to the world, so the lesson is engraven as by a pen of iron on imperishable history, that all works of mercy done to men's bodies are missionary works, and must go along, with equal step, by the side of spiritual instruction in accomplishing the Church's mission in the world. Christ's own example is our best teacher, and whatever the evolutionists may say of the human hand being only a finer development of the fin that propels the fish, or the bird's wing that beats the air, we know with what exquisite delicacy the mechanic's hand can execute works of beauty and utility, only to be designed by the Master Mind which directs its skill. But Christ has taught us that these wonderful hands of ours have even a higher work than this to do, directed also by a Higher wisdom; and as He went forth on His mission to men's minds and hearts, healing with one hand the diseases of the body, and with the other guiding them to spiritual truth, He has taught us how to preach His gospel: by first using the skill which in these later times science has advanced to almost the verge of what would have seemed miracle in those old days, for the relief of every form of human suffering. One hundred years ago our fathers were in no condition to carry out this lesson. Seven clergymen were all that could be found within the limits of New Jersey, when to-day there are nearly two hundred clergy and eighteen thousand communicants. Let us learn from this that the day of small things is not to be despised.

I have letters of regret from the Bishops of Albany, New Jersey and Pittsburgh; also from the Assistant Bishop of New York, all of whom are prevented by engagements from being with us, but who send us their cordial greetings. We invited the Governor of New Jersey, and he is here with us. I do not know how much of a Churchman the Governor is, but I am sure he is interested in all that ministers to the happiness and welfare of the State.

Ladies and gentlemen, time, it is said, brings its revenges, and we have an instance in point now and here. Although the time has passed away, perhaps forever, when Bishops can be Princes, happily the day has come again in the revolving circuit when an Abbett can be a Governor. It gives me great pleasure to introduce to you the Chief Magistrate of our noble commonwealth.

Gov. Abbett upon rising was warmly received. He said:

It gives me great pleasure to be here to-day representing the State, and it would have given me more pleasure to listen further to the Bishop's eloquent and facetious remarks. There are many duties and there are many pleasures that a Governor of the State is called upon to mingle in, but of all there is nothing more pleasant for a Governor or for a citizen than to see the work of noble charity developing in a practical shape—not in mere empty words—but where as in this building, it takes the substantial form of an eternal monument to charity. To these men and these women whose contributions and whose work have given this hospital to this city and to charity, the thanks of all good men of the State are due. The fact that the hospital is under the charge of the grand old Church whose centenary is in this year makes it dearer to me because my affiliations are with that Church, and that appeal that has been made for monetary help, either from the estates of the dead or from the pockets of the living should be responded to; for if there is an eternal life, if the spirit that leaves the body can see the results of what it has done, I do not think that any scene in Paradise can be a sweeter sight than to see the charity dispensed in an hospital like this. Contributions that are given may not be heralded. There may not be any great honor or glory to a man that gives; he may not occupy the page of history, but there are written in the book of life lines that will be sweeter and better for him hereafter than all the lines he could read elsewhere. But there is no reason why men should hesitate to give till they are dead. It should be a sweeter sight to the living to see their charity rise before them, to see substantial benefits derived in the wards of the hospital, to see all the comforts that are given to the poor there, than for them to spend their money in any other way, and therefore I take it that the Board of Managers are just as much called upon to take subscriptions from the living as to wait until men are dead. The zealous work of women has laid the foundation of this institution, but men always have a way to push themselves to the front, and even poor women sometimes get left. I only have this to say in conclusion, that this noble work of charity is one that not only those that are connected with its management, and the citizens of Newark are proud of, but the whole State takes a pride in this structure or any other that charity may raise in our midst.

Bishop Starkey said:

Among the letters received accepting our invitations were several from brethren of different denominations. Among those ministers who wrote was one whose letter is so full of faith and tenderness that I should like to read it, but I am deterred from that by a sense of delicacy. I will, however, ask Dr. Taylor to address you. Dr. Taylor said:

It gives me great pleasure to be here to-day to rejoice with them who do rejoice, and who have learned to weep with those who weep. It is a strange thing that until recently a city like this never had a general hospital for the care of its wounded and its sick poor. It is to the credit of the church which you represent here to-day that it has erected this noble structure so well adapted to the requirements of all who suffer, irrespective of their creed or race. The only entrance condition that is required is that there shall be sorrow and suffering so that you can minister to their wants. But one thing has struck me particularly, and that is the preeminently Christian tone of this movement. Many ages ago, a young man of the Latin race, a soldier of fortune, went forth from his father's house to seek and gain for himself what he could of this world's goods. But soon the spirit of the good and gracious Lord struck down into his soul and changed the whole course of his desires and of his life, and sent him forth to be a soldier of the Cross. Riding one day on horseback on an Italian road he saw a leper and turned away from him in utter disgust. But presently the young man's heart smote him for his lack of sympathy, and returning, and dismounting, he filled the leper's palm with coins, and kissed his hand. The young man who did this was Francis of Assisi—a name illustrious in another calendar, but which we as Christians will always recognize. And ever after he believed that the leper was Christ himself.

BISHOP STARKEY—I have not the slightest doubt of it.

DR. TAYLOR—Will you allow one who represents one of the oldest churches in New Jersey, of which his own beloved father was the pastor for more than fifty years, to convey to you the congratulations of that ancient communion, and of all sister churches who rejoice in your good works. We greet you cheerily, we bid you God speed in the completion of this hospital, and may the grace of the Master who gave His life for us rest upon you all.

BISHOP STARKEY—Dr. Taylor has done a great deal for us; he has sent us away with our hearts full of charity. And now the Governor has not the whip hand of me. Do I not know what the women have done for this hospital? If it had not been for the women, the hospital would not be here to-day, and the women are not going to get off so easily, because I am going to call on Mr. Keasbey to speak for them.

Mr. Keasbey said:

The Bishop says he does not intend to let the women off so easily, and therefore he calls on me, without any warning, to speak for them. I do not understand his logic. It would seem that it is I, and not the women, whom he will not let off easily. But upon this most interesting occasion I cannot refuse to say a few words as to the part which the women have had in this noble work. The Bishop says that it is well known that much of the success in the establishment of this charity is due to the women. I can say with the utmost feeling that I know well how much is due to them. I remember the very beginning of this hospital. A women with some means but no friends was approaching her end, and needed loving care and ministration. A few ladies, seeing her need, volunteered to care for her in her own house until her death. In gratitude she left her little money and furniture for like purposes. This was the germ of the Hospital of St. Barnabas. This gift, prompted by the grateful recognition of their work of love, was like the fruitful half-crown alluded to by Mr. Bishop. This was the small seed of charity which has grown into the fair tree of benefaction beneath which so many have since found healing and rest. The women have always been foremost in the work. They knew that in this large city where so many are liable to accident, and are left helpless, there must be some place where not only the injuries and diseases of the body can be cared for, but where they may find the spiritual nurture and consolation which Christian charity can give. To the women animated by these feelings and organized in their guilds for this work, the result which we celebrate to-day is in a large measure due. And on their behalf I appeal to the men for the aid which it is in their power to give. And when I speak of the woman's share of this work, I speak most earnestly for the Sisters of Charity who are engaged day by day in the duties of personal care within these walls—whose tender hands relieve the pangs of suffering, and smoothe the pillow of the dying, whose gentle voices soothe the sick and encourage the hopeless, and who devote their whole lives to these loving ministrations with a sublimity of charity, which cannot fail to touch the heart and awaken the sympathy of every man who is permitted to observe its results as we have done to-day.

On behalf then of the women who are engaged in the work of sustaining the Hospital of St. Barnabas, I join the Governor, whom I thank for coming here to-day, in appealing to the men for continued aid in pressing it forward to a wider range of usefulness under its new conditions. And let it not be only by bequests to take effect when you have passed away and cannot see the fruits of your beneficence. Let your offerings be "a present help in trouble." Remember the saying, "What I spent, I wasted; what I saved, I lost; what I gave, I have;" and be sure that whatever any man gives to this charity, he will lay it up in heaven, and can never waste it or lose it.

Mayor Haynes, of Newark, said:

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN—Two years ago, it could be said of the city of Newark that it had no place of its own where a sick and suffering stranger could be cared for. In a mechanical city where so many accidents are likely to occur, for years we had no hospital. The city at the present time is in the position of having one hospital; it is located in Camden street, this city, and was formerly occupied as an Insane Asylum. This year the directors came before the Council with a request for $15,000 to meet the running expenses of that institution, and also for $20,000 for the purpose of keeping the building in repair. The city, as in previous years, has appropriated $2,500 to each of the three hospitals, St. Michaels, St. Barnabas and the German Hospital, for the rent of ten beds. There was also $1,500 appropriated for the Eye and Ear Hospital. From personal supervision of these hospitals I was convinced that it was money well expended by the city, and so long as I continue to hold office no act of mine shall ever tend to reduce the appropriations for hospitals.

Mr. Geo. Wurts, of Paterson was called upon to speak for the press. He said:

It is a distinguished compliment to be called upon to say something to an assembly like this. I think I may say that the fourth estate is a power sometimes for good and sometimes for evil, but I believe that in regard to such a work, as we have before us to-day, that there is no newspaper in the land that would not say to you, "Well done, thou good and faithful servant." Twenty years ago I was a resident of this city, and having been away for so long a time and now returned to it, I can appreciate better than you can the immense growth of this city in all that is good. I rejoice with the people in the accomplishment of this good work, and am sure that in its mission it will be ever sustained by the press.

Bishop Starkey then called on Dr. Ward for a speech. Dr. Ward said:

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN—This is certainly a very agreeable occasion to me, the oldest of the staff, I believe. When the Reformatory Institute was first spoken of it was said that if only one person were reformed people were justified in building that institution. I do not think that there was any exaggeration in that statement. Let me tell you two little incidents that occurred under my care. We had a poor man brought in here who was very much injured. It was in the very midst of the hot weather. The poor man could not talk English. We struggled on with him through the heat, and he suffered and was distressed very much, and we cured him. A short time after that I saw him, and he was working. That was one case. A little while after that a girl, who had to earn her bread, was brought to the hospital, and we were afraid that one of her arms should be amputated. but she recovered, and was working soon after she left St. Barnabas. These are examples of what is done by St. Barnabas Hospital. Gentlemen of the committee, we thank you for your new hospital. We do ask that you will assign to each of us the duties that you require us to perform, so that we may know exactly what we have to do and can do it well, and we promise you that we will do the best we can.

Bishop Starkey said: If I did not know that Dr. Ward was a very good doctor, I should say he ought to be a priest, for I have not heard such a good hospital speech for a long time. To-day we commemorate the centenary of the Church, and the other diocese has its representatives here and here is Dr. Langford, of Southern New Jersey.

Dr. Langford, in responding to the call, said:

MR. CHAIRMAN, LADIES AND GENTLEMEN—This is a very honorable position in which I am placed this afternoon. It is one that I should not have assumed, but it has been put upon me by the generosity of the Bishop and quite unexpectedly. Certain it is that I can express for my brethren of the other part of New Jersey their hearty congratulations upon the completion of this great and good work. We had little thought that you were prospering so over here. But there are lines drawn between us now, and we are not informed of the work which is being done in the other diocese. I feel myself in the position of the gentleman who called on President Lincoln during the late war. The visitor said that he was divinely commissioned by the Court of Heaven to bring a message to Lincoln. "Who are you?" said the President; "our relations with the representatives from the Court of Heaven are of such a meagre nature that it is necessary for you to produce your credentials." The President's visitor went away in half a minute. I have no credentials, and therefore I won't detain you.

Bishop Starkey then thanked Dr. Langford for his presence, and also every one present, after which the crowd, which consisted of about four hundred people, departed for their homes.

THE CORRESPONDENCE.

The committee beg leave to acknowledge the very many warm replies they received in response to their invitations. The following have been selected for publication, with sincere regrets that they have not space for many others:

Bishop's Doane's Telegram:

MORLEY, N. Y., May 19, 1885.

Bishop Starkey, Trinity Church, Newark:

Cordial greetings. May the sacred memories of the past make the future fruitful. W. C. DOANE.

From Bishop Scarborough:

TRENTON, N. J., May 9, 1885.

MY DEAR DEAN—I am sorry to find that the meeting of the Women's Auxiliary at Salem will keep me from the blessing of the hospital in Newark on the 19th. I regret this more than I can tell you, for I feel very deeply indebted to the Bishop of Northern New Jersey for the splendid address he gave at the Centenary, and I should like to tell his clergy on their own soil how this little episode has made us all long for a closer union and more frequent opportunities of meeting together. Please say to Bishop Starkey and the others present at your service of praise on the 19th that I very much regret my absence. I fixed the time of the Auxiliary myself, so that I feel bound by my own action. Wishing you a delightful time, your friend sincerely,

JOHN SCARBOROUGH.

From Rev. Dr. Hodges:

BALTIMORE, May 11, 1885.

MY DEAR STANSBURY—Few persons, I imagine, would find more interest and pleasure in attending the benediction of St. Barnabas' Hospital than I should, having been one of those concerned in starting that institution. Memory goes back instinctively to the throes attending its birth and the struggle of its early youth, and I should rejoice to be able to take part in the ceremonies connected with its attaining its majority. Though unable to be with you, I cannot refrain from sending you all a very hearty "God speed" in the good work. May the Divine benediction be indeed on the hospital, so that it may prove the channel of that same benediction to many a poor sufferer as he is found wounded and bruised by the wayside; and may the richest consolations be theirs who are carrying on the good work of St. Barnabas.

Commend me most warmly to such as may yet remember

Yours very sincerly,

J. S. B. HODGES.

From Rev. Dr. Eccleston:

BALTIMORE, May 11, 1885.

MY DEAR DEAN STANSBURY—It would be a very sincere pleasure to meet your good Bishop and my Newark friends at the opening of the new St. Barnabas and the One Hundredth Anniversary of the Diocese, or rather of the Church, in the State; but an engagement elsewhere will make it impossible for me to be there. Joining in your prayers for God's blessing,

I am, yours sincerely,

J. H. ECCLESTON.

No. 1028 BROAD STREET, NEWARK, 15 May, 1885.

MY DEAR DEAN STANSBURY—Please accept my best thanks for your kind remembrance as betokened by invitation for Tuesday next.

I very much regret that a previous engagement makes it impossible for me to avail myself of your kind consideration, hence send regretful declination at once, knowing that the committee must have enough to do without making preparations for absentees.

Hoping your hospital may prove a great success, and that your Church in the coming centenary may far surpass its good work done in the past,

I am, with great respect, yours truly,

D. R. FRAZER.

TITLE I., CANON 1, § II.

OF THE TESTIMONIAL OF LAY DEPUTIES.

Lay Deputies to the Convention shall present certificates of their election in the following form:

[Name of the Church, the place and date.]

This certifies that at a meeting of the congregation of this Church, for the purpose of electing Church Officers and Deputies to the Convention (or for the purpose of electing Deputies to the Convention, if the meeting be for that purpose alone), A. B., C. D. and E. F., being members of the congregation and communicants of the Church, were duly chosen to represent the congregation in that body for the year ensuing. In testimony of which, I have hereunto set my hand (or, if two Wardens subscribe, we have set our hands), the day and year above written.

N. B.—The signature of either the Rector or the Secretary of the Vestry is sufficient; if neither the Rector nor the Secretary signs, then the signatures of both Wardens are necessary. A Clergyman who is simply Minister-in-charge or Missionary cannot sign.

The Lay Representation is limited to three Deputies, whose names in full should be carefully and legibly written.

This certificate is to "be transmitted to the Secretary of the Convention AT LEAST TEN DAYS BEFORE THE MEETING OF THE ANNUAL CONVENTION." (See Title I., Canon 1, § II.

In order to secure this, the Secretary will forward a blank form to every Parish, and earnestly asks the PROMPT attention of the Clergy.

 By the terms of the Constitution and Canons, the Deputies must be members of the congregation and communicants of the Church; also contributors to its support, and worshipers in the Church of the Parish which elects them for six calendar months next before the election; and in Free Churches must also have handed in their names as such to the Rector or Minister, in writing, six months before the election. (See Title I., Canon 6, § II, [2].)

The income from which amount, besides such assessments as may be collected from Parishes not having given bonds, comprises the annual receipts of the Trustees.

The Trustees have recently received from M. L. Ward, executor of Miss Sarah M. Carman, an old and highly esteemed communicant of Trinity Church, Newark, a legacy of Two Thousand Dollars to be held "in trust for Missions in the Diocese of Northern New Jersey, to be expended under the direction of the Bishop and Standing Committee of said Diocese."

The Trustees urge upon the Parishes above named, who are in arrears and who do not pay their interest regularly, that they shall make some arrangement as to their arrears, and also for the payment semi-annually hereafter, if not of the whole, at least of such part of their interest as they may be able to pay.

The Trustees hold the Missionary Fund of $2,000, known as the Hanford-Smith legacy.

The Trustees have the sad duty of announcing a vacancy in their number, caused by the death of the late WILLIAM VANDERPOOL, one of the original and most useful members of the Board. According to law, the Trustees have filled said vacancy by the election of Mr. Edwin A. Stevens, of Hoboken, to serve until the next regular meeting of the Convention. It will be the duty of this Convention, therefore, to fill said vacancy permanently.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

FREDERIC E. MORTIMER,
T. S. CARTWRIGHT.

EAST ORANGE, N. J., May 18, 1886.

On motion of the Rev. Frederic E. Mortimer, CHRIST CHURCH, SHORT HILLS, was admitted into union with this Convention.

The Rev. T. I. Holcombe presented and read the report of the Special Committee appointed at the last Convention on "Clergy Relief."

REPORT OF SPECIAL COMMITTEE ON CLERGY RELIEF.

The Committee appointed to consider the subject of Clergy Relief in this Diocese, have concluded to present to the Convention an amended Canon as a substitute for Canon 1., of Title III., of the Code of Canons.

They desire, also, to submit some of the reasons which they feel should influence the Clergy and Laity to act with decision and energy in placing this matter upon the foundation which its importance demands.

The Canon herewith submitted, while it does not materially change the present status of the "Fund for Aged and Infirm Clergymen," proposes to secure, in addition, annuities to those of the Clergy who may be entitled to them, under the conditions imposed. It is not intended, however, that this arrangement shall go into effect at once; but it is believed that when the capital fund shall have reached the minimum sum of $30,000 it will be safe for the Diocese to guarantee an annuity to every clergyman who has attained the age of sixty-five years, and is otherwise eligible.

The justice of making such provision for the Clergy must be apparent to every impartial mind. On general principles of self-interest, to say nothing of moral obligation, it is safe to affirm that no society, civil or religious, can demand or accept from its officers a life surrender, unless it is able and willing to guarantee them a life support. The Church summons men to such services in her armies, and, neglecting their support in old age, she overlooks this vital principle, and exposes herself to the reproach of the world, which is in its generation "wiser than the children of light." And, further, this obligation for the support of the ministry does not involve the question of ability, inasmuch as this principle is inherent in the very Church idea. For without a ministry there is no Church, and without support there is no ministry. "They who wait at the altar are partakers with the altar."

Your Committee are persuaded that it is entirely practicable to secure the sum desired within the next five years. It is confidently believed that a new impulse will be imparted to the whole subject of "Clergy Relief" in this Diocese by the recent incorporation of a Board of Trustees for the "Fund for Aged and Infirm Clergymen," and by the passage of a Canon which shall assure annuities to clergymen who have faithfully served in the sacred ministry.

If this substitute for the existing Canon shall be adopted by the Convention, it is suggested that a Special Committee be appointed, whose duty it shall be to solicit and secure contributions to the fund until the desired sum of $30,000 is realized.

Trusting that this report may commend itself to the judgment of the members of the Convention and may receive their favorable consideration, your Committee propose the following Canon as a substitute for Canon 1., of Title III., of the Code of Canons.

OF THE FUND FOR AGED AND INFIRM CLERGYMEN.

§ I. It shall be the duty of every Minister having charge of a congregation in this Diocese, to make at least one annual collection for the relief of clergymen disabled by age or disease.

§ II. All contributions and donations for this object shall be transmitted to the Treasurer of the Fund, and shall be applied as hereinafter provided.

§ III. All collections and donations received during the Conventional year, shall be subject to the order of "The Trustees of the Fund for Aged and Infirm Clergymen," and may be appropriated by said Trustees for the relief of clergymen disabled by age, accident or disease, who, if Rectors of Parishes, have, after the enactment of this Canon, made an annual collection for this Fund, and have been canonically connected with the Diocese for the two years immediately preceding their application for relief, and have spent at least two successive years within the limits of the Diocese in the active discharge of the duties of the Ministry, or in the work of Christian Education. Clergymen to whom appropriations are made under this Section shall be known as "Special Annuitants," and shall not receive more than three hundred dollars in any one year.

§ IV. The Trustees shall have power to appropriate from the collections and donations received during the year, a sum not exceeding seventy-five dollars towards defraying the funeral expenses of any clergyman of the Church.

§ V. All appropriations (unless otherwise ordered), shall be payable semi-annually, on the first days of May and November; and all moneys unappropriated at the end of each Conventional year shall be added to the principal of the Fund, which shall be known as the "Permanent Fund," and shall be kept safely invested.

§ VI. All legacies paid to the Trustees shall be used and applied by them agreeably to the terms and provisions of the will under which the money is received; and when not otherwise directed by the donor, the legacy shall be added to the "Permanent Fund," and the income thereof alone used.

As soon as the "Permanent Fund" shall reach the sum of thirty thousand dollars, the Trustees shall grant an annuity to every clergyman who (1) has reached the age of sixty-five years, and (2) has been canonically connected with the Diocese for the five years immediately preceding his application for an annuity, and (3) has been for at least five years of his last term of canonical residence a settled Minister of the Diocese, or a Missionary duly appointed by the Ecclesiastical Authority, and (4) has, while thus in charge of a Parish or Mission, made an annual collection for the Fund.

The interest received from the "Permanent Fund" shall be divided equally among the clergymen entitled to receive an annuity under the terms and provisions of the previous paragraph of this Section, and if this interest shall not be sufficient to give to each clergyman the sum of three hundred dollars, then the balance of collections and donations remaining after the "Special Annuitants" are provided for, shall be used to increase the annuity to said sum.

Clergymen receiving an annuity under this Section, which shall in no case exceed one thousand dollars, shall be known as "Regular Annuitants."

All which is respectfully submitted.

HENRY G. DARCY,
D. SMITH WOOD,
Committee.

NEWARK, May 15, A. D. 1886.

The Committee on Finance reported by its Chairman, Mr. E. S. Munroe:

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON FINANCE.

That they recommend that an assessment be made the current year of seven (7) per cent. on salaries, for paying the Bishop's salary, upon all Parishes which have not given their bonds to the Trustees of the Episcopal Fund; and one and one-half (1½) per cent. on the present salaries of the Clergy for Convention expenses, and for other liabilities.

On behalf of said Committee,

E. S. MUNROE,
HENRY HAYES.

On motion it was

Resolved, That the above recommendation of the Committee on Finance be adopted.

The Rev. H. Goodwin offered the following:

Resolved, That so much of the Bishop's address as relates to the deposition during the last year of Priests and Deacons from the Sacred Ministry of the Church in these United States, be referred to a Special Committee, appointed by the Bishop, to investigate, and to report at the next Diocesan Convention how such depositions compare in per centage with depositions in former years; and whether there be any faulty methods as to the Church's several preliminary steps or conditions of admission to Holy Orders, and if such faulty measures exist, what they are.

It was so ordered, and the Bishop appointed, as such Special Committee, the Rev. H. Goodwin, Rev. C. S. Abbott and Mr. James G. Osborne.

On motion of the Rev. Wm. G. Farrington, D. D., so much of the Bishop's address as referred to Canon 8 of Title I., on Parish Boundaries, was referred to the Committee on the Constitution and Canons.

The Rev. E. L. Stoddard offered an amendment to Article 4 of the Constitution, by which the right of full membership would be given to any Presbyter canonically resident in the Diocese without charge and temporarily waiting employment.

And, on motion of the same, this was referred to the Committee on the Constitution and Canons.

The Committee on a Church Charity Foundation presented the following report:

REPORT.

The Committee on a Church Charity Foundation respectfully report that they find that the charter of incorporation of the Hospital of St. Barnabas, Newark, is, in fact, a Church Charity Foundation; that it is doubtful if a similar act of incorporation could now be obtained; and, further, they are not informed that, with a single exception, any institution in the Diocese desires the benefit of such an arrangement at this time. If any do, it is perfectly possible to consider their connection with that corporation.

The Rev. A. Schuyler, D. D., read the report of the Committee on Alterations of the Prayer-book. (See page 46.)

On motion of the Rev. Mr. Goodwin, it was ordered that the above report be printed for the use of the members of the Convention, and that it be made the special order of the day for to-morrow immediately after the election of the Missionary Committee.

Mr. Charles A. Lighthipe offered the following:

Resolved, That the expenses and board of the Clerical Deputies to the General Convention be paid by the Treasurer of the Diocese.

After various amendments had been made and withdrawn, Mr. N. Niles moved that the above be laid on the table; which was negatived.

Rev. Wm. A. Holbrook moved as a substitute for the resolution of Mr. Lighthipe, that the whole matter of the payment of the expenses of the Bishop and the Deputies to the General Convention be referred to a special committee to report to this Convention after the election of the Deputies.

And the question being put on this substitute it was adopted.

A motion to reconsider was made by the Rev. C. W. Ward, and carried.

The substitute offered by the Rev. Mr. Holbrook was again voted upon, and lost.

The original resolution of Mr. Lighthipe being before the house, the Rev. G. F. Flichtner moved to amend by striking out the word "Clerical" and inserting in its place "Bishop and," which was adopted.

Mr. Edward Todd moved to lay the whole subject on the table, which was not carried.

The amendment of Rev. Mr. Flichtner was then agreed to.

And the resolution as thus amended was adopted, as follows.

Resolved, That the expenses and board of the Bishop and of the Deputies to the General Convention be paid by the Treasurer of the Diocese.

On motion of the Rev. F. B. Carter, it was ordered that the amount to be paid to the Bishop and Deputies under the above resolution shall be limited to $75 each.

On motion, the Convention adjourned until 9 A. M., to-morrow.

CHRIST CHURCH, EAST ORANGE,
9 A. M., May 19, 1886.

Morning Prayer was said by the Rev. F. E. Mortimer.

The Bishop took the Chair and called the Convention to order.

The Minutes of yesterday's session were read and approved.

The Secretary then called the names of those of the Clergy and Laity who did not respond at the roll call yesterday.

The Bishop then read the concluding portion of his Seventh Annual Address, relating especially to Missions. (See Episcopal Address.)

The Order for the day being "Missionary Business," the Rev. Dr. Boggs, Secretary of the Board of Missions, read the annual report of the Board. (See Appendix I.)

Mr. Henry Hayes read his report as Treasurer of the Board of Missions, as follows:

EDWARD TODD,

NEWARK, N. J., May 15, 1886. Committee.

The next business being the election of a Missionary Committee, the Chair appointed as Tellers the Rev. F. J. Clayton and Mr. H. Whittingham.

The Rev. H. S. Bishop declined a re-election.

The ballots were cast and the Tellers retired.

The Rev. William T. Webbe claimed a right to vote, and on motion, the case was referred to the Committee on the Rights of Clerical Members.

By request of the Bishop the Rev. J. F. Butterworth, Diocesan Secretary for the General Board of Missions, then addressed the Convention on the General Missions of the Church.

The Committee on the Rights of Clerical Members reported by their Chairman as follows:

REPORT.

The Committee on Clerical Rights respectfully report that having fully considered the case of the Rev. W. T. Webbe, they are of the opinion that he is not entitled to a vote in the Convention, except under the clause of Article 4, of the Constitution, which provides that a Presbyter shall not forfeit his vote in the Convention when by reason of age or infirmity he is disabled from the active duties of the ministry after having been for five years connected with the Diocese. The Committee find that Mr. Webbe is frequently engaged in clerical duty, but is unable, by reason of age and infirmity, to take full charge of a Parish or Mission, and the Committee, therefore, recommend that, under the clause mentioned, he be recognized as a member of this Convention with the full right of voting.

All which is respectfully submitted,

T. S. CARTWRIGHT,
Chairman.

On motion of the same, the recommendation of the Committee was adopted, and Mr. Webbe declared entitled to a vote.

The Tellers of the votes for a Missionary Committee reported that the following having received a majority of the votes cast were duly elected, viz.: Rev. A. Schuyler, D. D., Rev. E. B. Boggs, D. D., Rev. William R. Jenvey, Messrs. E. A. Stevens, Frank Kellogg and P. Edwards Johnson.

So the following constitute the BOARD OF MISSIONS.

The Rt. Rev. T. A. STARKEY, D. D., ex officio.
The Rev. J. N. STANSBURY, B. D., ex officio.
The Rev. W. W. HOLLEY, D. D., ex officio.
Mr. HENRY HAYES, Treasurer, ex officio.

The Rev. E. B. BOGGS, D. D.,	Mr. E. A. STEVENS.
" A. SCHUYLER, D. D.,	" FRANK KELLOGG,
" W. R. JENVEY,	" P. E. JOHNSON.

The Convention then proceeded to the order for the day, being the report of the Committee on Alteration of the Prayer Book, as follows:

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON ALTERATION OF PRAYER BOOK.

The Committee, continued from the last Convention, on alterations in the Book of Common Prayer, deem it unnecessary to report in further detail on the proposed amendments to the "Book Annexed." In their last report they expressed their conviction that, "The changes proposed were too many and too great to be voted into the Prayer Book at any one or two General Conventions of the Church," and they have the satisfaction to believe that this feeling is now largely shared by the whole Church. There is evidently a general drawing back from the position of the last General Convention in respect of the mass of the proposed amendments to the Book of Common Prayer.

And yet the desire still exists for some changes and against a further postponement of them. The demand for shortened services still exists, and there prevails a laxness and irregularity in the services of the Church which can now only be helped by yielding to that demand. The morale of the Clergy requires it no less than the well-being of the whole body as a Church of law and order.

We, therefore, favor the following changes proposed in the "Book Annexed," and urge their adoption by the next General Convention, to wit:

1. That the Minister may omit in the Morning and Evening Prayer, any or all of what precedes the Lord's Prayer and all that follows the Third Collect, except on Sunday mornings when there is no Communion.

2. That Venite (Ps. 95) and Benedictus, may be said or sung entire.

3. Magnificat and Nunc Dimittis may be used as alternates for the Canticles at Evening Prayer.

4. The Communion Service may begin (except on Sundays when there is one celebration only) with the Collect for the Day.

5. The longer Exhortation at the Communion may be omitted, except once a month.

6. The Litany may be omitted on Christmas Day, Easter Day and Whit-Sunday.

These changes will not prevent the use of the present edition of the Prayer Book, and can be inserted on a fly leaf in the existing copies.

The Committee recommend the adoption of the resolution appended to this report, which is respectfully submitted.

A. SCHUYLER,
G. M. CHRISTIAN,
E. B. RUSSELL,

ROBT. MORRELL.

ORANGE, May 17th, 1886.

Resolved, That the report and recommendations of the Committee on Alterations in the Prayer Book be approved by this Convention, and that a certified copy of the same be furnished to the Secretary of the House of Deputies of the General Convention, and to each clerical and lay deputy of the Diocese.

On motion of the Rev. G. M. Christian, the changes recommended by the Committee were taken up separately.

The Rev. Mr. Christian moved that the first proposition be approved.

On motion of Rev. H. S. Bishop it was ordered that speeches on this report be limited to three minutes.

The First recommendation of the Committee was then considered and approved.

The Second recommendation was then considered and approved.

The Third recommendation was considered and approved.

The Fourth recommendation was considered and approved.

The Fifth recommendation was then considered and approved.

The Sixth recommendation was then considered and approved.

The report and recommendations of the Committee were then adopted as a whole.

On motion of the Rev. Dr. Schuyler, the resolution appended to the report was then passed. (See p. 47.)

The Convention then proceeded with the regular order of business, being the election of a Standing Committee.

The Chair appointed as Tellers for the Clerical vote the Rev. J. H. Smith and Mr. J. D. Toppin, and for the Lay vote Rev. F. Greaves and Mr. John B. Van Wagenen.

The ballots were cast and the Tellers retired to count the votes.

The Secretary of the Committee on the Constitution and Canons, the Rev. Dr. Schuyler read the following:

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON THE CONSTITUTION AND CANONS.

1. On the proposed amendment to the Constitution as to the qualifications of Clergy entitled to vote in Convention, offered by the Rev. E. L. Stoddard:

The proposition is to extend that right to a Presbyter canonically resident without charge, and "temporarily" waiting employment. The Committee deem the proposed change unwise, if not impracticable, on account of the indefiniteness of the meaning of the word temporarily, or of any word that would cover the case.

2. As respects that part of the Bishop's address referred to your Committee, on "Parish Boundaries," and the meaning of the word "Parish" as used in the Canon, your Committee need more time than the Convention in session to examine the question raised, and ask that the same may go over to the next Convention.

3. We recommend the proposed Canon on Clergy Relief as amended in this Committee, in place of Canon 1, Title III., of the Code of Canons.

4. The proposed amendment of Cannon 5, Title I., submitted to the Committee on the Constitution and Canons of 1881 to report thereon, was reported on accordingly in 1882 (see Journal of 1882, p. 49); and the following resolution reported by the Committee was passed:

Resolved, That the proposed amendments of Canon 5, Title I, be referred to the next Convention.

Your Committee are of the opinion that this action of the Convention ended their responsibility in the matter.

The Tellers of the Clerical vote for a Standing Committee reported that the following having received a majority of the votes cast had been elected, viz.: The Rev. Fernando C. Putnam, D. D., the Rev. Wm. G. Farrington, D. D., the Rev. W. W. Holley, D. D., and the Rev. E. B. Russell.

On motion, the order of the Laity confirmed the above election by the Clergy.

The Tellers of the Lay vote for the Standing Committee reported the following as elected: Messrs. Edward A. Walton, Henry Hayes, James G. Osborne and F. W. Stevens.

On motion, the Clergy approved of the election by the Laity.

So the following constitute

THE STANDING COMMITTEE.

The Rev. FERNANDO C. PUTNAM, D. D.,	Mr. EDWARD A. WALTON,
" W. W. HOLLEY, D. D.,	" HENRY HAYES,
" WM. G. FARRINGTON, D. D.,	" JAMES G. OSBORNE,
" EDWIN B. RUSSELL,	" FREDERICK W. STEVENS.

The report of the Committee on the Constitution and Canons, recommending certain changes in Canon 1., Title III., was then taken up for consideration and its adoption moved by the Rev. Dr. Farrington.

The Rev. John P. Appleton moved to amend by striking out these words in Section III., "if Rectors of Parishes have after the enactment of this Canon, made an annual collection for the Fund;" and also, in clause four of Section VI., the words "and has, while thus in charge of a Parish or Mission, made an annual collection for the Fund."

Which amendments were carried.

The Canon, as so amended, was then adopted as a substitute for Canon 1., Title III., of the Code, as follows:

OF THE FUND FOR AGED AND INFIRM CLERGYMEN.

§ I. It shall be the duty of every Minister having charge of a congregation in this Diocese, to make at least one annual collection for the relief of clergymen disabled by age or disease.

§ II. All contributions and donations for this object shall be transmitted to the Treasurer of the Trustees of the Fund for Aged and Infirm Clergymen.

§ III. All collections, and all donations not limited by the donor, received during the Conventional year, shall be subject to the order of "The Trustees of the Fund for Aged and Infirm Clergymen," and may be appropriated by said Trustees for the relief of clergymen disabled by age, accident or disease, who have been canonically connected with the Diocese for the two years immediately preceding their application for relief, and have spent at least two successive years within the limits of the Diocese in the active discharge of the duties of the Ministry, or in the work of Christian Education. Clergymen to whom appropriations are made under this Section shall be known as "Special Annuitants," and shall not receive more than three hundred dollars in any one year.

§ IV. The Trustees shall have power to appropriate from the collections received during the year, a sum not exceeding seventy-five dollars towards defraying the funeral expenses of any clergyman of the Church.

§ V. All appropriations (unless otherwise ordered) shall be payable semi-annually, on the first days of May and November; and all moneys unappropriated at the end of each Conventional year shall be paid into a Fund, which shall be known as the "Permanent Fund," and shall be kept safely invested. The interest accruing on the existing capital fund now in the hands of the Treasurer of the Convention shall be permitted to accumulate. All accumulations shall be safely invested by the Trustees of the Fund for Aged and Infirm Clergymen, and added to the permanent fund until the same shall, with the existing capital fund, reach the sum of thirty thousand dollars.

§ VI. All legacies, and all donations limited by the donor, paid to the Trustees shall be used and applied by them agreeably to the terms and provisions under which the money is received; and when not otherwise directed by the donor, the legacy or donation shall be added to the "Permanent Fund," and the income thereof alone used.

As soon as said Funds shall together reach the sum of thirty thousand dollars, the Trustees shall grant an annuity to every clergyman who (1) has reached the age of sixty-five years, and (2) has been canonically connected with the Diocese for the five years immediately preceding his application for an annuity, and (3) has been for at least five years of his last term of canonical residence a settled Minister of the Diocese, or a Missionary duly appointed by the Ecclesiastical Authority.

The interest received from said Funds shall be divided equally among the clergymen entitled to receive an annuity under the terms and provisions of the previous paragraph of this Section, and if this interest shall not be sufficient to give to each clergyman the sum of three hundred dollars, then the balance of collections and donations remaining after the "Special Annuitants" are provided for, shall be used to increase the annuity to said sum.

Clergymen receiving an annuity under this Section, which shall in no case exceed one thousand dollars, shall be known as "Regular Annuitants."

The Rev. A. Schuyler, D. D., offered the following:

Resolved, That this Convention strongly commends the work already inaugurated for the increase of the General Missionary Funds of the Church to a million dollars, by the enrollment of five dollar subscribers thereto, and that the Bishop be requested to appoint a Treasurer of the Fund for this Diocese.

Which resolution was adopted.

The next business in order being the election of Deputies to the General Convention, the Chair appointed as Tellers for the Clerical vote the Rev. N. Barrows and Mr. P. E. Johnson, and for the Lay vote the Rev. John P. Appleton and Mr. John Stevens.

The ballots were cast and the Tellers retired to count the votes.

On motion the report of the Committee on the Constitution and Canons was next taken up, and the first, second, and fourth of the recommendations of the Committee were agreed to; the Canon proposed by the third recommendation having already been adopted (see pp. 49 and 50).

The Rev. T. I. Holcombe offered the following:

Resolved, That a special Committee of three Clergymen and two Laymen be appointed to solicit subscriptions for the "Aged and Infirm Clergy Fund," as suggested in the report of the Committee on Clergy Relief.

The Rev. Dr. Spalding moved as a substitute that a special agent be appointed to solicit funds for Diocesan Church work; which was lost.

The original resolution of the Rev. Mr. Holcombe was then passed.

The Chair appointed as such Committee, the Rev. T. I. Holcombe, the Rev. E. L. Stoddard, the Rev. Wm. J. Roberts, Mr. John S. Richards and Mr. H. D. King.

The Tellers of the Lay vote for Deputies to the General Convention reported that Messrs. Cortlandt Parker, Alfred Mills, Henry Hayes, and D. Smith Wood having received a majority of the votes cast were duly elected by the Laity.

On motion of the Rev. Dr. Boggs the order of the Clergy approved of this election by the Laity.

The Clergy then proceeded to vote for two Clerical Deputies to the General Convention.

The ballots were cast and the Tellers retired.

Mr. Edward Todd offered the following:

Resolved, That the thanks of this Convention be offered to the Treasurer of the Convention, Mr. Henry Hayes, for his faithful services in the past years, and that he is hereby re-elected Treasurer of the Convention for the ensuing year.

Which was unanimously adopted.

Mr. E. S. Munroe moved that an additional assessment of one-half of one per cent. be added to the assessments on the Parishes for Conventional expenses, to enable the Treasurer to pay the expenses of the delegates to the General Convention as ordered by a vote of this Convention (page 43), making the assessment for the year two per cent. for Convention expenses.

It was so ordered.

The Committee appointed at the last Convention to report on a Change of the name of the Diocese (See Journal, 1885, page 44), reported verbally by their Chairman, Rev. G. M. Christian:

First, That a change of name is desirable.

Second, That they propose the name of Newark, instead of that of Northern New Jersey; and offer the following resolution:

Resolved, That the Deputies to the General Convention are hereby directed to obtain the consent of the General Convention to such change of name.

The Tellers of the Clerical vote for two Deputies to the General Convention reported that no one having received a majority of votes cast, there was no election.

Whereupon the Clergy again voted for two Deputies to the General Convention.

After which the report of the Committee on Change of Name being under consideration, on motion of the Rev. F. B. Carter, the question was divided, and the first suggestion of the Committee was presented as a resolution:

Resolved, That a change of the name of this Diocese is desirable.

The Rev. Dr. Weston moved that the question be postponed to the next Convention.

The Rev. Mr. Cameron moved to lay the whole subject on the table; which motion was not carried.

The Tellers of the Clerical vote for Deputies to the General Convention reported that the Rev. Wm. G. Farrington, D. D., was elected, and that there was still one vacancy to fill.

SEVENTH ANNUAL ADDRESS

OF THE

Rt. Rev. Thomas A. Starkey, D. D.,

BISHOP OF THE DIOCESE.

BRETHREN OF THE CLERGY AND LAITY:

Allow me to extend to you my cordial greetings, as we meet again in annual council, and to invoke in behalf of our work the presence and blessing of Almighty God.

Since our meeting one year ago, it has pleased our Heavenly Father to call to the rest of Paradise three of the Bishops of this Church, known and honored by all for personal piety, excellent learning and conscientious devotion to the duties of their sacred office.

The Right Rev. Henry Champlin Lay, D.D., Bishop of Easton, entered into rest September 17, 1885. Distinguished by great genuineness and simplicity of natural character, as well as by devoutness of life, Bishop Lay will be also especially remembered by Northern Churchmen for the manly and independent part he took in aiding to restore relations between the severed portions of the Church at the close of the late war. His death is a loss, not to his Diocese only, but to the whole Church, in whose triennial council he was wont to exert a great and always wholesome influence.

The Right Rev. John Freeman Young, D.D., Bishop of Florida, closed his earthly stewardship on the morning of November 15, 1885, in the city of New York. His field, which was and is a difficult one, had been worked with the uncomplaining patience, and gentle faith which characterized him. In addition to the possession of these traits, too often, alas, recognized and honored only after their possessor has passed away, Bishop Young had the reputation of being more than usually well informed in the departments of Liturgics and Hymnology. At this time, therefore, we may be permitted to especially mourn his loss.

On the first day of May in the present year, the Right Rev. Charles Franklin Robertson, D.D., Bishop of Missouri, was called to his rest. Dr. Robertson had the reputation deservedly of being industrious, zealous and painstaking as a Bishop, and kindly and sensitive as a man; and the memory of his sad death will be cherished with a certain grave tenderness not only by the people of his Diocese, but by thoughtful Churchmen everywhere.

Of our Diocesan Clergy two have passed away within the year.

The Rev. Henry F. Hartman, Ph.D., died in Cologne, Germany, on the fourth day of November, 1885. It had never fallen to my lot, if memory serves me, to meet personally with Dr. Hartman; although from time to time there had been some brief correspondence between us. Our brother died while in the regular discharge of the duties of his holy office, he having with my consent, and by appointment of the Bishop of London, assumed, some years ago, the duties of Chaplain to the English Church and congregation at Cologne.

The Rev. Thomas G. Carver, D.D., for some years in charge of Christ Church, Harrison, under the Rector of Trinty Church, Newark, passed to his reward on the morning of Septuagesima Sunday, February 28, 1886. To Dr. Carver's courtesy and general culture, to his faithful labors, to the silent uncomplaining way in which he bore long-continued weakness, and finally the more acute suffering which was the prelude to his death, I wish to bear my loving and grateful testimony.

During the past year the Diocese has been called upon to mourn the loss of several Laymen, more or less influential in its councils.

On the morning of Monday, October 19, 1885, after protracted illness and suffering borne throughout with rare fortitude, and illustrated by exemplary faith, William C. Hicks, of Calvary Church, Summit, was called away to his rest. With what reason the Diocese at large has cause to mourn the loss of one whose voice was ever heard in outspoken earnestness, in behalf of every generous and Christian work, and whose personal gifts and labors kept even pace with his words, you who were his associates for many years, have no need that I should remind you. How serious the loss to me, so often encouraged by his sanguine views of missionary work, and aided by his personal participation in it, no one but myself can know. May he rest in peace.

Another laymen lost to the Diocese this year was Mr. Love, of Rutherford. He lived long enough to see the long struggling Parish, of which he was a zealous vestryman, enter upon a new and unlooked-for career of prosperity.

Another death we have been called upon to mourn was that of Mr. Ellis Potter, of Madison. For thirty years Mr. Potter had served faithfully as a vestryman of Grace Church in that town; and for the last two years of his life he had held my license as a lay-reader.

Finally, on Easter-day, after a long life of unobtrusive piety, my venerable friend, Wm. F. Albertson, Senior Warden of St. James' Church, Knowlton, fell asleep. In the modest farm house high up on the mountain side, where a narrow ravine begins its abrupt descent to the Delaware river, this fine specimen of a man, country-bred, but with more of true refinement than many another bred in cities, passed the busy years of a life extended to the unusual age of 82 years. "Eagle's Nest," as I had named the place, was the family home, and St. James' Church the spiritual home of his father and grandfather before him. The Church stands on the narrow strip of bottom land that stretches between the foot of the hill and the river bank. It was to him a source of comfort such as few can understand who know only the engrossing interests of city life; and its sacred services brought to him all the Sunday pleasure and relief he asked for. Few of you probably knew him even by sight, but the Church and the dear country-folk at Knowlton will miss my venerable friend.

These all died in faith. They rest from their labors and their works do follow them.

The growth and prosperity of Parishes within the Diocese have been very marked during the past twelvemonth, as is testified to, in part, not only by the large numbers confirmed, but also by the general character and seriousness of the candidates themselves.

Allow me here to address a word of counsel to the Clergy in charge of Parishes with regard to this very important and delicate part of their duty. I mean the accepting and presenting of persons to receive the sacred rite of Confirmation. No doubt it was too much the custom, in the old days, say twenty-five or thirty years ago, to confine the selection to adults, and, as a rule, to those only who had passed through a certain and marked stage of religious experience. That such restriction of the benefits of Confirmation was foreign to the Church's mind and intention is now sufficiently evident to the most casual reader of the Baptismal and Confirmation offices, which present the Apostolic Rite, not as an isolated act of faith on the part of the person receiving it, but as one, in a series of covenant means of grace, which together make up the Church's system of spiritual growth and training. While, however, it is so clear that one wonders how so plain a fact could ever have been overlooked, that children were chiefly in view in the construction of the office as we now have it, the fact remains that in our day, owing to home neglect or wilfulness on one side and to a disrupted Christianity on the other, a large proportion of our candidates for Confirmation are of mature age, and are drawn from other religious bodies. It is in no spirit of fault-finding that I say that perhaps, as a natural revulsion from the old way, but oftener through carelessness, these have been sometimes received too readily and presented with too little care in preparation. My familiar acquaintance with most of the Clergy in the Diocese enables me to say that I know of few if any among them who have not greatly improved upon the methods of some of an earlier generation, who were careless almost beyond belief in this regard. Indeed it is one of the more encouraging signs which greet us that as a rule so much time and labor are given by our Clergy to proper instruction, both before and after Confirmation. I believe this to be markedly true, speaking generally, of the classes that have been presented during the past year in this Diocese. The interest in the subject is of a purely practical kind, and in saying what I have said it has been in my mind rather to emphasize and deepen an impression, gratefully recognized by me as already existing, than to suggest anything new. These persons presented for Confirmation are the Church's new spiritual growth, the outcropping of the generation which is to take our place before many years have passed away. They should be prepared with scrupulous fidelity for the position which they are to occupy. Instruction of the most careful and conscientious kind should follow as well as precede Confirmation; instruction which embraces sound Church doctrine as well as practical Christian living; for let it never be forgotten that doctrine is the root out of which practice grows. With these two, doctrine and practice, conjoined, never to be separated except with deadly loss to both, do not fail to teach also that systematic and self-denying giving for the promotion of every good work, is at once the evidence and the fruit of the Divine life working in the soul of the Christian disciple.

I have referred to general signs of prosperity in the various Parishes of the Diocese during the year. It is difficult and invidious to particularize. Let a few instances suffice. The congregation at Summit has already outgrown the capacity of its Church building, which needs enlargement. The same thing is true of Christ Church, Short Hills; of St. Luke's Church, Montclair; of Christ Church, East Orange; of St. Peter's Church, Morristown; of St. John's Free Church, Jersey City Heights; of Christ Church, Hackensack, and of Grace Church, Rutherford. Trinity Church, Hoboken, has added Parish buildings to its foundation, and St. Paul's Church, in the same city, has the funds ready to build a Rectory. St. John's Church, Dover, has already secured one. A remarkable instance of liberality is that of a vestryman of the Church in Montclair, who has presented St. Luke's Church with lots valued at $20,000. In a word, God has been pleased to bless us in many ways of late, for which gratitude is due not in words alone but in that higher expression of thankfulness which takes form in more earnest prayers and labors; in a greater spirit of self-denial; in the consecration of our worldly wealth to His service, and the glory of His name.

It would be less than just not to notice here that several of our Parishes have paid off their indebtedness during the past year and now possess their property unencumbered. Among these I especially mention as worthy of such public recognition the small Parish at Edgewater, which by a great and zealous effort has discharged a debt of $1,400. All honor to the Rector and his liberal people.

On the 21st Sunday after Trinity of last year it was my privilege to consecrate St. Paul's Church, in Jersey City, after a quarter of a century's unconsecrated use, if that may be indeed said truly of a building which had been so long devoted exclusively to the celebration of Eucharists and the worship of the Triune God. By a supreme effort the Rector had raised the entire sum of nearly $4,500 which was needed in order to free the sacred edifice from debt. The venerable Pastor was alone with his Bishop in the chancel, on an occasion so profoundly interesting to him and his people, for the day was Sunday and all his brethren of the Clergy were occupied with their own Parish duties; but he knew that they all rejoiced with him and was content.

St. Paul's Church, in Paterson, has accomplished recently what cannot fail under God to help onward the work of this important Parish in the future. Not only has a long-standing debt of $8,500 been cancelled, but possession has been secured of the entire plot of ground, on one part of which the existing structure stands. The Parish had previously only a claim upon the actual ground covered by the present moderately sized building. It was thus debarred by the very generosity which first conferred the gift from any future enlargement and consequent increase in strength and usefulness. Happily the Chinese restriction is now removed; and free from debt, and with room to provide for the new demands already pressing upon it, the Parish will become, I trust, a powerful living centre for Church extension in the rapidly growing city, of which it is the mother Church of our Communion.

The Parish at Montclair on Easter morning entirely cancelled its remaining indebtedness of $6,000. When one recalls the financial condition of St. Luke's Church five years ago this is certainly a remarkable result. The Parish is prosperous in all respects.

Soon after the close of last year's Convention a request for the defining of boundary lines between the two Parishes in Morristown occupied for some time the attention of the Bishop and Standing Committee. The necessity for defining such boundaries at present, and perhaps in the long future also, was obviated by an arrangement satisfactory to both Parishes, by which the Parish of the Redeemer changes the location of its building and secures a new and fine lot of ground n a more central position. There is now ample scope for work in the outskirts of the growing and pleasant city for either Parish that will undertake it.

The case of the Morristown Parishes, together with another which has come up for settlement in the past year, both involving the question of Parish limits, leads me to suggest a review of our Diocesan Canon 8, Title I, with a view to the removal of a certain ambiguity in the wording, that it may be brought into a more clear conformity with the verbal usage of the general Church. I suppose that no doubt really exists in any one's mind as to the meaning of the word Parish as contradistinguished from Congregation. In ecclesiastical terminology as well as historical usage it is, like the correlative terms Diocese and Province, expressive of territorial area. "A Parish," says Bailey, is a "territory which in ecclesiastical matters is under the charge of a particular Priest." Indeed the derivative meaning of Parishioner as "a sojourner," suggests what may probably be true, viz.: that the primary idea of the Parish was rather of the souls included within, than of the territory bounded by Parochial limits, although always of necessity including the last. However that may be, the word Parish has had its present technical meaning in England for twelve hundred years, and on the Continent of Europe for a much longer time; and this, as I suppose, on the principles of common law fixes the meaning of the word with us.

The Diocesan Canon provides for defining the boundaries of two or more adjoining Parishes or Parochial cures. This use of terms seems to involve one of two meanings; either the word Parish is employed here in lieu of congregation, which would certainly be a misuse of the word, as understood technically and traditionally; or else it is employed to designate a certain local and territorial, but undefined district, of which, in a general way, the Parish Church might be assumed to be the pastoral seat, if not the geographical centre. To speak of establishing boundaries suggests the creation of something, viz., Parishes, which did not exist before, or, which existed only in name; but the "ascertainment and defining" of boundaries (and the general Canon employs both expressions) signifies to discover and to make distinct by demarkation things already existing in contact with each other, and which are in danger, without such demarkation, of being confused together, because the boundaries between them are not defined.

The uncertainty in the language of the Diocesan Canon consists in the doubt raised as to whether an undefined Parish embraces all the Churches in a particular town or city, sharing the Parochial character among them, and forming together one Parish; or whether each Church in the city has its own actual but undefined territory about it; territory which only waits on circumstances (which are anticipated and provided for by the Canon itself), to be defined. This uncertainty has led and may lead again to misconceptions and embarrassments which a little more clearness and precision in the language of the Canon might avoid.

I beg to commend to your consideration the report of the Committee on Clerical Relief. It is a carefully prepared paper, the result of much and studious thought.

Certainly there is everything in the temporal circumstances which environ the life of the Clergy to call for some action on the part of our Dioceses. In the nature of things it is simply impossible for a clergyman to lay up any thing for old age. An average Living less than that of skilled mechanics, with the social position that forbids economies of a certain kind, leaves a dreary outlook for the majority of the Clergy when age shall overtake them. But this is not all. A clergyman whose life has reached to fifty years, finds it difficult, almost impossible to secure a Parish which will afford him a support. Let me quote the words of an honored layman on this subject: "No matter (writes my friend) if a clergymen has the vigor, endurance, love of work, habits of industry and physical and intellectual force of thirty-five, it is enough that the man is fifty." He is not wanted. How is an evil like this to be reached ? What knife shall cut out this cancer—that threatens the very life of the Church ? Threatens its life in that it substitutes an unreal and dreamy, if not utterly selfish fancy, for the sound principle that ought to rule in the selection and placing of Pastors over Parishes. The reform in this matter must originate with the Laity themselves; they must relearn the old lesson, received and acted on in the old time, that the Clergy of the Church are or should be the spiritual fathers of their people; admired, if you will, in their early days; respected and loved, as the family goes on, pari passu, towards middle age; honored and supported with tender veneration in the time of gathering shadows. These things the Laity must themselves consider and lay to heart. Meanwhile, some such relief for present troubles, as this report proposes is well worthy of your consideration.

I should altogether fail in duty did I not again urge the interest of all the members of the Church in our two Hospitals and the Home for boys in Summit. The effort to raise funds for the erection of a new Hospital building, or the purchase of the present one in Jersey City, is being prosecuted, and the Hospital itself is conducted in an admirable way, as many will testify.

If God should spare me, I hope in another year to present a systematized plan for the support and endowment of both Christ and St. Barnabas Hospitals; the initial idea being the endowment of a bed by each Parish of the two Convocations; such bed being called after the name of the Parish, which can always claim its use; a bed in Christ Hospital for each Parish in the Convocation of Jersey City, and a bed in the Hospital of St. Barnabas for each Parish in the Convocation of Newark. These endowments could be gradual or not, as the means or inclinations of each Parish decided; and the carrying on of the work of endowment could be entrusted to a Guild under the Rector, in each Parish, whose object should be to interest the members of the congregation in the work. This central idea is thrown out, and commended to your thoughtfulness; because, even from this time forward, steps could be taken by Rectors towards its carrying out. In doing so they will help their own work, by calling out and fostering the spirit of work among their people; besides building bulwarks—each Parish Hospital Guild a bulwark—about our Diocesan Zion.

After the hospitals let me say a word, and a very earnest one, in behalf of the Boys' Home or Orphanage in Summit. I have lately called the Clergy and Laity together in convocation to consider anew our methods for the Christian instruction of the young. The whole subject of Home, Sunday-school and Bible class instruction has been gone over carefully, and the addresses will be found in a pamphlet, which is hereby commended to you for your careful reading. This action grew out of a wish on my part to call the two Convocations together, once or twice a year, to discuss and give effect to such matters of every-day practical importance, as the business character of our Annual Conventions does not give them time or inclination to consider. The first of these matters was the one referred to above, viz., The Christian Instruction of the Young.

The Home at Summit for boys is the living appeal, not the appeal on paper, for the Christian training of the young and the destitute. It is still small, and struggling very hard; still dependent in the main on Summit churchly feeling and kind-heartedness. I suppose that this is the history of all things that grow from seed. How long shall we withhold our love from these destitute little children of Christ's Church, who have none but God's people to care for them? I trust not so long that Summit folks will at last grow weary and their hearts faint.

The General Convention, which is to meet in Chicago next October, will have before it one and probably two subjects of more than ordinary importance. Of course I refer to what has been called the enrichment of the Prayer Book, and to the question of the establishment of a court of appeals for the rehearing of cases where clergymen have been adjudged guilty on ecclesiastical trial. There is no doubt whatever in my mind as to the propriety of a Bishop and his Convention considering together the former of these subjects, that of enrichment. The language of the Constitution of the National Church is as follows: "No alteration or addition shall be made in the Book of Common Prayer, or other offices of the Church, or the articles of religion, unless the same shall be proposed in one General Convention and by a resolve thereof made known to the Convention of every Diocese, and adopted at the subsequent General Convention." As in the language of our own Diocesan Constitution, "the Bishop of the Diocese shall have a seat and vote in the Convention, and shall preside at its meetings," it would seem that no doubt can be entertained as to the propriety and even duty of our considering as a Convention these proposed amendments. The only question that could arise is, "Have these alterations and additions," which were proposed in the last General Convention, been "by a resolve thereof made known to" the Convention of this Diocese. Assuming that this has been done, I venture on one or two suggestions.

It is not enough to say in this connection that the liturgical worship which the Church of God has inherited from the past, is very dear to all of us; that it is enriched already by the most sacred associations, and therefore is not to be lightly altered or disturbed. This popular sentiment is no doubt a very true and a very just one, and is entitled, considered alone, to all fair and even grave consideration. Indeed, few of us perhaps weigh as it deserves to be weighed, the spiritual value of liturgical worship, as that worship affects ourselves and others through associations which traditionally link generation with generation, and age with age; and which personally are bound up with the most sacred memories of vanished years, and departed Christian friends and counsellors.

But beyond this, and may I not say above this, such inheritance of holy worship, is also a trust; a trust received by us from those who have gone before us; and to be transmitted by us to those who shall come after us. It is indeed a trust which has been added to from time to time, out of the spiritual riches which God conferred; but we may not forget, a trust also which, from time to time, has suffered from the addition of something which could not be counted as enrichment. In all this there is no bar or hindrance proposed to the efforts from time to time for real improvement; but only a suggestion of caution and much prudence, and some better assurance than the crude knowledge, and hurried discussions of a brief convention can supply, that the revision when finally accepted, shall be a real enrichment of the Prayer Book. For we may not forget that what is done in this direction must be worthy of being handed down to those who shall succeed us. That these holy offices will be the heritage of the Church in the days to come; that they must meet and satisfy the deepest spiritual needs and express in direct and simple terms, the most sacred aspirations of God's people; and that any and every feature which does but reflect the religious fashion or feeling of the day, and nothing better or more permanent, is an intrusion and a blemish; nay, worse than this, the introduction into worship of some of the very things which the liturgical forms and spirit are designed to guard against and exclude.

It is, I think, to be regretted that in view of this obvious truth so much in the way of change was undertaken at one time; and this more especially when the only instrument for finally perfecting so delicate a work was a body as cumbrous in numbers and complex and variant in its personnel as our General Convention. It would have been better in my humble judgment to take up one portion of the task at a time; let us say for instance the office for the Holy Communion, or the service for Matins and Even Song. Surely for a work so important from every point of view, the time expended for its perfecting would not have been thought too long had it extended to ten or even fifteen or twenty years.

Nevertheless when all has been said that may be said in the way of friendly criticism, it can scarcely be doubted that a revision begun with such general consent and under the pressure of needs induced by the growing density of populations and consequent multiplication of services, will not end fruitlessly, however checked for a time, or curtailed from its original proportions.

There is unquestionably at this time a generally acknowledged call for shortened forms of Matins and Even Song, to be used on week days; and there is also a very general feeling that the restoration of the last named office to something like its old form in the English Prayer Book would be a real enrichment. Few of us probably approve the latitude of choice allowed in the use of Canticles, but with this exception and perhaps one or two others, the changes proposed in the offices for morning and evening prayer might be accepted with something like unanimity were it not for the opinion entertained by many that each office can only be adopted or rejected as a whole.

I am free to say that it is my hope that the General Convention will not go much beyond this first step at their coming session in Chicago. The assignment of the other portions of the amended book to carefully selected committees, with the right to call in experts as assessors, to further consider them and report at the end of three years, would ensure deliberation and greater attention to the several parts. Surely we can afford to be deliberate. There are some of us who would be glad to see a few restorations made in the Liturgy proper or Holy Communion office; such as would serve to make it in accord in these respects with all other Catholic Liturgies, from the most ancient times of the Christian Church. But it is doubtful whether the times are propitious for such restorations. The hands should be very reverent indeed that touch this great office; and it is a question worth asking, whether in our restlessness we do not forget how wonderfully satisfying these services are to us now, just as we have them; what fullness of comfort and joy of holy reverence there is in our early and plain Eucharists, and in the same holy service celebrated later in the day and with more accessories of ceremonial rendering and of sacred pomp. Certainly we can afford to wait, and be none the less happy or spiritually lifted up and helped because of the waiting.

The question of a Court of Appeal will probably be a prominent one before the Convention. It is a subject beset with difficulties. The 6th Article of the Constitution of the Church in the United States gives over the mode of trying Presbyters and Deacons to the Convention of each Diocese. Under this provision it might be competent for two or more Dioceses to arrange for the establishment of such a court; but whatever experience the Church has had of such an arrangement is not encouraging. Besides it would seem that for many sound reasons one general system should prevail over the entire country. It has been supposed that the establishment of ecclesiastical provinces would furnish a solution of the difficulty; but any system like the provincial, in order to satisfy a real need, should be the outgrowth of circumstances gradually shaping towards that end, not a merely artificial creation. The question, however, is not one to be discussed here, even if I had the ability. It is only introduced for the purpose of urging the exercise of a calm judgment in a matter so serious. Recent events, too painful to be more than referred to, have awakened an almost morbid feeling in some quarters. Let us make sure that nothing shall betray us into doing anything that may tend to lower the high standard of Clerical character which the Church has always striven to maintain. That must be preserved at any cost save that of justice.

The Convention at Chicago will greatly need the Spirit of Counsel in view of the questions that are to come before it, and the drift and temper of the times. It may need courage also. Let us think of it in this way, and by our prayers and wise and grave action do our share in ensuring that its results may be to the glory of God and the benefit of His Church.

DIOCESAN MISSIONS.

The missionary work of the Diocese during the past year has been carried on with as good results as could be reasonably expected in a field as comparatively narrow as ours is, and which contains so large a proportion of foreign population. By modifying somewhat our methods in Warren county we have secured already a considerable decrease of expenditures; and this year the income has been sufficient to meet all demands made upon the Treasurer, including the payment of the May stipends of the missionaries.

In Phillipsburg the Church is in better condition than for some years past, and the congregation have shewn their zeal and encouragement by supplying at their own expence a new furnace under the building, besides renovating the interior, so that it is now comfortable in Winter and altogether Churchly and attractive.

At Washington the attendance on the services is slowly increasing, and there is a probability that several families will be added as soon as a proper Church building shall be erected. This town, unlike Hackettstown, is a manufacturing centre, and the outlook for the Church is more assuring than at the last named place. It has been thought wise to rent the house until such time as we can provide regular Clerical services in a Church building of our own, for which funds are already provided by the people at Washington and its vicinity, assisted by friends of the work elsewhere. The building will be on our own ground and is not expected to cost more than the Church at Stanhope. It is to be erected this summer.

Hackettstown is given up as a mission station for the present, and until some signs of encouragement invite us, better than any that have met our eyes during the past thirty years.

The Church at Stanhope has now a resident Pastor in the Rev. Mr. Joralemon, who will celebrate the Holy Communion monthly in Washington, which is served for the present on ordinary Sundays by a Lay reader. The attendance on the services at Stanhope continues to be good, and the people are full of spirit. They have within a year added a lot for a Parsonage to the ground occupied by the Church, for which they themselves furnished the purchase money.

At Bayonne the attendance on the services, already good, is steadily increasing. The people have this year erected a very convenient Sunday School building in the rear of the Church and made other improvements at a cost of $1,700.

Pamrapo has been served faithfully and self-denyingly through the year by the Rev: Mr. Allan, a Deacon of Long Island, residing in this place. There have been good congregations (by good I mean an attendance of about seventy persons). I confirmed here, at a visitation made in October last, fourteen adults.

The condition of the Church of the Ascension in Jersey City, is about as it has been for a number of years. The Pastor is most faithful; but the field is difficult and the undue size of the building discouraging.

St. John's Church, West Hoboken, for many years a Parish receiving missionary aid from the Diocese, has recently chosen for its Rector the Rev. Mr. Houghton, of Trinity Church, Hoboken. I confirmed nine persons in this Church two weeks ago. The interest here seems very much on the increase, and the people are seriously considering the question of church enlargement, and the erection of a building for the Sunday-school. If this Church can be made a fairly strong centre, it will be a great thing for our work on the hill.

The Church at Pompton, which has had a Parish organization and a vestry for many years, continues necessarily feeble, for lack of surrounding population.

At Mendham, where we have a small but neat Church building, the services are in the main attended and supported by the summer visitors who are coming each year in increas ing numbers, attracted, naturally, by fine scenery and air almost unequalled for salubrity. The Rev. Mr. Johnston has recently secured a house and lot adjoining the Church for a parsonage, at a cost of $3,500, on which a first payment of $1,000 has been made.

The remaining Parishes and stations sustained in part by our Board, are Belvidere and Knowlton, under the charge of the Rev. Mr. Douglas; and Hamburgh and Vernon, under that of the Rev. Joseph H. Smith; also Fort Lee Mission, so zealously cared for by Mr. H. F. Ahrens. Most of these stations have small but intelligent congregations, who are devoted in their attachment to the Church, self-denying in labor and devout in life. Indeed there are churchmen and churchwomen in all these places whom I feel a pride in reckoning among my most cherished friends.

Besides these Parishes and stations which have been referred to with more or less particularity, because dependent in a measure upon the Board of Missions for support, there are others in the Diocese not so dependent, to which I must briefly refer, in order to present a full view of the missionary side of our Diocesan activity.

The Chapel at Totowa is prosperous, and pays its way even through these times, although I wish sincerely that the zealous and successful Pastor had a more generous support. The congregation here numbers about 250; the Sunday-school more than 300. The people in this Mission all belong to what is called the working class, and have been from the first liberal and devoted.

Some months ago, the Rev. Joseph C. Hall took charge by my direction, of St. Mary's Church, Haledon, and reports to me directly. He is doing as well as may be done in a difficult field.

The Rector of Calvary Church, Summit, has within the year commenced to hold services in the small village lying at the foot of the hill below Summit. An attendance of sixty or seventy has encouraged him to make the work permanent; and I am informed that a small chapel is soon to be erected.

At Weehawken, the Rector of Trinity Church, Hoboken, has been holding a service once on a Sunday for nearly two years, besides establishing a Sunday-school which is already quite large. I administered Confirmation in this place two weeks ago to twelve persons, and addressed a congregation of nearly two hundred people. The regular attendance is from sixty to seventy.

I do not refer to the missionary work of Trinity Church, Newark, with particularity, as you are all informed with reference to it.

At Arlington, before my Episcopate began, a Mission had been carried on which was subsequently abandoned. The place was dead. Since then a change has taken place. The village has doubled in population and is growing rapidly. The Rev. Mr. Clayton, of Rutherford, has, by my direction, canvassed the place, where he found from twenty-five to thirty Church families. A subscription of four hundred dollars a year has been made, and more is promised. Services will be carried on here for six months in a room which is being fitted up properly, and the prospects of planting the Church permanently tested.

In Newark, on the west side, somewhere in the neighborhood of Seventh street and South Orange avenue, a Mission should be established without delay. Here is a dense and rapidly increasing population and no Episcopal Church within three-quarters of a mile in any direction.

The German Mission of St. Matthew's is revived under the Rev. Mr. Rockstroh; and I have great hopes of its gradual success at last, under his able and zealous administration.

The more I consider the character of our Eastern field in this Diocese, the more clearly I am of the opinion that missions will be carried on to the best advantage in many cases by the large Parishes in their neighborhood. When such an opening presents itself let some Parish, able and willing to undertake the work, at once occupy the ground, establishing religious services and organizing a Sunday-school. At the proper time a suitable Church building may be erected, generally one portion only of a design, to be added to and completed as need arises. When the work is all accomplished the perfected mission may well continue as a Chapel of the Mother Church. Of course this applies, as has been said, to some, not to all cases. The Church, as it advances away from the larger towns, throws out its skirmishers or occupies advanced positions as it can. This general work must be done by the Diocese, and in doing it the Deans are of the greatest advantage to the Bishop. They can see after and do many things which he cannot or which he should not do, in person. I do not know what I could have accomplished in the West had it not been for the devoted and wise co-operation of the Dean of Newark. His knowledge of the country and people has been simply invaluable. The Dean of Jersey City has also been most helpful, and it gives me pleasure to make this public acknowledgment.

GENERAL CHURCH WORK.

Before concluding let me say an earnest word in behalf of two of our general charities which claim and merit your support. One of these is the American Church Building Fund Commission, which in a quiet way and under conservative management is doing excellent work, and has a claim upon the Church for far more consideration and aid than it receives. The other is our General Missionary Work, Domestic and Foreign. The Domestic field, especially, calls loudly for renewed interest in its behalf. Unhappily a deficiency of means to meet greatly increased demands has lately suggested the possible necessity of measures of curtailment, both of work and expenditure, on the part of the Board. Let the sense of duty to Christ and the Church find an added motive to more earnest endeavors in behalf of these missions in the recent exhibitions of what Godlessness and unbelief unchecked are capable of doing; and let Christian and patriotic sentiment combine to arouse us to new zeal and liberality in the GREAT CAUSE.

Commending you, beloved brethren, to the grace and protection of Almighty God, Father, Son and Holy Spirit, I am,

Affectionately your Bishop,

THOMAS A. STARKEY.

Reports.

I have received the following reports from the Reverends the Deans of the two Convocations:

CONVOCATION OF NEWARK.

To the Right Reverend the Bishop of the Diocese:

Under the provision of the Canon, I would respectfully report that under your direction I have visited all the mission stations with one exception; some of them have been visited several times.

Hackettstown and Hope have had only occasional services. At Phillipsburgh, Washington, Stanhope, Mendham and St. Philip's, Newark, the work looks unusually bright. Congregations have been good; offerings improving, and an earnest spirit prevails.

At Stanhope a lot for a Rectory has been purchased. At Mendham a Rectory has been secured; one thousand dollars paid upon it, and it is now being repaired. The efforts of our little flock in Washington have induced the Board of Missions to take a step forward in this Mission, and it is believed that the congregation will be able to worship in their own Church next Advent. The Mission to the Newark Alms House has pursued its blessed work more earnestly than ever before. A Sunday-school was begun last Autumn, and there is every reason to maintain it. Surely these things show a life and devotion, for which we have every reason to thank God.

Very respectfully submitted,

J. NICHOLAS STANSBURY,

Dean.

CONVOCATION OF JERSEY CITY.

To the Right Reverend the Bishop:

In the Convocation of Jersey City four stations have been aided by appropriations from the Board of Missions.

At Christ Church, Pompton, daily services were held as long as the weather was warm enough, with weekly and Holy Day celebrations of the Holy Communion. There have been seven baptisms. The Sunday-school numbers forty, with seven teachers. The Missionary has resigned, and says it it is doubtful whether a resident clergyman can ever again be supported. Pompton is a very small place, and has long suffered from a depression of its businesss interests (iron), from which there appears no prospect of release.

At St. John's, Bayonne, a substantial gain has been made in the erection of a parish building for Sunday-school and like purposes. The services have been well maintained.

The Church of the Ascension, Jersey City, has expended $5 0 in exterior and interior renovation. The attendance averages about sixty-five, and there is a Sunday-school of 210 scholars with thirteen teachers. There have been nineteen baptisms, and there are thirty communicants. But the Church of the Ascension problem is no nearer solution than ever.

The Mission of the Good Shepherd, at Fort Lee, has been very faithfully served by the Lay-reader, with monthly visits from a Priest to celebrate the Sacraments. Six have been baptized; there are twenty communicants. The offerings have amounted to $481.89. There is also a building fund of $173.20 on hand, with an additional subscription of $140.00 "to be paid when needed." The Sunday-school has fifty scholars and five teachers. It is greatly to be regretted that the Lay-reader asks to be relieved on account of over-work. His hours in New York are very long, and he feels that "the work is too much for him."

A most encouraging outlook is opening just at this time at Arlington, which was one of our mission stations seven years ago. It is on the New York and Greenwood Lake Railroad and is now growing rapidly, It seems very desirable that the services should be reestablished there.

All of which is respectfully submitted,

WM. WELLES HOLLEY,

May, 1886. Dean.

Appendix I.

REPORT OF THE BOARD OF MISSIONS.

To the Convention of Northern New Jersey:

Since the last annual meeting of the Diocesan Convention, the Church and Missions have sustained a great loss in the death of one of the most useful members of the Board of Missions, Mr. William C. Hicks. It is a loss deeply felt by us, his associates. Mr. Hicks was very regular in his attendance on our meetings, and took an active part in our proceedings. Full of zeal in the cause of Diocesan Missions, he stimulated by word and example the other members of the Board. Liberal to the full extent of his means, he stirred up others to give liberally. His strong faith in the mission of the Church led him to make light of obstacles that to others might seem almost insurmountable; and, perhaps, made him sometimes over-sanguine of success. If this were a fault it was a fault on the right side, for the Church is more apt to fail for want of faith in the promises of her Lord than from too great trust in His help. It will be difficult to fill his vacant place. He rests from his labors in Paradise, waiting, we may well believe, to hear the words, "Well done good and faithful servant."

The Parishes, Stations and Missions to which appropriations have been made by your Board during the year are as follows:

St. James' Church, Knowlton, Rev. C. Douglas.
Zion Church, Belvidere, Rev. C. Douglas.
St. Thomas' Church, Vernon, Rev. Joseph H. Smith.
Mission of the Good Shepherd, Hamburgh, Rev. Joseph H. Smith.
St. Mark's Mission, Mendham, Rev. Levi Johnston.
St. John's Church, Bayonne, Rev. Wm. W. Pickslay.
Church of the Ascension, Jersey City, Rev. J. A. Denniston.
Mission at Fort Lee, Mr. H. F. Ahrens, Lay-reader.
St. Luke's Church, Phillipsburgh, Mr. P. C. Robottom, Lay-reader.
St. Peter's Mission, Washington, Mr. G. H. Young, Lay-reader.
Christ Church, Stanhope, Rev. J. C. Joralemon.

ST. PHILIP'S CHURCH, Newark, Rev. Thomas G. Harper.

CHRIST CHURCH, Pompton, Rev. F. A. Sanborn.

The report of the Treasurer herewith offered will show the details of the receipts and appropriations. We give here a summary:

Receipts for the year—General Fund	$3,891 31
Receipts for the year—for Specials	331 17
Total	$4,222 48
Payments for the year from General Fund	3,747 29
Payments for the year from Special Fund	394 50

The difficulty of finding a clergyman to carry on the work at Washington, in conjunction with other distant points on the line of the railroad, seeming to be insurmountable, the plan of a central home at Washington has been temporarily suspended. The stations at Stanhope, Washington and Phillipsburgh are served by a clergyman and two Lay-readers, candidates for orders, each directly responsible to the Bishop of the Diocese. The plan has been found to work very satisfactorily and with decreased expenditures.

Your Board has deemed it best for the present to rent the Mission house at Washington, with a portion of the land attached, reserving a room to store the furniture belonging to the Mission. This has been done to a reliable tenant for nearly sufficient to pay the interest on the mortgage. This leaves us two building lots on the south side of the property which it is proposed to sell, and apply the proceeds toward paying the mortgage. There will be left a piece of land amply sufficient for building a church. Convinced that no progress can be made in this place without a suitable Church building, your Board has appointed a committee with power to proceed to the erection of a frame chapel. Sufficient money has been paid and promised by the people at Washington and other friends of the work to build an attractive yet inexpensive chapel, after plans approved by the Bishop and the Board, without incurring any debt. When this is accomplished, we shall have at Washington a suitable church with a commodious clergy house, all which when the above mentioned lots are sold, will be nearly free of encumbrance.

The attendance on the services in Washington has improved during the past year under its present Lay-reader, and it is understood that several families are ready to attend the services so soon as a church shall be finished.

At Phillipsburgh, several hundred dollars raised by the people themselves, have been expended in providing a new heater, and in repairs and improvements of the Church building. The Lay-reader in charge has worked efficiently, and the attendance and spirit of the congregation were never better.

The services at Hackettstown have been for the present discontinued, the experience of twenty-five years not seeming to justify, at this time, any further expenditure on that Mission.

At Stanhope, in charge of the Rev. J. C. Joralemon, we have a neat church building free of debt, with an earnest congregation and good attendance on the services, a part of the results of our Associate Mission work. This congregation has lately bought, for a future parsonage, a lot adjoining the church grounds, giving us a frontage of considerably more than one hundred feet.

The Mission at Bayonne, under the Rev. W. M. Pickslay, has increased in numbers, and has within the last year erected at a cost of $900, raised among themselves, a school building in the rear of the church.

There is nothing calling for special notice in the other Missions aided by the Board. The Missionaries are doing faithful work, and there is a gradual but steady improvement perceptible.

The great cities which contain so large a majority of the entire population of the Diocese, claim more of our attention as missionary ground than they have yet received. The work in them is, indeed, made difficult by the large foreign element. There is, however, a field which would seem to invite our efforts. In the western part of Newark, there is a large and rapidly growing section of the city, quite distant from the existing parishes, where a Mission of the Church ought to be established, which if aided temporarily by the Board of Missions, would in due time become self-supporting and more than repay to the Diocese whatever might have been expended upon it. The Churchmen of Newark have their hands full in the work already going on, and unaided cannot support such mission. If this important city missionary effort is to be undertaken, the Diocese must largely increase its contributions to the cause.

A memorial fund has been started, with which it is hoped in time to build a recess chancel.

spiritual things. The church has been newly painted without and frescoed within; the congregation is increasing; the Sunday-school prospers; and a general tone of health pervades the Parish. The church debt has been materially reduced, amounting now to about $1,500. A missionary box has been prepared for the South. One hundred copies of the Parish Visitor and fifty copies of the Rector's Assistant are in circulation. The attendance at the Lenten Services was excellent. Peace and harmony prevail among us.

During the past year kind friends have presented to us various beautiful gifts, amounting in value to something over $130.00. The interior of the Church has been greatly improved, and the average attendance has increased over fifty per cent. The Parish is very weak financially, however, and as the current expenses have barely been met, no offerings have been made to outside objects, Diocesan or General.

During the year St. Peter's Parish very unexpectedly applied for a parochial boundary line. The Church of the Redeemer strenuously opposed the same as uncanonical, unnecessary and injurious to its interests, especially the line actually suggested. The matter was finally settled by both Rectors recommending the Standing Committee to suspend all further action in the matter, which the latter have agreed to do.

The Church of the Redeemer has purchased a fine site on South street, the main thoroughfare of the town, thus increasing the net value of its property two hundred and fifty per cent. It is now engaged in removing to its new location. Owing to this change the Bishop's visit has been deferred, and the annual confirmation postponed. The First Presbyterian Church has most kindly permitted us to worship in its chapel during our vacation of our own building.

ORANGE, ALL SAINTS' CHURCH.

THE REV. WILLIAM RICHMOND, S. T. B., RECTOR.

Families (definitely connected), 125; baptisms (adults, 19; infants, 66), 85; confirmed, 51; communicants, 244; marriages, 7; burials, 8; Divine Service: Sundays, 182; Holy Days, 76; other days, 271; total, 529; Holy Communion: public, 98; private, 5; catechisings (in church), 12; Sunday-school: teachers, 16; pupils, 205; all sittings free.

OFFERINGS—Parochial—Communion alms (not reported under other headings, being unappropriated balance on hand), $921.06; for current expenses, including Rector's salary, $2,939.33; for Sunday-school, $181.14; toward purchase of building site for new church, $3,500.00; for building new church, $11,268.29; for the poor, $309.64; for miscellaneous purposes (Parochial), $484.24. Diocesan—Episcopal Fund, $73.50; Convention expenses, $18.00; Orange Memorial Hospital, $75.00. General—Miscellaneous, $318.00. Total, $20,088.20.

The financial system of the parish makes strict classification impracticable. The income is derived entirely from the offerings laid upon the altar from day to day (except a trifle for rental, not included in the above report, and during the past year about $20 from friends outside the Diocese). The people being taught to give always to the utmost of their ability, are not called upon for special offerings, except for the new church building. The items given above (except current expenses, land, building and assessment) are therefore, mainly appropriations actually made by the Rector from the general offerings at the early celebrations; the amount reported as "Communion Alms" being the balance on hand, and therefore, incapable of classification as not yet appropriated. There is also, a large balance in the parish treasury. The cash offerings laid upon the altar by the congregation during the thirteen months of the existence of the parish have amounted to $22,734.31. The pressing need of increased church and Sunday-school accommodations has necessitated the concentration of the offerings mostly on parish purposes. During the year, repairs and improvements have been made to the rectory at an expense of $635. A parish hall for Sunday-school and other purposes, has been built and furnished at a cost of $1,610. A building site for a new church has been acquired (price, $4,000), and a substantial stone church is well underway. The present small church was built some years ago almost entirely at the expense of persons now members of the parish, but on land given by one of them for the purpose of a mission to St. Mark's, the corporation of which parish has not as yet (May 15), so far as the Rector of All Saints' is aware, transferred the property.

This is to be used for church purposes only, forever, and so affords the desired space for any future enlargement.

Not much if anything in the way of growth can be expected in this old Parish. Population does not increase. Old Church families have moved away, and none come in to fill their place. To keep alive the Church-life that remains, and to bear witness for the truth among an unfriendly people, is all that, for the present, can be done.

The present Rector has been in charge only during the past six months. The work of the Parish is by no means at a standstill. There has been lately organized a Guild, which numbers about forty members, an Industrial Society, and a Choral Society. There are now two celebrations of the Holy Communion each month, one at mid-day on the second Sunday, and the other early in the morning on the fourth Sunday.

CLERICAL REPORTS.

The Rev. H. V. DEGEN, reports:

725 Bedford Ave., BROOKLYN, N. Y., May 18, 1886.

To the Right Reverend Thomas A. Starkey, D. D.:

MY DEAR BISHOP—On the last Sunday in August I resigned the Parochial charge of the Church of the Holy Communion, South Orange. Since that time I have done such work as my health and opportunity permitted. I have preached and assisted in the administration of the Holy Communion several times in Trinity Church, Asbury Park, N. J., and once at St. Matthew's Church, in this city; baptised one infant, married two couples and assisted at one burial service.

The Rev. GEORGE F. FLICHTNER reports:

The Right Reverend Thomas A. Starkey, D. D.:

RIGHT REVEREND AND DEAR SIR—I beg leave to report that up to the first of September, 1885, I continued to fulfill my duties as Secretary of the Committee on Domestic Missions. At that time, owing to the reconstruction of the Board of Managers, I retired from that office, and since then have had no permanent cure. I have performed Clerical duty in various parishes in this and other Dioceses.

The Rev. WILLIAM H. MOFFETT reports:

CONSULATE OF THE UNITED STATES,
ATHENS, Greece, April 15, 1886.

To the Right Reverend Thomas A. Starkey, D. D.:

In August last, on account of failing health and other personal reasons, and with your approval verbally expressed, I resigned the Rectorship of Christ Church, Newton. Since that date no opportunity has presented itself for the discharge of any Clerical functions, and I am unable now to say when I shall be able to resume such duties. The record of services and offerings since date of my last report to date of my resignation, will appear, I presume, in the Parochial report of my successor at Newton.

The Rev. J. I. MOMBERT reports:

To the Right Reverend Thomas A. Starkey, D.D., Bishop of the Diocese:

RIGHT REVEREND AND DEAR SIR—Last September I started, and have uninterruptedly maintained, a service at Riverside, which, if resumed in the fall, and sustained by the few Church people in the neighborhood, may ultimately expand into parochial dimensions.

The Church population is very small, and the existence of a so-called union service under the auspices of another body of Christians, checks the growth of our service. The attendance has widely fluctuated, from eight or nine to seventy and more worshippers. The Holy Eucharist has been celebrated once a month, and received by from six to twelve communicants. I have gratefully to acknowledge the ready liberality of friends, mostly parishioners of St, Paul's, which has enabled me to defray all the expense connected with this venture. Amount subscribed, $417.00; amount paid, $337.00; offertory, $61.13, amount expended, $266.64. The remainder has been applied to my services.

The Rev. ROBERT C. ROGERS reports:

BROOKLYN, N. Y., May 18, 1886.

To the Right Reverend Thomas A. Starkey, D. D.:

MY DEAR BISHOP—Since the last Diocesan Convention, I have officiated on thirty-two Sundays, morning and evening, and assisted at twenty week-day services; have celebrated the Holy Communion ten times; have ministered at four funerals; and baptised two children. These services were, for the most part, in the Dioceses of New York and Long Island.

The Rev. J. D. ROSÉ, PH. D., reports:

SHORT HILLS, N. J., May 17. 1886.

To the Right Reverend Thomas A. Starkey, D. D.:

RIGHT REVEREND AND DEAR BISHOP—I have only to report that since the last Convention, I have preached four times; assisted at the services of the Church often; celebrated the Holy Eucharist in public once, here in Short Hills, and assisted thereat several times; married one couple in St. Stephen's Church, Millburn, and had two burials.

The Rev. WYNANT VANDERPOOL reports:

MORRISTOWN, N. J., May, 1886.

To the Right Reverend Thomas A. Starkey, D. D.:

RIGHT REVEREND AND DEAR SIR—During the past conventional year I have continued the work at the Newark City Alms House. I enclose a printed report of the work done during the year 1885. I would suggest that the work could be more efficiently done by one of the resident Clergy of the city of Newark. I am ready to step aside at any time. I have given my services during the year to St. Peter's Church, Morristown.

Having been invited by the sister in charge of St. Hilda's School, Morristown, to give lectures on Church history to the young ladies of the school, I consented to do so and began a course of instruction last Fall and have continued it until the present time. I have been very much pleased with the attention and interest manifested by the young ladies. This school, I believe, may now be considered as firmly established and fast growing in importance and influence, and it must become a power for good in the training of the daughters of the Church. A new and beautiful situation, with a large building in every way well fitted for the purpose, has recently been purchased for about twenty thousand dollars ($20,000). This furnishes the school with accommodation for sixty (60) boarders. At the present time there are thirty-three (33) boarders and ten (10) day scholars. The school is intended to give a thorough Christian education at a moderate cost. The sisters who have charge of the school do not aim at money making. A child may be educated here (board, laundry and tuition included) for $250.00 a year. I take the liberty of calling the attention of the Bishop more particularly to this work, because I believe that there are few works in the Diocese more worthy of his care and encouragement.

The Rev. GEORGE H. WALSH, D. D., reports:

PHILADELPHIA, May 7th, 1886.

To the Right Reverend Thomas A. Starkey, D. D.:

MY DEAR BISHOP—I hereby respectfully report that during the past conventional year I have officiated on seventy-nine occasions, principally in the city of Philadelphia and neighborhood.

The Rev. D. C. WESTON, D. D., reports:

NEW YORK CITY, May 18, 1886.

To the Right Reverend Thomas A. Starkey, D. D.:

That since the last Diocesan Convention, he has assisted on thirty occasions of public worship; preached eight times; assisted in administering the Holy Communion nine times; baptised two adults; solemnized one marriage; and officiated at three burials.

The Rev. A. L. WOOD reports:

WOODSIDE (NEWARK), N. J., May 18, 1886.

To the Right Reverend Thomas A. Starkey, D. D.:

MY DEAR BISHOP—During the months of June, July and August of last year I was absent from the Diocese. Within this period I did mission work among the Tennessee mountains, where I baptised thirty persons; preached on several occasions, and conducted a retreat for the theological students at St. Luke's Hall, Sewanee. I also took charge of St. John's Church, Tannersville, Greene County, N. Y., where I celebrated the Holy Communion thirteen times; baptised several persons; prepared a class for confirmation; and maintained regular services on Sundays and Holy Days for two months.

HELD IN

Tuesday and Wednesday, May 24 and 25, 1887.

PUBLISHED BY THE CONVENTION.

TITLE I., CANON 1, § II.

OF THE TESTIMONIAL OF LAY DEPUTIES.

Lay Deputies to the Convention shall present certificates of their election in the following form:

[Name of the Church, the place and date.]

This certifies that at a meeting of the congregation of this Church, for the purpose of electing Church Officers and Deputies to the Convention (or for the purpose of electing Deputies to the Convention, if the meeting be for that purpose alone), A. B., C. D. and E. F., being members of the congregation and communicants of the Church, were duly chosen to represent the congregation in that body for the year ensuing. In testimony of which, I have hereunto set my hand (or, if two Wardens subscribe, we have set our hands), the day and year above written.

N. B.—The signature of either the Rector or the Secretary of the Vestry is sufficient; if neither the Rector nor the Secretary signs, then the signatures of both Wardens are necessary. A Clergyman who is simply Minister-in-charge or Missionary cannot sign.

The Lay Representation is limited to three Deputies, whose names in full should be carefully and legibly written.

This Certificate is to "be transmitted to the Secretary of the Convention AT LEAST TEN DAYS BEFORE THE MEETING OF THE ANNUAL CONVENTION." (See Title I., Canon 1, § II.)

In order to secure this, the Secretary will forward a blank form to every Parish, and earnestly asks the PROMPT attention of the Clergy.

 By the terms of the Constitution and Canons, the Deputies must be members of the congregation and communicants of the Church; also contributors to its support, and worshippers in the Church of the Parish which elects them for six calendar months next before the election; and in Free Churches must also have handed in their names as such to the Rector or Minister, in writing, six months before the election. (See Title I., Canon 6, § II., [2].)

REMISSIONS.

The Trustees, upon the representation of Christ Church, Bloomfield, that they are unable to pay the arrears of interest upon their bond, and to pay interest upon the full amount of the principal of the same, being $800, have agreed to remit the arrears due upon said bond up to April 1, 1886, and to accept interest upon the sum of $400 for two years from said date. The parish hopes to be able thereafter to pay its interest in full.

TOTAL AMOUNT OF THE FUND.

Parish bonds, as reported last year	$46,480 00
James L. Hays (now Davis') Bond and Mortgage	8,000 00
Charles Hays Bond and Mortgage	1,600 00

Cash in Howard Savings Institution	50 00
Total amount of Fund	$58,130 00

The income from which amount, besides such asssessments as may be collected from Parishes which have not given bonds, comprises the annual receipts of the Trustees.

The Trustees repeat the suggestion made by them in their last report, that those Parishes whose bonds we hold, upon which the interest is many years in arrear, should make an arrangement with the Trustees by which the arrears should be adjusted, and the payment of some certain annual sum should be secured. It is but just in itself, and fair to those Parishes who do pay, that the burden should bear equally upon all, in proportion to their ability.

The Trustees hold the Missionary Fund of $2,000, known as the Hanford Smith legacy, and also the Miss Carman legacy also of $2,000, both of which sums are invested on bond and mortgage.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

REPORT OF THE STANDING COMMITTEE.

The Standing Committee respectfully reports that it has held seven meetings during the past Conventional year.

May 24, 1886.—At this meeting, the Committee organized by the election of the Rev. Dr. FERNANDO C. PUTNAM as President, and of the Rev. Dr. WILLIAM G. FARRINGTON as Secretary. Mr. OTTO ARNOLD was recommended for admission as a candidate for Holy Orders.

Permission was given to the Rector, Wardens and Vestrymen of Trinity Church, Hoboken, to mortgage their property.

June 7, 1886.—At a meeting held this day consent was given to the consecration of the Rev. EDWIN GARDNER WEED as Bishop of Florida.

September 6, 1886.—At a meeting held this day consent was given to the election of the Rt. Rev. DANIEL SYLVESTER TUTTLE, D.D., to be Bishop of the Diocese of Missouri, and of the Rt. Rev. OZI WILLIAM WHITAKER, D.D., to be Assistant Bishop of the Diocese of Pennsylvania.

December 6, 1886.—This being the first meeting of the Committee after the death of the Rev. Dr. Fernando C. Putnam, the following Minute was adopted:

Our President is absent to-day from his place, and we sorrow that we shall "see his face no more." The Master whom he loved and served with singular zeal, has called him to his reward. Impressed with a sense of our loss, we put on record our appreciation of his self-denying labors in behalf of the poor, the sick and the suffering, and of his unwearied devotion to the welfare of the Church at whose altar it was his privilege to minister for nearly half a century. A fine classical scholar, a writer of the purest English, a Churchman loyal and true, a man of gentle spirit and simple tastes, a Priest who was discreet, learned and faithful to every trust; we thank God for his good example and many and excellent gifts, and pray that our "last end" may "be like his."

Permission was given to the Rector, Wardens and Vestrymen of Christ Church, Bloomfield, to sell their school building and to mortgage the rectory property.

The Rev. ROBERT NORRIS MERRITT was unanimously elected to fill the vacancy in the Committee, caused by the death of the Rev. Dr. Putnam.

January 24, 1887.—At a meeting held this day, the Rev. ROBERT NORRIS MERRITT was chosen President of the Committee.

Mr. WILLIAM PRALL was recommended for ordination to the Diaconate.

May 9, 1887.—At a meeting held this day, consent was given to the consecration of the Rev. ELISHA SMITH THOMAS, D.D., as Assistant Bishop of the Diocese of Kansas.

The Rev. JOHN KELLER was recommended for ordination to the Priesthood.

All which is respectfully submitted,

WILLIAM G. FARRINGTON,
Secretary.

NEWARK, May 24, 1887.

REPORT.

The undersigned Commissioners for this Diocese of the Church Building Fund, appointed at the meeting of the Board of Missions in October last, respectfully report that they issued a circular letter to the Rectors of the Parishes in February last, urging a contribution to the Fund. only have responded, so far as known, to wit: Holy Innocents, Hoboken; St. Mark's, Jersey City; Grace Church, Orange, and Good Shepherd, Hamburgh; with offerings amounting in the aggregate to $206.42.

In view of the great importance of this Building Fund, the work it is doing and proposes to accomplish, and in view of the further fact that the Bishop of the Diocese is Chairman of the Executive Committee, we would ask the attention of this Convention to the especial propriety of our substantial contributions to the fund, and recommend the passage of the following resolution:

Resolved, That the objects of the Church Building Fund Commission are hereby approved by this Convention, and that as Clergy and Lay-representatives of the several Parishes and Missions of the Diocese, we pledge ourselves to at least one contribution during the ensuing Conventional year to the funds of this Commission.

A. SCHUYLER

Which was adopted. The Bishop appointed as such Committee the Rev. G. M. Christian, the Rev. H. S. Bishop, the Rev. R. B. Post, Mr. Cortlandt Parker and Mr. Henry Hayes.

The election of a Missionary Committee being in order, on motion of the Rev. Dr. Farrington, the Committee of last year were unanimously re-elected.

Resolved, That the Special Committee on the Missions of the Diocese be requested to furnish copies of their report to the various Parishes at least one month prior to the meeting of the next Convention.

The Rev. Dr. Schuyler read the following report from the Committee on the Constitution and Canons:

REPORT.

In regard to the amendment proposed by the Rev. Mr. Hebbard, of Canon 6, § I, etc., of Title I, concerning the annual Parochial Reports, the Committee find on comparing the items of the report as at present required, with those proposed by this amendment, that they are substantially the same, or that the latter are comparatively unimportant. And therefore we are not prepared to recommend any change of the Canon.

In reference to the change proposed in Article 7 of the Constitution, of a quorum and of the manner of voting, the Committee are unable to see any ambiguity in the Article as it stands, while it clearly implies all that is proposed by the amendment, and they recommend that no change be made.

On motion of Rev. Dr. Farrington the recommendations of the Committee against the proposed changes were concurred in.

Mr. F. W. Stevens, from the Committee on Constitution and Canons, to which had been referred, at the last Convention, Canon 8, Parish Boundaries, reported as follows:

REPORT.

The Committee on Constitution and Canons recommend the following amendments to Canon 8, § I, Title I:

Clause one of Section one, of Canon eight of Title one, is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

§ I (1). It shall be lawful for the Ministers of any two or more Parishes or Parochial Cures, or duly incorporated Congregations, to agree upon boundaries for their respective Parishes without regard to existing civil divisions; but the Parish boundaries thus agreed upon shall not be definitely settled until approved by the Bishop of the Diocese, acting with the advice and consent of the Standing Committee.

Clause two of said section is hereby amended as follows:

(2). In cases where the Ministers of any Parishes, Parochial Cures, or duly incorporated Congregations, howsoever situate with respect to each other, are unable or unwilling to agree upon boundaries for their respective Parishes, Cures, or Congregations, the Bishop and Standing Committee may, without regard to existing civil divisions, upon application of one of the Ministers and upon proof or statement satisfactory to the Bishop and Standing Committee that such Minister has requested any other Minister or Ministers to join with him in assigning such boundaries, and that such other Minister or Ministers has or have refused or neglected for the space of sixty days to comply with his request, upon due notice to all the Ministers interested in the application, and after giving them an opportunity to be heard, proceed to define the boundaries of the Parishes involved in the application.

A. SCHUYLER, Chairman.

On motion of Mr. Cortlandt Parker, the further consideration of the whole subject was postponed until the next Convention.

Mr. Cortlandt Parker then offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That a Special Committee of three Clergymen and two Laymen be appointed to consider if any changes are needed in Canon 8, of Parish Boundaries, and Canon 9, of Organized Missions; or if any new legislation is required to facilitate Church extension in cities, and to report to the next Convention.

Which resolution was adopted.

The Chair appointed as such Committee, The Rev. Dr. Schuyler, The Rev. N. Barrows, The Rev. Geo. Flichtner, Mr. Cortlandt Parker, and Mr. Edward A. Walton.

On motion of Mr. Henry M. Oddie, it was ordered—

That the above named Committee be instructed to have their report printed and distributed among the Parishes of the Diocese at least one month before the meeting of the next annual Convention.

The election of a Standing Committee being the next business in order the Chair appointed as Tellers for the clerical vote the Rev. Joseph H. Smith and Mr. Charles A. Lighthipe, and for the lay vote the Rev. Geo. H. Moffett and Mr. John S. Richards.

The ballots were cast and the Tellers retired to count the votes.

The Rev. C. S. Abbott then read the report of the Committee appointed at the last Convention on "Depositions from the Ministry." (See Appendix VIII.)

The Convention took a recess for one hour.

2 P. M.

The Bishop took the chair and called the Convention to order.

On motion of Mr. C. Parker the Rev. Dr. Boggs was added to the Committee on Canons 8 and 9.

The Tellers of the clerical vote for a Standing Committee reported that the Rev. W. W. Holley, D. D., the Rev. William G. Farrington, D. D., and the Rev. Edward L. Stoddard, had been elected.

The Tellers for the lay vote for a Standing Committee reported that Messrs. Edward A. Walton, Henry Hayes, James G. Osborne and Frederick W. Stevens had been elected.

On motion of the Rev. Dr. Farrington the order of the clergy approved of the election of the lay members of the Standing Committee.

The order of the clergy then proceeded to vote for one clerical member of the Standing Committee.

The ballots were cast and the Tellers retired to count the votes.

The Rev. Dr. Schuyler on behalf of the Committee on the Constitution and Canons presented the following REPORT.

The Committee on the Constitution and Canons to whom was referred a proposed amendment of Canon 4, Title I, by striking out the 6th section thereof, authorizing the Trustees of the Episcopal Fund to remit assessments on Parishes in certain cases, respectfully report: That the power to remit assessments should be lodged somewhere, and in some smaller body than the Convention, both on account of its greater facility for reaching a right conclusion, and on account of the frequent delicacy of the case. Such delicacy would also forbid the spreading before the Convention of the reasons for such remission. The Committee, therefore, knowing of no better body than the Trustees of the Episcopal Fund in which to lodge the power, are not prepared to recommend the change proposed.

On motion the Convention concurred in the adverse report of the Committee.

The Rev. William G. Farrington, D. D., offered the following resolution, which was adopted:

Resolved, That the Secretary make provision in the forms of the Parochial reports for the names of the Wardens of the Parish, and call the attention of the clergy to this addition to the blank form. Also that more space be left in the form under the head of "General."

The Rev. James Cameron offered an amendment to Canon 4, § VI, of the Episcopal Fund, etc., as follows:

Resolved, That Canon 4 be amended by striking out §VI and inserting the following:

Whenever application shall be made by any Parish to the Trustees of the Episcopal Fund for a remission of the interest which may be due on bonds of that Parish, in the hands of said Trustees, or for exemption from the annual assessment for the Bishop's salary, if the Trustees of the Episcopal Fund shall, upon examination, consider such remission or exemption necessary for the Parish and not unjust to the Diocese, they shall report the facts of the case to the Convention with such recommendation as they may think proper for the action of the Convention.

Which, on motion of the same, was referred to the Committee on the Constitution and Canons, to report thereon to the next Annual Convention.

The Tellers of the clerical vote, for one member of the Standing Committee, reported that there was no election.

The Clergy proceeded once more to vote for a member of the Standing Committee. The ballots were cast and the Tellers retired to count the votes.

On motion the ballot was dispensed with, and Mr. Henry Hayes was re-elected Treasurer.

Mr. Edward Todd and Mr. D. Smith Wood were re-elected the Auditing Committee.

Mr. D. Smith Wood was re-elected Registrar.

On motion of the Rev. Dr. Boggs, it was,

Resolved, That the Treasurer pay to the Sexton of Trinity Church the usual sum for services, and also five dollars special for this year.

The Tellers for the clerical vote reported that the Rev. Robert N. Merritt had been elected on the Standing Committee.

On motion the order of the laity approved of the election of the clerical members of the Standing Committee.

THE STANDING COMMITTEE.

The Rev. R. N. MERRITT,	Mr. EDWARD A. WALTON,
" WM. G. FARRINGTON, D. D.	" HENRY HAYES,
" W. W. HOLLEY, D. D.,	" JAMES G. OSBORNE,
" E. L. STODDARD,	" FREDERICK W. STEVENS.

REPORT.

The Committee on Unfinished Business report that they find the matter concerning the registry and returns of marriages, births and deaths, referred to the Committee on the Constitution and Canons, has not been reported upon. They find only this under the head of the unfinished business. H. ARROWSMITH, Chairman.

On motion of the Rev. Geo. P. Hebbard it was,

The Rev. William G. Farrington, D. D., offered the following:

Resolved, That the Committee on the Legacy of Miss Charlotte S. Harrison be continued, with instructions to report to the next Convention in writing all the facts connected with the case.

It was so ordered.

EIGHTH ANNUAL ADDRESS

OF THE

Rt. Rev. Thomas A. Starkey, D. D.,

BISHOP OF THE DIOCESE.

BRETHREN OF THE CLERGY AND LAITY:

Allow we to extend to you once more my cordial greetings at this meeting of our annual council, and to invoke the blessing of God, Father, Son and Holy Ghost upon our deliberations.

In the course of the year we have been called upon to mourn the loss of three of our Bishops, called away by death from the field of their labors. On the 2d of January of the present year, the Right Rev. Horatio Potter, D. D., Bishop of New York, died in the 84th year of his age, and the thirty-third of his Episcopate. Of Bishop Potter, more than of most men, it might, I think, be truly said that those who knew him best esteemed him the most highly. Naturally shy and reserved, he seemed at times unapproachable, when it was only true of him that he was lacking in demonstrativeness, but not in sympathy. He was a man of much culture, and although he composed little for the press, his literary style was terse and refined, and full of a certain spiritual thoughtfulness. It was my happiness to enjoy the friendship of Bishop Potter for many years, and to understand better than many men the unusual blending of humor and pathos, of occasional reticence with deep religious feeling, which made up, in their combination, a very marked character, and one which told in its effects for good upon his Diocese, although men at the time scarcely knew it as they came to know it afterwards.

The death of this venerable Prelate was followed soon after by that of the Right Rev. William Mercer Green, D. D., Bishop of Mississippi, who was called to the rest of Paradise on the 13th of February, 1887. It was not my privilege to enjoy any intimate personal acquaintance with this honored servant of God. All who did know him seemed to entertain for him a peculiar respect and affection. His life was prolonged to its 89th year, and he was called away in the thirty-seventh year of his Episcopate.

On the 12th of April, 1887, the Right Rev. Alfred Lee, D. D., Bishop of Delaware, and Presiding Bishop of the Church in the United States, passed away after an illness of some weeks. He had reached the age of 79 years. Bishop Lee was a man of learning and ability, and was, so far as I know, the only Church Divine in the Company of American Revisers of the Anglican translation of the sacred Scriptures. In Churchmanship he belonged to the old Evangelical school, to whose theological views he held tenaciously to the last, yet always in a spirit of charity. Bishop Lee's gentle but dignified presence and calm judgment will be missed from many a place to which the position which he occupied frequently called him in the way of public duty.

In the course of the past year four of the Clergy of this Diocese have ceased from their earthly labors.

The Rev. William T. Egbert died on the 23d day of September, 1886, after protracted illness, borne with a rare courage which struggled against it to the end. Although for the last year or two of his life he was Canonically connected with the Diocese, his work here had been only periodic and as strength and opportunity permitted. Had health been given to him, Mr. Egbert's zeal and ability were such as to promise a career of much usefulness, for he made many and strong friends everywhere.

On the 27th of October, 1886, the Rev. Fernando C. Putnam, D. D., passed, I doubt not, into his Lord's presence in Paradise. One of our oldest Priests, he was also one of the most honored and trusted. Scholarly in his tastes, devout by temperament and training, guileless as a child by nature, and always self-forgetful in the discharge of duty, the few weaknesses which he shared in common with us all were mainly the outgrowth of his genuine simplicity of character. He had been for many years my much loved and always trusted friend, and I thank God for the lesson of his virtues.

On the 13th of December, 1886, the Rev. George H. Chadwell entered into rest. The sadness of this loss to family and people marked an epoch in the Parish of which he was the Rector. Just entering, as it was, upon new conditions, with which their Pastor was especially identified, it must have added poignancy to the sorrow which his people felt, that the career, which had opened before them new hopes, should have been cut off in its early prime. The Rev. Rector of the Church of the Redeemer was but 34 years old when he laid down his staff. The funeral service of the young Priest, so early, called made an impression, not easily effaced, upon all who were present at its solemnities.

On Wednesday, May the 4th, the Rev. Charles W. Ward, who had resigned the Rectorship of St. Paul's Church, Englewood, a few weeks before, died suddenly while on a visit at Rockland Lake, New York.

I must not omit to notice here the death of a dear friend and earnest Churchman, Dr. William T. Mercer, who was called to his rest on Monday, June 28th, 1886. From early days Dr. Mercer had been a prominent and honored citizen of Newark, and he had served, as I have been told, for nearly forty years as Warden and Vestryman of Trinity Parish, in that city. Devoted to his Church and thoroughly trusted in every relation of life by all who knew him, he is especially entitled to my tender remembrance by the claims of a friendship which I felt myself honored in securing and maintaining to the last.

The Churches of the Diocese are, generally, prosperous; and although one may be found here and there which, from inherent and perhaps incurable weakness, has still a struggle to maintain its life, I sincerely believe that the proportion of these last to the whole number is less than in most Dioceses, and that we have much reason to be grateful for the general measure of prosperity which has been vouchsafed to us. Here, as in the Eastern and more densely settled portions of the country generally, advance of late years is shown more in the increase of communicants and the greater strength, financially and numerically of Parishes already established, than in the founding of new ones, but the gain is substantial and the progress marked. We have a right to expect, both as a result and also as an expression of our appreciation of this Divine blessing, that there should be a corresponding zeal and liberality manifested, by those who are its recipients, in the support of all missionary enterprise at home and abroad, as well as of our own Diocesan Institutions of charity. But truth as well as duty to yourselves compels me to say, however reluctantly, that our benefactions have not, as a rule, kept even pace with our blessings. I do not enlarge upon this, but I beg, with whatever earnestness I can command, to press it home to the reason and conscience of all my brethren clerical and lay.

Two of the Parishes in Jersey City, viz.: Grace Church and St. Paul's, whose rectorships were vacated, one by death and the other by removal, since our last annual Convention, have lately chosen new Rectors, whose work, I am happy to say, begins auspiciously and already gives promise of success in the future. In lower Jersey City there is a population of about 80,000 souls, whose spiritual needs are supplied by three of our Churches, with seating capacity for about seventeen or eighteen hundred persons. It seems but meagre provision for such a demand, yet, notwithstanding this, two of these churches have of late years rather retrograded than advanced, whilst another, St. Mark's, is a comparatively recent though most successful revival of a Parish which had some years ago ceased to exist. In respect of the population of our large American commercial and manufacturing cities, one is disposed to ask himself, in a half despairing way, whether the Church is always to remain blind to the new conditions under which she exists and does her work in this modern age. The changes of the Renaissance in literature, art and civil polity, which preceded and ushered in the religious upheavals of the Sixteenth Century, were scarcely greater, perhaps they were not so great, as those other changes, social and economic, which mark the times in which we live. Neither the Church of the cultured and wealthy classes, nor the Church of the poor and unrestful classes, will ever prove the solvent which is to fuse these two extremes into one harmonious whole. God's Church and Gospel are for rich and poor alike. His eternal law may be ignored for a time, but it cannot be silenced. The day of mere congregational Episcopacy, which is but another name for the day of fashionable churches and luxurious pews, of slovenly or of dainty services, and of congregations which are little better than Sunday religious clubs, is slowly passing away in the silent and scarcely noticed but resistless revolution, which is changing, not the face only, but the constitution and life of modern society. To meet these new conditions we need a new spirit and, to some extent, new methods. We need clergy self-denying and devoted, with tact to meet and deal with men, and with wisdom to influence them. We need, too, a godly and zealous laity, with sympathies that reach out beyond the contracted limits of Parish boundaries, and with a sense of responsibility as deep as their convictions are firmly rooted and their sympathies broad. There is a profound lesson for those who are able and willing to learn it, in the relation so distressingly unsatisfactory which modern religionism sustains to the restless and even the laboring classes of our great city populations to-day. It will be our wisdom and our grace if we learn the lesson in time; our folly and our sin if we refuse it until the night cometh, when men do not work, but dream.

It has been my custom in these annual addresses to give a resumé of our Parish and Missionary progress or decline; one so distinct in regard to the latter, that I have sometimes feared, considering our small area of Missionary territory, and the distinctly marked map published a few years since giving the position of each of the Mission stations of the Diocese, in that small and easily accessible territory, that I might weary your patience with needless detail on points with which you must be familiar. I shall be more brief in my notices this year.

St. Paul's Church, Hoboken, continues on its course of renewed prosperity. The congregation has more than doubled since the present Rector assumed spiritual charge; and it was my pleasure to ask God's blessing at his request last autumn on a fine new Rectory which has been built within the year and fully paid for. Since then, the Church building itself has been greatly improved, and adorned in its interior and made in every way more Church-like and convenient for its sacred uses.

The Church of the Holy Innocents, Hoboken, whose field is largely if not wholly among the laboring classes of that city, must find great convenience for its especial work in the large and striking Parish building which it has recently erected on one side of its Church grounds. Two of All Saints' Sisters now assist the Rector in his Parochial visitations and instructions among the poor, and it was with sincere pleasure that I welcomed them in the early Spring to the new field, in which they are already doing, as I have been told, very acceptable and efficient service.

The Church of the Holy Trinity, Hoboken, in its new school buildings, finds no more than the needed room, for the Parochial work which is carried on here, and at St. John's on the Hill, by its untiring Rector.

In Jersey City on the Heights, the old Parish of Christ Church, Claremont, has secured a fine lot for a new building, to be erected so soon as circumstances will permit. A wing for Sunday-school purposes is to be begun without delay. I confirmed an excellent class of twenty persons in this small Church on Easter-even.

St. John's Free Church, Jersey City, in adding another to its staff of clergy has enlarged its influence and work as testified to by the large number of persons, seventy-seven in all, who have been confirmed during the year.

St. Mark's Church, lower Jersey City, continues its career of prosperity, and the time must soon come, when the vigorous and united Parish will need a larger building to accommodate its steadily increasing congregation.

Christ Church, East Orange, has within the year, paid off five thousand dollars of its debt, leaving but a small and manageable residue to be disposed of. It has, at the same time, very materially increased the number of its sittings and is in every way in a prosperous condition.

Grace Church, Orange, has, by securing the services of an energetic assistant, enabled its Rector to organize an evening service, which has proved a great success, reaching as it does, a number of persons who had not before attended the services. It is greatly to be hoped, that the Parish will soon see its way open to an enlargement of the Church building.

The new Church of All Saints' Parish in the Valley, was opened for public worship, on the second Sunday after Easter. The congregation are to be congratulated on their success in the erection of this substantial building, in so short a time after the organization of the Parish.

The Parish of St. Mark's, Orange, has partially reconstructed its Church building within the year, adorning the interior and making it more convenient, and also building a new and commodious chancel, arranged for a vested choir of men and boys. These improvements, which have been carried out with much good taste, have been made at a cost of more than $25,000, and the Mother Church of the Oranges, with its mementos of Whittingham and Williams—names always sacred and cherished by its members—may congratulate itself on possessing a chancel, altar and reredos worthy of its memories of the past and, let us hope, fruitful also in lessons of reverentialness in worship for all time to come.

In Christ Church, Bloomfield, the congregation has outgrown the capacity of the present building. This Church has been much improved and beautified during the last two or three years, and now an effort is being made to enlarge the Church by the addition of transepts, at a cost of about $2,500. The effort will be successful.

St. Luke's Church, Montclair, collected at the offertory on the morning of Easter Day, the sum of $15,000 for a new Church building, to be placed, at some future day, on the very fine lot on the main street of the village, which was presented to the Parish one year ago by Mr. Fellowes. This large contribution places the future of the Church, humanly speaking, beyond peradventure. Already very strong, compared with its condition seven years ago, it should become at no distant day one of the most influential in the Diocese.

St. Paul's Church, Newark, by a last persistent effort of its Rector has cleared off the remainder of its indebtedness; and I had the great pleasure of consecrating it, after so many years of waiting, on the fourth Sunday after the Epiphany of the present year.

The Church of the Redeemer, Morristown, has been removed to its new site, which is all that its people could desire for both extent and convenience of location; and from this time forth, with its Rectory, Sunday-school and Guild rooms enters upon a new career with greatly improved equipments, and, we may well believe, a new sense of responsibility.

Few Church properties in the Diocese can compare, in beauty and convenience of situation, with that possessed by St. Peter's Parish, Morristown. It is really without qualification the commanding ecclesiastical site in all that growing and pleasant city. The old building, however cherished and venerable, was quite too small for the present needs and future possibilities of the Church, and besides was not worthy, in its architectural features, of the place which it had a traditional right to hold in the community. I am sure we are all rejoiced to know that the zealous and long-continued efforts of its Rector are about to be rewarded, and that, by another year, a new and elegant structure will supply the greater room that is needed by the congregation, and also make possible whatever may be desired in the way of a more impressive and dignified rendering of the services.

I must not forget to notice the removal of the indebtedness from Grace Church, Rutherford, on Easter Day, or the general prosperity of that lately depressed Parish, which now is getting ready to enlarge the old Church or else build a new one; or the large and convenient building, lately erected by St. Stephen's Church, Newark, for the use of its Sunday-school and Guilds. This last Parish is strengthening gradually and permanently with the new growth of the portion of the city in which it is situated.

Few Parishes in our Diocese have shown more constant and permanent growth and improvement than Christ Church, Hackensack. A small but attractive Church building in a village of inconsiderable size did not furnish a promising outlook, in the first instance, for the establishment of our services. Yet here in a large, grassy and well-shaded lot in the centre of the village, is a commodious brick Rectory, together with a beautiful and very convenient Guild room, supplied with every appliance needed for Parish work. The musical service in this Church has always been especially attractive to me, because congregational and eminently devotional. The new vested choir, lately introduced, does not detract from but rather adds to these characteristics, and I congratulate my good Brother, the Rector, on the fact that during the present year, as is believed, the Church will be enlarged and completed in accordance with his own long cherished wishes.

Christ Church, Harrison, is prosperous and constantly adding to its strength under the judicious management of the Rev. Dr. Potter, who is gradually and surely, as I believe, laying strong foundations in that growing part of Newark; while in the opposite direction, St. Matthew's German Church, under the Rev. Mr. Rockstroh, which has lately, through the liberal action of the Trustees, erected an excellent Sunday-school and Guild building in the rear of the Church, is beginning to retrieve the mistakes and ill-fortune of past years.

In the review of work accomplished I must not omit to notice the building purchased, and the work done for the Girls' Friendly Society by Trinity Church, Newark. I may also be pardoned, I am sure, for calling attention to still another institution, neither Parochial nor Diocesan, but yet wholly Churchly in its character and aims.

St. Hilda's School, Morristown, conducted by the Sisters of St. John the Baptist, was begun some years ago in a very modest and unpretentious way and has gradually grown into prominence as it deserved to do. It commends itself especially because of the excellent educational advantages it supplies to young ladies at a rate very much below that ordinarily charged in similar schools of any pretentions. The Sisters purchased about a year ago a valuable property in Morristown at the point on the outskirts of the city where the road to Mendham dips down towards the valley. The site is commanding, the air salubrious, and the view from the house and grounds is beautiful and extensive. No place within the Diocese offers more advantages than Morristown for such an institution.

Over against these and other instances which might be mentioned of advance and improvement, must be set an instance of misfortune which has awakened my warmest sympathy. I refer to the destruction by fire of the beautiful little stone Church at Norwood, on the Northern New Jersey Railroad. My visitation of the Parish had been fixed for the twentieth Sunday after Trinity, November 7th, of last year. On the afternoon of that day, after officiating at the Church in Tenafly, I drove over the six or seven miles of road to Norwood, and found instead of the graceful and architecturally admirable sanctuary which had so often gladdened me with a look of sacred welcome from the midst of its surrounding trees, only bare and disfigured walls, still smoking from the fire which had destroyed the Church the night before with everything which it contained. Nothing belonging to the sacred edifice was saved. The fine organ, the stone altar with its cross, the silver communion service, lecturn, pulpit, vestments all were destroyed by the resistless flames.

My regret was something more than a mere sentiment, for the Church folk at Norwood are a brave and zealous little flock. Their Church must have cost them at the least eight thousand dollars; and, though few in number, they had asked no help from the Diocese in carrying on the services. On the contrary, they were engaged at the very time the fire occurred in the erection of a new stone Rectory. Such a case should awaken every Churchman's sympathy. An appeal was made in their behalf through the Church Record, and is to-day renewed. The Catholicity which is more than a name, which fulfills St. Paul's delineation of the one visible and mystical Body, in which if one member suffer all the members suffer with it or one member be honored all the members rejoice with it, may exist, though for a time the name be wanting; or it may not exist, though for a long time the name be conceded. I could wish, and I dare say our Norwood brethren wish with me, that we had never lost the name, and that we had always retained the spirit also.

CHANGE OF NAME OF THE DIOCESE.

In accordance with the tenor of instructions contained in two resolutions framed by this Convention one year ago after full discussion, viz.: that "a change of name of this Diocese is desirable," and "that the General Convention be requested to give its consent to a change of the name of this Diocese from Northern New Jersey to Newark, and that the Deputies to the next General Convention be instructed to present this action to both Houses of that body," the said legislative action and request were presented to the House of Clerical and Lay Deputies, and were acted upon after due consideration and a report by the appropriate Committee.

The following is a copy of the official notice sent to me after the final and unanimous action of the House of Bishops by the Rev. Secretary of that House:

COPY FROM MINUTES.

In General Convention, Chicago, Illinois, 8th day of the session, Oct. 14th, 1886.

Message 18 from House of Deputies:

Resolved, The House of Bishops concurring, that the consent of this Convention is hereby granted to the Diocese of Northern New Jersey to change its name to that of the Diocese of Newark.

Resolved, The House of Bishops concurring, that as soon as the Secretary of the House of Bishops and of the House of Deputies, respectively, shall be duly certified that such change has been made, the said Diocese of Northern New Jersey shall be known and recognized by the General Convention as the Diocese of Newark."

It remains, therefore, for the Convention to complete its action and to give the notice referred to in the above extract from the minutes of the House of Bishops.

The action of the House of Deputies appears to have been unanimous. In the House of Bishops, instead of the usual feeble vote on occasions when common consent is given rather by the absence of a negative than the presence of a positive expression of opinion, the vote was unusually full and hearty. I have no doubt that there was general acquiescence in the wisdom and courage of this return to primitive and universal usage in the Church; a usage founded, evidently, not upon arbitrary enactment, but upon spontaneous and general consent, and also upon that inevitable law of convenience and necessity which will make itself felt here also when Dioceses shall be so multiplied with the increase of the Church in numbers in the larger States, that the awkward system of nomenclature which has ruled in the past, being no longer possible, will be compelled to yield to one less confusing, more simple and capable of being indefinitely applied.

In anticipation of a difficulty which might present itself with regard to the effect which such change of name would have upon the incorporated Diocese, with its incorporated organizations and trusteeships holding moneys and properties, given and devised for certain purposes and uses, an act was prepared which, after having passed the two Houses of the State Legislature, was approved by the Governor in April of the present year. This act makes legal provision for all the above named contingencies, and is entitled as follows:

"A Supplement to the Act entitled, 'An Act to incorporate Trustees of Religious Societies,' approved April ninth, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-five, to authorize Dioceses to change their corporate name, and the corporate name of Trustees chosen by them, and to secure the property, trusts, franchises and obligations of said corporations, notwithstanding such change of name."

I need hardly say that the passage of this act is and was meant to be only of an enabling character, and leaves the Convention free as it was before to act under the guidance of its own unbiased judgment.

HOSPITALS.

The Hospitals of the Diocese, admirable institutions as they have proved themselves to be, necessarily involve a great deal of care and anxiety, on the part of the Bishop and others, upon whom the responsibility for their maintenance and improvement so largely devolves. It is of the essence of all our Church charities, that, being religious and not secular, or the outgrowth of merely philanthropic feeling, they represent in their conduct and support, as in their original creation, the sympathetic interest, as well as the religious principles and life of God's people. A Hospital may be established, of course, on a different basis. It may owe its existence to motives of simple philanthropy, or, as is often the case, of public convenience; and it may be administered with all the skill and mastery of detail which make such institutions, in these modern days, like a piece of the most exquisitely finished machinery. A Church hospital, on the other hand, is a religious Charity. It is the work of Christ's Church. Like the Master, it seeks to reach the soul through healing of the body. The world may look with more or less of interest on it as an experiment. We cannot be lookers on. Many a good-natured or tender-hearted man may have given a denarius to the lame beggar at the temple gate, and then have paused to look on curiously when Peter, with another kind of gift, took him by the hand, and bade him rise up and walk. But John who stood by Peter's side, could not have looked on curiously. The love and power which God gave to Peter, He gave to John also. It was one life that stirred in both, a life of which the lookers-on knew nothing. We cannot regard the Church's charities with merely curious, much less with uninterested or unfriendly eyes, as they do their appointed work; and the work they do is of that life which we share with those who do it, and which they do not share who care nothing for a Christian and Churchly Charity.

Nothing could have given me more pleasure, than the evidence which has come to me during the past year, that our people, outside as well as inside of Newark, are practically of one mind on this subject, as the interest in the hospitals has spread from Parish to Parish, and generous gifts and contributions have come in from even the remotest corners of the Diocese. It only remains to recognize this interest, which we do most cheerfully, and to suggest some organic plan by which the tie that binds Diocese and Hospitals together may become vital and permanent.

Assigning, for convenience sake, each hospital to the present Convocational system with which it is associated, the Hospital of St. Barnabas with that of Newark, and Christ Hospital with that of Jersey City, I suggest and recommend the following plan, subject to modifications, if circumstances and further deliberation, should make them necessary or desirable.

Let each Parish, under the direction of its Rector, organize within itself an association, to be known as the Hospital Guild* of such Parish, and let those who compose this Guild, male or female, or both, be such persons as feel an especial interest in Church and charitable work. These Guilds should have as little machinery as possible, and should be distinct and by themselves, and not be chapters or subdivisions of any larger and more comprehensive Parish organization.

The object of each Parish Hospital Guild should be to obtain information of our hospital work, and to disseminate interest in it throughout the congregation. It should exact from its members a fixed fee, one dollar or upwards, each year, as the circumstances of the Guild warranted; and should also secure annual subscriptions and donations from such parishioners as did not wish to become active members of the Guild. At the end of the year the Guild would transmit to the Treasurer of the Hospital the amount collected, to be devoted exclusively to the permanent endowment of a bed to be named after the Parish, while each year every Parish so contributing should be entitled to the use of a bed for a time proportioned to its contribution. Whenever the gifts of a Parish amounted to $3,000, whether the generosity of some well-to-do and generous parishioner enabled it to bring about the result in one year, or the more painstaking savings of poorer people required even twenty or more years to accomplish it, the Parish would control the bed, which would be known by the Parish name. But pending such process of accomplishment the Parish would be entitled to the use of a bed for a time proportioned to the amount of money contributed. Thus the right to one month's occupancy, year by year, would be acquired by the payment of $250, and two months by $500; considered not as sums terminating with the original payment, but as contributions towards a fixed endowment which was to be eventually completed. If every Parish in the Convocation of Newark should endow a bed, one-half the supply of the Hospital of St. Barnabas would be left undisturbed for its city work. But should that day arrive the dimensions of the Hospital would no doubt be increased to meet the increased demands upon it. The Parish Guilds could arrange, as might be deemed best, for a central organization and an anniversary reunion and religious services at the Hospitals.

*The intention was, when this address was written and delivered, to make this system of Parochial Guilds external to Newark and Jersey City, where strong and very successful organizations have existed for a long time, and should not be imperilled by new plans, which might result in their weakening or disruption. This intention, however, was not expressed, and it must be left to the wisdom and consideration of those who may carry out the proposed plan to guard carefully the integrity of these old and long-time organizations.

I lay this plan before you, brethren of the Convention, inviting in behalf of it your favorable consideration. There are few Dioceses which are not strengthened by having such centres of unity around which to gather and conserve the common sympathies and interests. But what all find useful is doubly needed in a Diocese like ours, which is, as all know, not self-centered, but with a Church population partly indigenous and partly transplanted; a result of the centrifugal social and economic forces of the great city which lies over against our Eastern border. Such a work as I propose would, if carried out, be a contribution towards cohesion, unification, and strength. Each Parish Hospital Guild would, in a word, be a buttress to sustain and uphold the walls of our Diocesan Zion.

ARTHURS' HOME.

The Arthur's Home for Boys would also grow into the dimensions and power of a Diocesan charity, taking care of life in its blossom and consecrating it to God and all holy fruitage to His glory, were the institutional spirit more alive with us than it is. That such institutions are the hand with which the Church—Christ's body mystical—should work, as all healings and bodily restorations were a chief work of Christ Himself on earth, is one of my most deeply rooted convictions.

AGED AND INFIRM CLERGY FUND.

I call your attention to the increased contributions to our Diocesan Aged and Infirm Clergy Fund which, during the past year, has drawn support from nearly double the number of Parishes that gave to it the preceding year. The fund now amounts to nearly twenty thousand dollars. When it shall reach the sum of thirty thousand dollars any clergyman who has passed the sixty-fifth year of his age, and belongs to the Diocese, can claim a right to share in its benefits. I recommend that each Parish make an annual collection for this fund, on some one day to be devoted to that especial purpose.

DOMESTIC AND FOREIGN MISSIONS.

Let me press upon you the claims of our Domestic and Foreign Missionary field. Undoubtedly the progress made in these departments of work is, and must necessarily be, less than our impatience demands; nevertheless our duty remains the same, and each point occupied is a point gained. For growth and progress in all work, general, special or Parochial, everything depends ultimately on the breadth, sympathy and zeal of the Parochial clergy. No missionary system, for instance, can accomplish its legitimate measure of success when support is either partially withheld or even grudgingly bestowed. I have been told that in China and Japan each considerable Christian body at work is in advance of us in the amount contributed to missionary enterprise. This, if true, is not a creditable record for us. Meanwhile, I am advised that twenty thousand dollars, over and above the ordinary receipts for this month, are needed to pay our Missionaries in the Domestic field, and I cordially endorse the Secretary's appeal that a special effort be made at once to meet this deficiency.

AMERICAN CHURCH BUILDING FUND COMMISSION.

The American Church Building Fund Commission is another agency of the general Church; one which, during the last few months has awakened into new life, and is setting out at last in earnest to do its work. The Commission seeks to obtain as large a capital as possible, of which capital a part, together with all the interest from investments, is loaned to feeble Parishes to aid them in the erection of Churches. Between one and two hundred Churches have already received such aid from the Commission, whose rate of interest at six per cent., however high it may seem in the East, is very helpful in the West, where interest on money loaned is often charged at the rate of ten, twelve, and even fifteen per cent. The two Commissioners of this Diocese are the Rev. Dr. A. Schuyler and Mr. Henry Hayes. As Chairman of the Executive Committee, I hope that my own Diocese will do its duty. The Fund, which had only reached $68,000 at the end of six years, is now over $75,000 in amount. There is little doubt that as a result of the earnest appeals made by the Hon. L. Bradford Prince, who has undertaken to present its claims before the Church, the close of the year will see the entire amount advanced to double the sum in hand six months ago. Three religious bodies, all less wealthy, perhaps, although much more numerous than ours, have each a fund amounting to $1,000,000 for Church building purposes. There are many things, wholesome, sound and practical, which we priests and people might learn from these brethren, whose loyalty and zeal in behalf of their own couse deserve our admiration.

SPIRITUAL CARE OF IMMIGRANTS.

Still another work of the general Church, in which I am especially interested, is the effort she is making to secure pastoral care for immigrants belonging to the Church and removing from abroad, and especially from the British Isles and Colonies, to this country. Last yeaf the number of English people arriving directly from English ports was nearly 70,000. It is not possible to say, with entire accuracy, what proportion of these people were members of the Church of England, but, assuming the ratio of nearly two-thirds of the whole, which recent investigations and tests seem to justify, it may be fairly concluded that more than 40,000 Church people were added last year to our population; to be retained by us and cared for and built up spiritually, or else to be neglected and treated as of no value or consequence, and left to fall off into indifference and unbelief, and not infrequently, into Socialism and Communism.

That large numbers of English working people have a strong traditional love of the Church, I know from personal and pastoral experience. My first work done as a Deacon and Missionary was among English miners in Pennsylvania, where a Church, whose members were all English, remains to-day as a fruit of my first work as a clergyman, and where, had I remained, I could have built as many more as I could have found time to labor for; and the strongest Mission Church in the Diocese to-day comes from seed sown by me when I had lost my youth, but not either my sympathy or my aptitudes. English people are in this Diocese by thousands. They belong to us. They should be visited and cared for by our clergy; and I am thankful to know that many of them are thus cared for. As a people they are somewhat peculiar. They require attention; and no doubt have certain strong prejudices; but I have found them, as a rule, honest, reliable and faithful. In certain localities where they are found in groups work among them is more easy. But let no one say, because when sought out they are often found already allied to another religious body, that they did not originally care for the Church. Many of them did care for it; but the Church left them alone, and the other religious body sought them out; and it is only human nature to be found by those who seek us.

An address like this, referring as it does with more or less detail to topics, Diocesan or general, which have lately occupied the attention of Churchmen, could hardly close without some notice, however brief, of the paper issued by the Bishops in council in relation to Christian unity, and addressed to other Christian bodies. Of the value of such an appeal in behalf of re-union, as an expression of our own feelings and convictions, and as an invitation to others to friendly conference, no one can entertain a doubt; nevertheless, I confess myself less sanguine than many of my brethren of any practical result to follow in our day leading to or tending to hasten the restoration of that unity whose loss we so greatly deplore; for unity is a substantive thing, not a mere abstract principle. In Christian terminology it is the form of expression by which Christians have always signified a certain condition of that Visible Body to which Christ has confided His ministry and sacraments, and which He has made the depository of His truth to the end of the world. How, then, can men really desire unity if they do not believe in the necessity of that by which it is through Divine appointments, in the first instance expressed, and in the last conserved? It is, in my humble judgment, the crucial test of our sanctified loyalty to Christ in these days of division and estrangement, that we shall know, as Churchmen, how to combine inflexible loyalty to all divine Institutions with the charity that never faileth. Meanwhile, it is for us, not in self-gratulation or conceit, much less in arrogance, but in the spirit of a very modest thankfulness for what God has given us in possession, to pray continually Christ's own prayer for unity: for who can fail to see in that petition, as well as in the time and circumstances of its offering, the warning of God Himself throughout the ages, against the crowning error and evil of these modern days.

DIOCESAN MISSIONS.

The Missionary work of the Diocese is in good condition. The Mission at Bayonne, which was resigned by Mr. Pickslay in the autumn of last year, is now in charge of the Rev. O. Valentine, who is carrying on with zeal and success the self-denying and painstaking work of his predecessor. Bayonne is in some respects the most encouraging of all our stations. The people are zealous, thoroughly united and devoted to the Church. The attendance at the services is very good, and the Mission numbers 80 communicants. Mr. Valentine is engaged in an effort to purchase a valuable lot 90x160 feet, in a central situation, for the new church, and has already secured nearly $1,500 towards that end. There is some reason to expect that in the course of two or three years Bayonne may resume its position as a Parish and be self-supporting. Calvary Church, Pamrapo, has lately been placed under his charge. A Mission School in connection with this work is carried on at Centreville, where large numbers of persons reside who are employed during the day at the neighboring oil works and at the docks, where the oil is shipped to foreign ports in large quantities.

The Rev. T. J. Denniston, having at my suggestion, given up his charge of the Mission at the Church of the Ascension, Jersey City Heights, that difficult and discouraging field, together with a new Mission, whose care I had accepted from the hands of its originator, the Rev. Rector of Trinity Church, Hoboken, was given into the charge of the Rev. James Cameron, who resigned his Parishes at Edgewater and Ridgefield about Easter of the present year in order to accept it. I need not enlarge upon the character of this Mission ground on the hill. It will tax the patience of anyone who hopes to accomplish results speedily. Nevertheless, the population is large and intelligent and sufficiently compact; and a number of church people are residents in the neighborhood. I have much confidence that Mr. Cameron will make as much of it as anyone can, and I look for a better showing in one year from this time, than we have had since the purchase of the property and establishment of the Mission twelve years ago. At Weehawken, a good lot is to be bought and a small church erected on it to serve eventually as a school house. It is thought by those who are most directly interested, that the prospects of the work are such as to fully warrant the expenditure.

At Arlington, from which our services were withdrawn some eight or nine years ago unfortunately, as the Arlington people say, Mission work has been actively and energetically resumed. An excellent lot was purchased last summer, and a small church is now in process of erection. The site selected is very central, and we have undoubtedly obtained a valuable property for a small outlay. This chapel will be finished, if the means are supplied, by mid-summer. The people at Arlington are far from being wealthy, but they are very much in earnest, and I bespeak for them the generous assistance of their fellow-churchmen. The Missionary, the Rev. Mr. Keller, has done faithful and acceptable work here; and I would also make public acknowledgment of my obligations to the Rev. Mr. Clayton, of Rutherford, for valuable and indispensable services rendered, especially at the inception of the new work. A count, carefully made, of the persons in attendance on the services in all weather at the school house for four or five months, reaching through this winter and early spring, made up an average of forty-four adults. This is a very good outcome of a few months' work.

The Church at Stanhope has secured an additional piece of ground adjoining its original lot, and now possesses a property bounded by two streets, with a principal frontage of about 175 feet. The congregation continues compact and united under the Rev. Mr. Joraleman.

At Washington services are still maintained by a lay-reader; but it is proposed as soon as a suitable man can be found, to place the Mission, together with the Phillipsburg Church, under the charge of a Priest, assisted by a lay-reader. A convenient and picturesque Church has been built, on which there is a debt of $1,200, which is a personal liability. Two lots have been sold for $950, and the mortgage debt reduced by that amount. So that at present we have a house which is rented; a Church, with a seating capacity of about 160; a lot, with a frontage of two hundred or more feet on a built-up street, and a debt, for which the Diocese is not liable, of about $2,700. The Church at Phillipsburg is in good condition, with a congregation which ranges from sixty to seventy persons.

The condition of the Missions at Belvidere and Knowlton, so far as attendance on the services is concerned, remains about as it has been through many past years. At Belvidere where there is a good church and parsonage, an old mortgage claim which, with accruing interest, amounted to over $2,000, was revived last winter. The Missionary and Congregation had some reason to suppose that the claim had been abandoned by its owner. However, when it was renewed and payment pressed, the little congregation, with the help of a few summer visitors who were "interested," raised $700; and other friends in the Diocese contributed nearly $350 more. So that the owner of the mortgage consenting to accept $1,055 for his claim with costs, the entire liability was cancelled and the Parish is now, for the first time free from debt, and in unquestioned possession of a good property on the public square and in the best portion of the town.

The number of persons confirmed in the Missions during the year was sixty-six, which together with five in the Hospital and twenty in Trinity Church, Totowa, makes ninety-one confirmed in all, as a fruit of the steady Missionary work of the Diocese during the year.

Commending you and your faithful labors to the favor of God, the Father, Son and Holy Ghost, I am, Brethren of the Clergy and Laity, affectionately your Bishop,

THOMAS A. STARKEY.

Reports.

I have received the following reports from the Reverends the Deans of the two Convocations:

CONVOCATION OF NEWARK.

To the Right Reverend the Bishop of the Diocese:

I would respectfully report that I visited Stanhope, Hackettstown, Washington and Phillipsburgh during the early part of the Conventional year. Each of these Stations, Hackettstown excepted, were doing well. Rev. Percy J. Robottom resigned the mission of St. Luke's, Phillipsburgh, and the place has been supplied by a Priest, who reports favorably in regard to services. The Rev. Mr. Douglas has been instrumental in clearing the mortgage from the property of the Church at Belvidere. The corner stone of St. Peter's Church, Washington, was laid on July 5. The Clergy of the Diocese and members of the Laymen's Association were invited to be present. Addresses were made by several of the Clergy and Laymen present. The Church has since been furnished and occupied, about one-half of its cost raised, and arrangements made to pay the remainder. The property at Hackettstown has been sold, as directed by the Board of Missions, and the money realized is to be invested for the benefit of this Station. Stanhope is doing well. The work at Mendham, where the congregation is merely a summer one, is progressing as usual. Rev. Jos. H. Smith is doing his work faithfully in Hamburgh and Vernon. The congregation of St. Phillip's, Newark, is under charge of Rev. T. G. Harper, who reports favorably in regard to his work. The Alms House Mission continues, under the Society, to minister to the inmates of that institution.

Sickness has prevented me from giving as much attention to Mission work during the past six months as I desired, but reports from all parts of the field are very favorable.

All of which is respectfully submitted,

J. NICHOLAS STANSBURY,

Dean.

CONVOCATION OF JERSEY CITY.

To the Right Reverend the Bishop of the Diocese:

In the Convocation of Jersey City the missionary work has held its own, and in some places looks brighter than it did a year ago.

At Pompton the services are maintained by the Rev. Joseph H. Smith, who is also missionary at Hamburgh, in the Convocation of Newark. He has had a member of the Junior class in the Seminary as an assistant, who has done very efficient work. But little can be looked for in Pompton, in the face of a diminishing population.

St. Mary's, Haledon, since the departure for England of the Rev. Mr. Hall, last September, has been under the care of the Rev. Frederic Greaves, of Paterson. He has been assisted by a candidate for orders, whose services, however, he has just now lost, as he is about being made a Deacon. Mr. Greaves has secured a temporary assistant until some permanent arrangement can be made.

In St. John's, Bayonne, we have one of the most encouraging missions in the Diocese. The Priest in charge has just secured a large lot in a desirable location for the future group of Parish buildings, and feels that within a very few years a large and self-supporting Parish must be the result of faithful work in this rapidly growing neighborhood. The whole outlook in this mission is full of promise.

In the Church of the Ascension, Jersey City, a change has been made in the missionary, the Rev. John A. Denniston retiring, and the Rev. James Cameron being appointed. In connection with the Church of the Ascension, a new mission, at Weehawken, has been taken in charge by the Board. Mr. Cameron will serve in these two places, and it is hoped that light is at length beginning to shine upon the dark problem that we have tried to solve for so many years.

At the Good Shepherd Mission, Fort Lee, the Sunday afternoon services have been regularly held, but the attendance has not been as good as formerly, owing to "lack of week-day visiting," and to "company which kept people from going to Church." The mission has lost two prominent families by removal—a loss it can illy afford. The Rev. Mr. Denniston has been going to Fort Lee on Sunday afternoons for the past year, but at Easter this arrangement was discontinued.

At Arlington the foundation of a chapel has been laid, to cost about $2,000. On this there is a debt of about $400 remaining. The Rev. John Keller, who has just been ordained Priest, has been successful in establishing a very promising condition of affairs in this mission.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

WM. WELLES HOLLEY,

MAY, 1887. Dean.

Appendix I.

REPORT OF THE BOARD OF MISSIONS.

To the Convention of Northern New Jersey:

The Board of Missions begins this, its annual report, with expressions of thanksgiving to Almighty God for the many manifestations of marked interest in His work shown by His people in different parts of this Diocese. Seldom have we witnessed so many evidences of zeal and devotion as we are privileged to report as a portion of the missionary record of the past year.

In Belvidere the Church property, which has been burdened by a mortgaged debt for many years, amounting in principal and interest to about $2,800, has been cleared. An arrangement was made with the creditor whereby the interest was remitted and the principal paid. The Rev. Mr. Douglas, minister in charge, aided by the generous giving of his own people and his brethren of the clergy, raised nearly $1,100 for this purpose. There is not now a dollar of indebtedness upon the entire property. The benefits arising from this are many. Belvidere is fast becoming popular as a place of summer resort. The property is centrally located, facing upon a public square. In its present unencumbered condition it is fully equipped to meet the increasing needs.

In Washington a pretty and convenient Church building, cruciform after the Greek style and frame in structure, has been erected at a total cost of $2,500. One-half of this has been raised and expended, $1,000 of it within the past Conventional year. The remaining half is not held against the church. It is loaned by a gentleman, a friend to the work, to those specially interested in this mission. The work here is at present under the charge of Mr. G. H. Young, lay reader, acting under the personal direction of the Bishop.

In Arlington the mission work began years ago, and for various reasons abandoned, has been revived and with energy and determination. This little flock, under the immediate charge of the Rev. John Keller, and under the general oversight and direction of the Rev. Mr. Clayton, has purchased valuable lots, has laid the foundation of a new church, has purchased the timber necessary for its erection and only needs $1,000 more to complete their work. About $1,200 in money has been contributed up to this time. The congregations have been very good, the average being about 45.

At Bayonne pastor and people have been zealously at work. It has been thought best to move the Church and parish building nearer to the more populous part of the parish. To this end eligible lots have been secured and $1,200 raised by the Rev. Mr. Valentine. A work so well and substantially begun will undoubtedly be brought to a successful completion. The attendance here, too, is excellent; the average being about 50; the number of communicants being 80.

The problem at the Church of the Ascension, Jersey City Heights, so perplexing to the Board for so many years, seems now in a fair way to be solved. The Rev. J. A. Denniston has left, and the Rev. James Cameron, on the Bishop's appointment, has succeeded him. Since Mr. Cameron's assumption of the work the congregations have increased greatly and the offerings have been most satisfactory. The missionary is hopeful of making this work self-supporting in the course of a few years.

At Weehawken the work resigned into the Bishop's hands by the Rev. Geo. C. Houghton has been taken up, and is now being carried on by the Rev. Mr. Cameron in connection with his work at the Church of the Ascension. This mission pledges and pays to its missionary rector $600 a year. It has a Sunday-school numbering 195. The average attendance at its afternoon, its only Sunday service, is 50. During the past year $1,345 has been raised. Of this about $900 was towards the church building fund. This fund now amounts to $1,700, all raised, and without any extraordinary efforts, in the mission alone. It is proposed by those interested in this work to purchase four lots at a cost of $4,000, to erect a chapel which, when completed and furnished, will cost $4.000 more, thus making a total of $8,000. With the amount on hand, and with that which it is believed can be raised, only $2,500 will remain unpaid when the chapel is ready for use.

At Stanhope the work is being well and faithfully done by the Rev. Mr. Joralemon. The services are crisp and bright and the outlook encouraging.

Phillipsburg at the present time is under the charge of the Bishop, the missionary, the Rev. Mr. Robottom, having resigned and removed to the Diocese of Central Pennsylvania. The Bishop is seeing to the continuance of services, a priest going there under his direction.

Fort Lee has been without service since Easter. Mr. Ahrens, the faithful lay reader for so long a time, feeling unable to give the work his time and attention any longer.

Pamrapo, which has been served by the Rev. Mr. Allen for some few years past, has been given up by him and is now under the care and supervision of the Rev. Mr. Valentine, of Bayonne.

The property at Hope, besides the church, consists of a small house and an endowment of a little over $2,000, which the late vestry has placed in the hands of the authorities of the Diocese, and which is slowly accumulating.

At Mendham, the property adjoining the Church has been purchased for Rectory purposes, at a cost of $3,500, upon which $1,000 has been paid. This property is in the hands of the Trustees of the Episcopal Fund.

Thus do we see that by the energy of the clergy of the missions, and by the generous giving of their people, and of other friends among the faithful, the sum of $5,400 has been raised and expended, or will soon be expended as specials upon the missionary plant of the Church in the diocese, increasing the value of her property to just this extent.

Perhaps this large, this unprecedented amount, raised by great exertion and often at great sacrifice, for these special objects, may account to some extent for the falling off of those contributions for Diocesan missions which pass through the hands of the Treasurer, and which are used in the payment of the Missionaries' salaries.

These contributions are nearly $1,000 less than last year. This means a great deal. This means, that the missionaries who are doing such excellent work in often such discouraging fields, are either in part unpaid, or that they have been paid with borrowed money. This means that the Treasurer has had an unnecessary load of perplexity placed upon him.

And this means, that brethren in stronger places, who are in honor bound to support their brethren in weaker places, have either neglected their trust, or have diverted to other channels that which should have gone to the support of hard working and self-sacrificing men, who are working so devotedly in the weak places of this our Zion.

In addition to these encouraging statements of special amounts raised for special purposes, we report the sale of two lots of the Washington property for $950. The sale of these lots leaves us 250 ft. fronting on Broad Street, with a house that could not be duplicated for $4,500, and a mortgaged debt of only $1,800

The report of the Treasurer herewith offered will show the details of the receipts and appropriations. We give here a summary:

The number of regular communicants is now larger than ever before. The Parish is united and harmonious, expenses are cheerfully met, the grounds about the Church are well kept, and all the Church property is in good condition.

Besides raising here and in the vicinity, for this object, $700.00, two furnaces have been put in the Church, and paid for by this handful of devoted people. Laus Deo.

THE REV. JAS. O. DRUMM, RECTOR.

Families, 22; individuals, 65; baptisms, infants, 4; marriages, 2; burials, 1; Divine Service: every Sunday, and on greater festivals; Holy Communion: public, monthly; catechising: number of times, each Sunday; Sunday-school: teachers, 4; average attendance of children, 15.

On the 6th of last November our beautiful Church was burned with its entire contents. A new Church and Sunday-school chapel are now being erected. During the winter the services have been held in a private parlor and have been well attended. A very handsome Rectory has been built since last September, which adds much to the comfort of the Rector's family, and greatly enhances the attractions of this model little Parish. Our financial affairs are so unsettled no report can be made.

ORANGE, ALL SAINT'S CHURCH.

THE REV. WILLIAM RICHMOND, S. T. B., RECTOR.

Families (definitely connected), 130; baptisms (adults, 1; children, 45), 46; communicants, 242; marriage, 1; burials, 13; Divine Service: Sundays, 181; Holy Days, 99; other days, 562; total, 842; Holy Communion: public, 99; private, 5; catechising (in Church), 13; Sunday-school: teachers, 17; pupils, 226; all sittings free.

OFFERINGS—Communion alms (not otherwise reported), $1,785.25; for current expenses, including Rector's salary, $3,115.47; for increase and improvement of Church property, $8,419.84; for miscellaneous purposes, $2,750.37. Total, $16,050.93.

The financial system of the Parish (for which see report of 1886) makes strict classification impracticable. During the year improvements have been made in the Rectory and its grounds at an expense of about $1,000. So much of the new stone Church as will be necessary for years to come has been completed and furnished at a total cost of about $30,000, without the necessity of a mortgage, and was opened for use on the second Sunday after Easter, with a vested choir of thirty-nine voices. The total offerings of the congregation in the two years and one month of Parochial existence have been $38,780.24. The small building used as a Parish Church until April 24, and now as a chapel, was built some years ago almost entirely at the expense of persons now members of the Parish, but on land given by one of them for the purpose of a Mission to St. Mark's, the corporation of which Parish, so far as the Rector of All Saint's is aware, still retains its hold on the title.

ORANGE, GRACE CHURCH.

THE REV. A. SCHUYLER, D. D., RECTOR.

Total $11,141.26.

The above report is exclusive of woman's missionary work in the Parish —the two societies, the "Parish Association" and the "Daughters of the Church." The former has given $1,313.39, including $161 to scholarships in China, Japan and Mexico; and the latter $650.93, the bulk of both sums representing the value of Missionary boxes. These make the total offerings of the Parish for the year $13,205.58. All the seats except those reserved as free are rented and a demand exists for more. Since the first of January the Parish has had an Assistant Minister. With his help a Sunday night people's service was inaugurated at Septuagesima with free seats and free will offerings, looking to a Mission work in the immediate neighborhood of the Church. The attendance has been encouraging, and chiefly of a new congregation. The evening offertory for two months showed an aggregate of $140.

During the past year a new chancel, choir, and vestry rooms have been built, and important changes made in the Church edifice. A window (the gift of a parishioner) has been placed in the chancel in memory of the first Rector, Bishop Whittingham, and an altar and screen erected in memory of the late Rector, Dr. Williams. A mortgage for $15,000 was placed on property belonging to the Church, not the Church edifice nor the Rectory.

PASSAIC, ST. JOHN'S CHURCH.

THE REV. WMS. HOWLAND, RECTOR.

Families and parts of families, 110; baptisms, infants, 16; confirmed, 5; communicants: admitted, 7; added by removal, 21; lost by removal, 10; present number, 190; marriages, 3; burials, 5; Divine Service: Sundays (including Sunday-school services, conducted by the Rector), 142; Holy Days, 25; other days, 33; total, 200; Holy Communion: public, 19: private, 3; catechising: number of times, at length, monthly, with frequent brief catechisings; Sunday-school: teachers, 12; pupils, about 175; average attendance of children, about 100; number of free sittings, 30.

Total, $2,635.41.

The Sunday-school, in addition to the above amount, has contributed $67.72 toward the support of the Church. The Parish organizations have done efficient work. The reason why the Church is not contributing more largely to Diocesan and general objects is because the resources of the Parish are taxed to the utmost in meeting the current expenses, liquidating old debts, and making needful repairs and improvements.

In the above statistics are included the returns for St. John's Chapel, a mission in People's Park. During part of the year the Rector has employed an assistant for this Mission, whom he has paid himself. The arrangement has not worked satisfactorily, and is discontinued. But in this district there is a fine field for mission work, which should be put in charge of the Diocesan Mission Board.

Since my last report a sweet toned bell has been placed in the gablet of the Church, and called the congregation together on Whitsunday last, the second anniversary of the opening of this edifice. The Parish Guild has largely increased in its membership, and its work. Two altar cloths of beautiful design (one embroidered by a parishioner), a fine surplice, fair linen cloths and an Agnus Dei, embroidered in England, for the central panel of the reredos (from a parishioner), are among the gifts by which the Parish has been enriched. A chalice and paten of elegant design and workmanship, costing $200, procured through the direct work of the children, was used for the first time on last Easter Day. An eligible lot on a beautiful avenue, near the Church, has been given for a Rectory by Mr. Stewart Hartshorne, the proprietor of "the Park." Designs and drawings for a commodious house have been presented by Mr. Gouverneur K. Haswell, who will superintend its construction. The work is to be commenced at once.

Appendix III.

LEGISLATION IN REGARD TO THE CHANGE OF THE NAME OF THE DIOCESE.

1. At the Annual Convention, held in Newark May 19, 1885, the following action was had:

On motion of Mr. William Prall, it was

Resolved, That a committee of seven be appointed, to report to the next Convention whether it would be expedient to instruct the Deputies to this next General Convention to ask consent to a change of name for this Diocese, and to suggest what name, in their judgment, would be fit and proper for this Diocese.

2. At the next Annual Convention held in Christ Church, East Orange, May 18, 1886, the above Committee, by its Chairman, the Rev. George M. Christian, offered the following report:

First, That a change of name is desirable.
Second, That they propose the name of Newark, instead of that of Northern New Jersey; and offer the following resolution:
Resolved, That the Deputies to the General Convention are hereby directed to obtain the consent of the General Convention to such change of name.

The Rev. F. B. Carter offered the following:

Resolved, That a change of the name of this Diocese is desirable.

Which was adopted, the ayes and nays being called for: Clergy, ayes 32, nays 7; Parishes, ayes 16, nays 7.

The Rev. Dr. Farrington then offered the following:

Resolved, That the General Convention be requested to give its consent to a change of the name of this Diocese from Northern New Jersey to Newark, and that the Deputies to the next General Convention be instructed to present this action to both Houses of that Body.

Adopted: Clergy, ayes 32, nays 2; Parishes, ayes 14, nays 4.

3. At the Annual Convention, held in Trinity Church, Newark, May 24, 1887, Mr. Alfred Mills, one of the Lay Deputies to the General Convention, reported that the Deputies had duly performed the duty intrusted to them by the last Diocesan Convention regarding the obtaining the consent of the General Convention to the change of name of the Diocese; and that the said General Convention had taken the following action (Journal of the General Convention, 1886, p. 41):

CHICAGO, EIGHTH DAY OF THE SESSION, Oct. 14, 1886.

MESSAGE No. 18.

The House of Deputies informs the House of Bishops that it has adopted the following resolutions, viz.:

Resolved, The House of Bishops concurring, That the consent of this Convention is hereby granted to the Diocese of Northern New Jersey to change its name to that of the Diocese of Newark.

Resolved, The House of Bishops concurring, That so soon as the Secretaries of the House of Bishops and of the House of Deputies, respectively, shall be duly certified that said change has been made, the said Diocese of Northern New Jersey shall be known and recognized by the General Convention as "The Diocese of Newark."

On motion of the Bishop of Albany, the House concurred in the foregoing resolutions, in Message No. 18, from the House of Deputies.

Mr. Mills also read the act of the Legislature of the State of New Jersey, legalizing the proposed change of name, as follows:

STATE OF NEW JERSEY.

A SUPPLEMENT to an act entitled "An act to incorporate trustees of religious societies," approved April ninth, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-five, to authorize dioceses to change their corporate name, and the corporate name of trustees chosen by them, and to secure the property trusts, franchises and obligations of said corporations, notwithstanding such change of name.

1. BE IT ENACTED by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That the convention of any diocese of the Protestant Episcopal Church in this State, already incorporated, or that shall become incorporated, may at any regular meeting thereof, by resolution, change the corporate name of said diocese, and may also, by resolution, change the corporate name of any or all boards of trustees by them selected, that have been or shall become incorporated; and such change of name shall take effect upon filing in the office of the Secretary of State a copy of said resolution, certified by the president and secretary of said convention, under their hands and seals, and acknowledged by them before a Master in Chancery.

2. And be it enacted, That from and after such change of name said corporations shall respectively hold, convey and administer, under and by their new name, all the property, estates, trusts, rights, privileges and franchises which they had under their former name, as fully and to the same intent, purposes and effect as if said name had not been changed.

3. And be it enacted, That from and after such change said corporations shall be and are hereby respectively fully invested with the power, by and under such new name, to receive, hold, convey and administer all estates, gifts, bequests, devises, conveyances and trusts to them given or made by their new name or any former name, as fully to all intents and purposes as if such name had not been changed and such estates, gifts, bequests, devises, conveyances and trusts had been to them given, devised or conveyed by their former name.

4. And be it enacted, That such change of name shall not impair any legal liability or obligation of or to said corporations, and that this act shall take effect immediately, Approved April 1st, 1887.

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,
Department of State.

I, Henry C. Kelsey, Secretary of State of the State of New Jersey, do hereby certify, that the foregoing is a true copy of an act passed by the Legislature of this State, and approved by the Governor the first day of April, A. D., 1887, as taken from and compared with the original, now on file in my office.

[L. S.] In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed my official seal, at Trenton, this fourth day of April, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-seven.

H. C. KELSEY, Sec'y of State.

Mr. Mills, after reading the report, offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That the name of this Diocese be and is hereby changed from "Northern New Jersey" to "Newark.".

Mr. Henry M. Oddie offered the following as a substitute for the above:

Resolved, That although the consent of the General Convention has been obtained to change the name of the Diocese from "Northern New Jersey" to that of "Newark," it is inexpedient that such change be made.

A vote by orders being called for on this substitute, it was lost by the following vote: Clergy, ayes 6, noes 43; Parishes, ayes 10, noes 28.

The vote being then taken on the original resolution of Mr. Mills, it was adopted.

So this Diocese is henceforth to be known as the Diocese of Newark.

The following resolutions, completing the act of the Convention changing the Canonical name of the Diocese, were offered by the Rev. William G. Farrington, D. D.:

1. Resolved, That the President and the Secretary of this Convention, execute in writing two certificates setting forth that the name of the Diocese of Northern New Jersey has been changed to the Diocese of Newark, and that the Secretary be instructed to forward one of such certificates to the Secretary of the House of Bishops, and the other to the Secretary of the House of Deputies of the General Convention.

2. WHEREAS, The Convention of the Diocese of Northern New Jersey has, by resolution passed on the 24th day of May, 1887, changed its Canonical name from "Northern New Jersey" to "Newark," and

WHEREAS, It is now desired to change its corporate name from "The Diocese of Northern New Jersey" to "The Diocese of Newark,"

Resolved, That the corporate name of the said Diocese be and the same is hereby changed from "The Diocese of Northern New Jersey" to "The Diocese of Newark."

Resolved, That a copy of the foregoing resolution be certified by the President and Secretary of this Convention under their hands and seals and acknowledged by them before a Master in Chancery, and the said certificate be filed in the office of the Secretary of State of the State of New Jersey.

3. Resolved, That in pursuance of the provisions of an Act of the Legislature of the State of New Jersey, approved April 1st, 1887, and entitled "A Supplement to the Act entitled, 'An Act to incorporate trustees of religious societies,' approved April 9th, 1875, to authorize dioceses to change their corporate name, and the corporate name of trustees chosen by them, and to secure the property, trusts, franchises and obligations of said corporations, notwithstanding such change of name," the name of the corporation heretofore known as "The Trustees of the Episcopal Fund of the Diocese of Northern New Jersey," is hereby changed to "The Trustees of the Episcopal Fund of the Diocese of Newark."

Resolved, That a copy of the foregoing resolution be certified by the President and Secretary of this Convention, under their hands and seals, and acknowledged by them before a Master in Chancery, and the said certificate be filed in the office of the Secretary of State of the State of New Jersey.

The above resolutions were adopted.

The certificates, as ordered in the above resolutions, have been made out, signed by the President and Secretary of the Convention, and duly recorded.

Substitute for Canon 5, Proposed by the Committee on the Constitution and Canons.

The Rev. Dr. Schuyler, from the Committee on the Constitution and Canons, presented the following report on the proposed changes in Canon 5, on Missions, which had been referred to it:

REPORT.

Three different plans or modifications of the Missionary Canon have been referred to the Committee.

There is one feature that they have in common, and in which they all differ from the Canon proposed to be amended, and that is in the division of the Diocese into three districts.

This feature, then, the Committee are prepared to recommend to the adoption of the Convention, preferring the division proposed by the Secretary of the Board of Missions, as follows:

§ II. For its Missionary operations, the Diocese shall be divided into three districts, as follows:

First, The counties of Warren, Morris, Essex, that portion of Hudson county lying west of the Hackensack river, and the township of Summit, to be known as "The Convocation of Newark."

Second, Those parts of Hudson and Bergen counties lying east of the Hackensack river, to be known as "The Convocation of Jersey City."

Third, All that part of Bergen county lying west of the Hackensack river, and the counties of Passaic and Sussex, to be known as "The Convocation of Paterson."

As respects the Convocations provided for by the present Canon, one of the plans before us dispenses with the name, though in the use of the word conference, the thing is not entirely lost sight of, while in both the others the word is retained. It will be seen by the plan here recommended that the Deans, as such, are dispensed with, and the word conference is therefore used as sufficiently designating the thing that all these plans contemplate.

The Committee therefore recommend the retention of the first section of the present Canon, providing for a Missionary Council.

Instead of the second section they propose the division as above into three Missionary Districts instead of two, as in the present Canon, to constitute Section II.

They propose the repeal of the entire third section, with its sub-sections, of the present Canon. Instead thereof they recommend the following as section third:

§ III. [1.] One or more conferences shall be held annually in each District at the call of the Bishop, of which all the clergy actually residing in the District who have seats in the Convention, and one Lay Communicant from each Parish or Mission in the District, appointed by the Minister in charge, shall be members.

[2.] At these conferences it shall be proper to discuss Missionary or kindred topics; to take measures for diffusing intelligence respecting the needs and progress of the Mission work in the respective Districts, and to offer suggestions concerning Missionary work to the Board of Missions.

[3.] The Bishop of the Diocese shall preside over these conferences, or, in his absence, the senior Clergyman by orders present; and a Secretary shall be chosen at each meeting to keep the minutes and report any proposed action to the Board of Missions.

[4.] All appointments of Missionaries shall be by the Bishop.

For section four of the present Canon your Committee, having in view, first, the efficiency of a Board of Missions, and, second, the propriety of the Bishop's own choice of special advisors and assistants in his work, propose the following:

§ IV. [1.] The Board of Missions for the Diocese shall consist of the Bishop, who shall be ex officio President, of one Clergyman and one layman from each District, chosen annually by the Convention, and of two additional members, to be appointed by the Bishop annually, any of whom, if not members of the Convention, shall be ex officio entitled to a seat in the Convention sitting as a Missionary Council, with a right to speak but not to vote.

Sub-section two of section four, except that five instead of six shall constitute a quorum, and the remainder of the present Canon, being sections five and six, to be retained.

Respectfully submitted,

A. SCHUYLER, Chairman.

Appendix V.

MEMORIAL FROM MEMBERS OF TRINITY CHURCH, NEWARK.

To the Clergy and Laity of the Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the Diocese of Northern New Jersey:

Respectfully show your petitioners, members of the congregation of Trinity Church in the city of Newark:

That there occurred in the Parish of said Church, upon Easter Monday last, an election of more than usual interest, and in which the qualifications of voters and candidates were of unusual importance.

That, theretofore, such qualifications were always understood to be regulated by the Canons of the Diocese. Such was the rule and practice, without exception for half a century previous, according to the recollection of some of your petitioners, and the information and belief of all.

Nevertheless it was decided by the presiding officer at said election that the Diocesan Canon did not regulate the subject, but that the charter of the Church governed it, and that the holder of any sitting at the time of the election, which had been paid for, was entitled to vote. And the votes of many persons were thereupon received who were not entitled, under said Canons, to cast a vote—not being baptised males, twenty-one years old, who had been for six months worshippers in said Church and holders of sittings therein, the rent of which, for the last preceding quarter, had been paid.

Your petitioners are advised that your honorable body has the right to declare the qualifications of the Deputies composing it.

Wherefore, not desiring to unseat those who have been members of the Vestry, but only to have the sense of the Convention for guidance in future elections, your petitioners respectfully ask that action may be taken upon the subject. And, in order to prove the facts herein contained, reference is hereby made to a copy of a stenographic report of what occurred at said election, which is appended hereto. And your petitioners will ever pray, etc.

Dated May 24th, 1887.

(Signed by thirty-eight members of the congregation of Trinity Church.)

Appendix VI.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON CLERGY RETIRING FUND.

The Committee, appointed at the last Convention, to secure the fund necessary to make the amended Canon effective as a Pension Fund for Clergymen of this Diocese, beg leave to report:

First, that the amount desired for this object has not yet been secured, but that something has been accomplished, enough to vindicate the wisdom of the effort, and to encourage the belief that in due time the entire amount will be realized.

The Treasurer's report will show that the number of contributing parishes has been double over that of last year, and the sum realized is more than as much again as that contributed last year. The whole number of parishes which took a collection last year was twenty-two, this year thirty-nine. In addition to the regular offerings of these thirty-nine parishes, the Diocese has raised for a kindred object, viz.: the "Chadwell Fund," $1,300. We may add here that it was in the mind of the Committee, who had charge of the Canon last year, that it would require about five years to realize the $12,000 necessary to make the Fund effective, and, if we may judge of the future by the present year, this estimate of the time required will not be wide of the mark. If all the brethren would take the matter seriously to heart, as some have done, the day would not be distant when the reproach of not caring for the old Clergy would be forever removed from this Diocese.

It should be distinctly borne in mind by every rector that we are trying to get together a specified sum. We want $30,000, and now have in hand $20,000 of that amount. This effort has the sanction of the entire Convention, Clerical and Lay. All voted for it, and all, therefore, are equally bound to raise as much as they can each year until the whole amount is secured.

Some of our strongest parishes have not yet fallen in line or contributed. Will they not come to the front this present year? It is a righteous cause, none more so, and we venture to say that when our efforts have attained fruition, in the permanent endowment of a pension fund for the veterans of Christ's army, there is nothing belonging to our Diocese in which all will feel a greater pride than in this, which provides for the clergy in their old age.

Respectfully submitted by the Committee,

CHANGES IN THE CONSTITUTION AND CANONS SINCE 1882.

Article II of the Constitution was amended so as to read as follows (change italicised) (Journal of 1885, p. 43):

ARTICLE II.

There shall be a Convention of the Church in this Diocese, on the third Tuesday in May, in each year, to be held where the Ecclesiastical Authority appoints; provided, that whenever such day falls in Rogation Week, the Convention shall be on the fourth Tuesday in May.

Title III, Canon 1, has been changed by substituting the following:

CANON 1.

Of the Fund for Aged and Infirm Clergymen.

§ I. It shall be the duty of every Minister having charge of a congregation of this Diocese, to make at least one annual collection for the relief of clergymen disabled by age or disease.

§ II. All contributions and donations for this object shall be transmitted to the Treasurer of the Trustees of the Fund for Aged and Infirm Clergymen.

§ III. All collections, and all donations not limited by the donor, received during the Conventional year, shall be subject to the order of "The Trustees of the Fund for Aged and Infirm Clergymen," and may be appropriated by said Trustees for the relief of Clergymen disabled by age, accident or disease, who have been canonically connected with the Diocese for the two years immediately preceding their application for relief and have spent at least two successive years within the limits of the Diocese in the active discharge of the duties of the Ministry, or in the work of Christian Education. Clergymen to whom appropriations are made under this Section shall be known as "Special Annuitants," and shall not receive more than three hundred dollars in any one year.

§ IV. The Trustees shall have power to appropriate from the collections received during the year, a sum not exceeding seventy-five dollars towards defraying the funeral expenses of any Clergyman of the Church.

§ V. All appropriations (unless otherwise ordered) shall be payable semi-annually, on the first day of May and November; and all moneys unappropriated at the end of each Conventional year shall be paid into a Fund, which shall be known as the "Permanent Fund," and shall be kept safely invested. The interest accruing on the existing capital fund now in the hands of the Treasurer of the Convention shall be permitted to accumulate. All accumulations shall be safely invested by the Trustees of the Fund for Aged and Infirm Clergymen, and added to the permanent fund until the same shall, with the existing capital fund, reach the sum of thirty thousand dollars.

§ VI. All legacies, and all donations limited by the donor, paid to the Trustees shall be used and applied by them agreeably to the terms and provisions under which the money is received; and when not otherwise directed by the donor, the legacy or donation shall be added to the "Permanent Fund," and the income thereof alone used.

As soon as said Funds shall together reach the sum of thirty thousand dollars, the Trustees shall grant an annuity to every Clergyman who (1) has reached the age of sixty-five years, and (2) has been canonically connected with the Diocese for the five years immediately preceding his application for an annuity, and (3) has been for at least five years of his last term of canonical residence a settled Minister of the Diocese, or a Missionary duly appointed by the Ecclesiastical Authority.

The interest received from said Funds shall be divided equally among the clergymen entitled to receive an annuity under the terms and provisions of the previous paragraph of this Section, and if this interest shall not be sufficient to give to each clergyman the sum of three hundred dollars, then the balance of collections and donations remaining after the "Special Annuitants" are provided for, shall be used to increase the annuity to said sum.

Clergymen receiving an annuity under this Section, which shall in no case exceed one thousand dollars, shall be known as "Regular Annuitants." —(Journal Convention, 1886, p. 50.)

Wherever the name "Northern New Jersey" occurs in the Constitution, it shall be changed to NEWARK (approved in Convention, 1887, lies over for final adoption till next Convention.)

Wherever the name "Northern New Jersey" occurs in the Code of Canons it is changed to NEWARK.—(Journal Convention 1887, p. 42.)

Appendix VIII.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON DEPOSITIONS FROM THE MINISTRY.

The Committee appointed at the last Convention on "so much of the Bishop's address as relates to the deposition during the last year of Priests and Deacons from the sacred ministry of the Church in these United States; to investigate and to report how such depositions compare in per centage with depositions in former years, and whether there be any faulty methods as to the Church's several preliminary steps or conditions of admission to Holy Orders, and if such faulty measures exist, what they are," the report to be made to this Convention; would respectfully report:

Your Committee have attended to the duty assigned them, and have examined the statistics of the several Dioceses for the last thirty years, but they are sorry to say very little information of practical benefit has been obtained. Most of the depositions are reported as taking place under Title II, Canon 5, of the General Canons, which is simply a "renunciation of the ministry." This Canon sheds no light on the cause of the action, whether it be due to a change of doctrinal views, or to immorality, or to simply dissatisfaction with the work of the ministry. It is often resorted to, as we are informed, merely as an expedient to avoid the unpleasantness or scandal of an ecclesiastical trial. Comparing periods of years together with the total number of Clergy in each period, we do not find the per centage to vary to any very great extent.

For admission to Holy Orders every reasonable safeguard against the admission of unfit persons has been provided, but we are disposed to think there is not always the care taken which should be on the part of those having the matter in charge. We do not therefore hesitate to remind those of our Clergy and laity, who may be called upon to sign testimonials for admission as candidates as well as for ordination, that their action is not a mere formal writing of their names, but a most solemn proceeding, having in view the welfare of the Church and the glory of God, for the performance of which they will be held responsible before God.

H. GOODWIN,
C. S. ABBOTT,
JAMES G. OSBORNE,
Committee.
